GOLF CHAMPIONSHIPS AND THE VAUXHALL.

AT Rosses Point, Lahinch, and other big golf meetings, far away from grimy towns, are to be seen many fine motor cars. Prominent amongst them is the VAUXHALL—and not for the more obvious reasons only! A champion golfer must have steady wrists and steady nerves, arms and back unstrained. The VAUXHALL never strains the man at the wheel. You need not, however, be a champion golfer to appreciate this feature.

IRISH FAIRS.

CALLAN—Held on Wednesday. There was a good supply of first and second quality cattle of the shorthorn type at Callan monthly fair, and a large attendance of buyers. Prices were good all round, and showed an advance on those ruling at the July fair. All stores in good condition were sold at satisfactory prices. Springers and new milch cows met a slow trade at recent rates. Good quality heifers, for breeding purposes, were in good request at higher prices, and a large number changed hands. Young cattle of good quality met with a ready sale, but coarse kinds and those in poor condition remained unsold. There was a large show of sheep, but trade was dull and prices showed no improvement. There was a large supply of young pigs and the demand was good at greatly improved prices, probably due to the plentifulness of potatoes and other feeding stuffs. Quotations:—Calves, under six months old, £2 10/- to £5 10/-; average £4; store cattle, over six and not exceeding twelve months, first class, £9 to £11, average £10; second class, £6 10/- to £8 15/-, average £7 10/-; one-year-old and under two years, first class, £12 to £15, average £13 10/-; second class, £9 to £11 10/-, average £10 5/-; two-year-old and under three years, first class £15 to £19 average £17 5/-, live-weight average 40/- per cwt.; second class, £12 10/- to £14 10/-, average £13 10/-, live-weight average 38/- per cwt.; three-year-old and over, first class £16 to £21, average £18 10/-, live-weight average 41/6 per cwt.; second class, £14 to £16, average £15, live-weight average 39/- per cwt. Fat cattle, under two years old, first class, £13 to £16 5/-, average £14 10/-, live-weight average 40/- per cwt. two-year-olds and under three years, first class, £17 to £22, average £19 10/-, live-weigth average 42/- per cwt.; second class £15 to £16 10/-, average £15 15/-, live-weight average 41/- per cwt. Springers (cows and heifers), first class, £19 to £26, average £22 10/-; second class, £14 10/- to £16, average £15 5/-. Milch cows (down calved), first class, £17 to £23, average £20; second class, £14 to £16 10/-, average £15. Lambs, under twelve months old, 30/- to 42/6, average 36/-. Store sheep, one-year-old and under two years, 45/- to 70/-, average 57/6; two years old and over, 50/- to 80/-, average 65/-. Fat sheep, 60/- to 75/-, average 67/6. Store pigs, over ten weeks and under four months old, 47/6 to 75/-, average 60/-. Bonhams, under ten weeks old, 25/- to 45/-, average 35/-.

DUNGARVAN—Large supplies in all departments. Prices slightly easier and trade dull, except in well-conditioned stores. PRODUCE AND FOOD.

CATTLE.

DUBLIN METROPOLITAN CATTLE, North Circular road, Thursday.—The home and shipping personnel of buyers embraced much the same interests as last week, but in the export direction business assumed a much more cautious aspect, as meat markets at the other side of the water are not very encouraging, and the business concluded here last week has not proved of a very remunerative character; in fact, we understand that many drafts of sheep and lambs from here are yet uncashed yonder. A strange contrast to the position generally is that if it were permissible to export cattle and sheep, especially the former, from Britain here—at the respective level of currencies—English beef and mutton from several of the shires could be made a profitable trade here at the moment. Altogether the market presented a more dragging and slumpy tone than previously, with prices bumping heavily on the easier level of last day in the main, whilst in certain sales further concessions were necessary to facilitate exchange of ownership. Cattle, from casual observation, did not impress one with the same generally good finish of previous week; at all events, a great number of cattle are being sent here too early altogether, and require much more finish; with a fair number of suitably turned out beasts to deal with, the rough and leaner element of things are difficult to find a place for. Sheep and lambs experienced the same slow and uncertain movement as before. With regard to Canadian cattle, shipments from Montreal this week are something around 1,100 head of beasts for Liverpool. Shipping prices seem to have a firmer turn. Prime steers, 8.25 to 8.40 dollars per 100 lbs.; medium qualities from 7.75 to 8.00, others from 7.25 to 7.50, beef cows 5.50 to 6.50, and bulls from 4.55 to 5.50 per 100lbs. There is a rumour that the Canadian people are disposed to suspend the shipments of fat cattle, which have not been remunerative, and give a bigger scope for shipments of store cattle to England, for which vessels of greater freight capacity are being secured.

	Numbers on offer this week as compared with last.	Corresponding weeks of 1925.	1924
Beasts	4,391—increase 29	3,986	5,349
Sheep and Lambs	7,949—decrease 639	7,539	9,506
Veal Calves	15—increase 2	12	39

Although cattle were mainly a very rough and unfinished show (evidently many people being anxious to get them off before the autumn rush to clear land begins) there were still plenty of useful class to go round, and occasionally tolerably well-finished drafts. Heifers had a preferential sale, especially the smaller weights, and those around 9 cwt. realised up to 47s. 6d. and 48s. 6d. per cwt., without much to do, whilst some fancy qualities of Polled Angus class made around 50s., or, perhaps, a little more here and there. However, anything beating 48s. 6d. was very rare and exceptional; the top working level of market would be within 46s. to 47s. 6d. per cwt. in the run of bullocks and heifers, barring, perhaps, the heavier qualities, for which there was a decidedly worse and more tedious sale than before. Taking prices over the day's proceedings, we must again record cattle on foot as another 1s. to 2s. per cwt. cheaper. Good commercial cattle were 42s. 6d. to 45s. per cwt.; perhaps those not too heavy up to 46s. for special South of England and Scotch purposes. Lean and wasty kinds of cattle anywhere from 37s. 6d. to 42s. Beef cows again a very good sale, but within a price. Terms for best run of these were 32s. 6d. to to 37s. 6d. and for a few fancy young cows of the heiferish class 38s. to 40s. per cwt.; old and lean sorts anywhere from 25s. to 30s. per cwt.

Sheep continue a very disappointing and tedious trade. Butchers say that business for mutton is very narrow, and much-reduced supplies are sufficient to go round. In the circumstances many pens of nice quality sheep failed to draw the usual active attention, and eventually proved very difficult and disappointing to realise. Coarse, heavy and inferior sheep remain most uncertain in price, but still slipping into a cheaper groove. The official reduction in supplies of ovine stock were not calculated to make any great difference in a survey of the supply, but still it was quite apparent that lambs were in much narrower compass than previously. The majority of these, too, now that we are at the end of the season, are practically culls, and do not give a big number of butchers' quality to draw upon. For anything in nicely-meated condition last day's prices were just about tenable, but otherwise terms were on the most up-and-down grade. For best qualities of mutton prices may be quoted as 9½d. to 10½d. per lb., perhaps a fancy article occasionally a fraction more. Medium qualities of mutton around 8d. to 9d. per lb.; coarse and inferior, say, 6½d. to 7½d. per lb. Shippers wanted meated lambs inside 35s. to 50s. apiece, but butchers paid from 38s. to 55s. each, and for one or two pens 3s. or 4s. per head more in fancy cases. Storish lambs anywhere from 18s. to 30s. and 33s. each.

DUBLIN DAIRY CATTLE, North Circular road.—There were 384 head of milch cattle put forward for sale on this market. Trade proved quiet, and values in the main weaker, but dairy beasts of outstanding quality or character, both fresh calved or time up springing condition, could be tolerably satisfactorily cashed. A few tip-toppers figured up to £32 and £33 per head. Best run of heavy milchers with perfect points, etc., averaged £25 to £28 and £30; average fresh dairy stockers £19 to £24 and £25; best classes of heifers in milk £18 to £24 and £26 each; small and inferior cows £9 to £17 each. Calves dear.

DUBLIN PIG MARKET, North Circular road.—There was another small gathering of swine on offer here this week—just 651 head, or 77 less than on last Thursday. Market opened rather promisingly, when choice quality porkers got fairly well cashed, but after an hour or so, and before supplies had all come in, trade slumped into a quiet and tedious groove, and opening values became untenable. Choice quality hogs were estimated to approximate 100/- to 105/- per cwt. dead reckoning, but pork butchers assert that they are killing in the region of 11d. to 1/- per lb. in carcase sinking offal. Coarse to medium hogs 90/- to 97/6. Sows show a wide range according to character, but prime nice weights figure around 82/- to 84/- per cwt. probably. Stores continue in good demand, but dear, as feeding is plentiful and potatoes at moderate price.

YORK.—Largest show of Irish cattle ever seen at York in August, including a big proportion of first-class animals. Trade was slow, and late rates were only just maintained. Prices for dairy cattle about the average, but trade for calving heifers not so brisk. Big show of sheep. Prices easier than last week.

BRISTOL.—Beef, fair supply, 95/- to 100/- per cwt. dead weight. Mutton—Average quantity, 1/1 to 1/2 per lb., lamb 1/3 to 1/4 per lb. About five hundred store cattle; some unsold. Rates not maintained. Milch cows £22 to £28, £36 for specials.

100,000 tons Pure Oil Cakes and Meals for Sale. Special Pig Meal and Calf Meal. Now is the time to buy. Agent—William Rourke, 36 North Circular road, Dublin.—(Advt.)

BIRMINGHAM PIG.—Small supplies continue, and trade remains active, with values firm and sows 6d. dearer. Quotations:—Sizeable bacons 20/-, cutters ditto to 21/-, and sows 17/6 per score, dead weight.

STORE CATTLE SALES.

MESSRS. R. AND J. WILKINSON.

There was again a good entry of cattle for this sale, numbers being on a par with last week. Demand continued very steady throughout, and a good selling trade was experienced, and practically everything changed hands. A County Clare consignment of bullocks were again in the forefront, and easily topped the sale at £26 10/- (42/6), £26 10/- (41/-), £25 10/- (42/-), £24 10/- (42/-); other lots from Counties Limerick, Tipperary, Waterford and Wicklow selling at £23 (44/-), £23 (43/6), £21 10/- (42/-), £20 10/- (41/6), £20 10/-, £18 10/- (41/), £18 5/- (40/-), £18 (39/6). Polled bullocks were in request, and sold at £23 5/- (45/-), £22 10/- (44/-), £21 5/- (44/-), £19 10/- (41/6), £19 10/- (40/-), £19 (43/6), £18 (41/-), £17 12/6 (42/-), £16 10/- (42/-), £16 10/- (40/6), £16 5/- (42/6), £15 15/- (42/-). A.A. crosses at £20 10/-, £20 5/-, £20, £19 10/-, and £17, ranging from 45/- to 47/- per cwt.; and heifers realised £20 10/- (43/6), £20 (47/-), £18 10/- (42/6), £18 5/- (44/6), £18 (45/-), £17 15/- (43/-), £16 5/- (44/-), £15 15/- (42/-).

MESSRS. GAVIN LOW, LTD.

There was again a large number of cattle forward for yesterday's sale, but the quality was hardly up to last week's standard. Trade was again of a dragging nature, except for all choice lots showing flesh and quality, which found purchasers at about late rates. Prices for other sorts were erratic, but a fair clearance was eventually effected. Major North Bomford's A.A. crosses topped the sale with 51/6 per cwt. Horned bullocks and heifers from £11 10/- to £17 15/-, or 38/- to 44/- per cwt.; pollies from £14 to £20, or 38/- to 43/6; Aberdeen-Angus and Hereford crosses, £14 10/- to £22 15/-, or 43/- to 50/-.

MESSRS. GANLY, SONS AND CO.

Another fine show of cattle came forward for this week's sale, many of which were well-bred and in forward condition. With a large attendance of buyers, trade was similar to last week, and with the exception of a few lots of thin and inferior sorts a good clearance was effected. Particular mention should be made that well-bred Aberdeen-Angus and Hereford cattle, also strong shorthorn and cross-polly heifers were keenly sought after and made high prices. A choice lot of Hereford-cross heifers, the property of Mr. Peter Byrne, at £23, each made the top live weight quotation 50/6 per cwt.; G. Browning's polly bullocks at £26 we 48/6 per cwt.; other prices work out from 43/- to 47/- per cwt.

£3,000,000 ROAD SCHEME.

26-MILE LANCASHIRE HIGHWAY.

The Government has sanctioned the construction of a £3,000,000 new arterial road between Liverpool and Salford, and, as the Treasury has undertaken to contribute 75 per cent. of the total cost, only £750,000 has to be provided by the promoters, the Liverpool Corporation and the Lancashire County Council, and the local authorities on the proposed route of the road, together with the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board, which have promised £100,000.

As first estimates of the cost of such a big scheme are liable to be insufficient, budgeting has taken place on the assumption that the £3,000,000 will be exceeded.

This work, important in itself, inasmuch as the length of the road is to be 26¼ miles, and some twenty new bridges will have to be built, is but part of a very much larger project, which involves future extension of the road into the West Riding of Yorkshire in one direction, and its linking up at the Liverpool end with the Mersey Tunnel approach into Cheshire.

The project will give work to the unemployed for four or five years, and, as it is understood that contributors to the cost of the road will have first consideration in the allocation of the work, Liverpool, as the largest contributor, expects to find from 60 to 70 per cent. of the labour.

The death has taken place at Bath of Alderman William Dawe, who served under six vicars while headmaster of Weston Parish School, a position from which he retired six years ago.

FEWER BABIES BORN, BUT MORE LIVE.

ENGLAND'S BIRTH-RATE.

Fewer babies were born in England and Wales during the quarter ended June last, but a further decline is recorded in infant mortality.

Births numbered 181,455, or 5,519 less than in 1925. 92,681 were males and 88,774 females. Whilst the rate shows a decline, as compared with the corresponding period last year, it was higher than in either of the preceding quarters.

Deaths numbered 113,818, 16,756 less than in the preceding quarter, but 551 more than in the correspondng period of 1925

The number of persons married in the three months ended March 31 last was 92,336, a decrease of 61,752, compared with the preceding quarter, and 34 less than in the corresponding period of 1925.

POPULATION GROWING.

A further decline is recorded in infant mortality. Measured by the proportion of deaths of infants under 1 year of age to births registered, the mortality was equal to 62 per 1,000, this being 4 per 1,000 below the rate for the second quarter of 1925, and 15 per 1,000 below the average of the ten preceding second quarters.

The increase of population by excess of births over deaths was 67,637, as against 82,710, 72,850, 73,707 in the second quarters of 1923, 1924 and 1925.

HOWSHAM HALL FIRE.

CHARGE AGAINST A BUTLER.

Ronald Dalrymple Cowl, a butler, was charged at Norton (Malton) Police Court yesterday with maliciously setting fire to a dwellinghouse known as Howsham Hall, the residence of Colonel the Hon. Tatton Willoughby, on August 18th.

Inspector Robson, who arrested Cowl at Howsham on suspicion of being connected with the fire, asked for a remand to Saturday for further inquiries. Cowl was remanded in custody.

ADVENTURES IN THE COMMONPLACE.

SELDOM do we come upon such finely-tinted, graceful writing as Seumas O'Sullivan's, exhibited at its best in his latest book. The title, "Common Adventures," well describes the genius of the half-dozen essays—or shall we call them tales?—here collected, together with verses that have the delicate light of Irish sunshine after rain. The essayist, in his title-essay, affirms that "life still holds adventure for the man who has a choice of two roads to his business in the morning"; and he describes a walk in the days of youth through half-decayed Dublin streets by spring sunlight, where a glimpse of beauty excited the mind like a revelation, and a friendship with a canary was charged with large emotion. How the quiet mind, moving through commonplace surroundings, may find wonder, merriment, tragedy, here is revealed by a pen like Elia's in kindliness, if not in mannerism. Seumas O'Sullivan dwells on the commonplace; yet, as we follow his meditation, we find that there is nothing common—nothing in which strange visions may not lurk.

In his essay "Beyond the Poplars" he writes a letter to a dead friend, and seldom have we read a finer piece of wistful humour. His friend, we gather, was a Dubliner, whose adventures were disputes with conductors of tram-cars touching the pronunciation of Eccles, and the discovery of the flashing beauty of a seagull on a slate-grey Dublin sky; and the letter-writer observes, what sensitive spirits often have thought, that the future life must be built up of "little unremembered acts, fleeting and visionary things." The essay, "The Bookman," describes one of those droll, pathetic souls that we all have met, who cherish the belief that in their possession are precious old books and rare editions. The essayist etches that typical old haunter of the quays with loving delicacy, and we end the essay, stabbed by the understanding of how much of the tragic vanity of earthly things may gather about a simple spirit, so that, in the shabby browser at the bookstall, may be seen another Atrides.

"The Policeman" is a grotesque piece of writing—a tale, or essay, that speculates upon the inner mind of "the tall policeman at the crossing," who dreams under the blazing sun of a tankard filled with heavenly porter. "The Condoler" is a sombre drawing of the day after the funeral, when the inane callers "to condole" multiply the misery of bereavement. Very delightful are the poems that are sprinkled between the prose pieces; they are in Seumas O'Sullivan's accustomed vein, and written with that consummate craftsmanship which distinguishes his verse. We shall steal one charming example:

The Lamplighter.

Here to the leisured side of life
Remote from traffic, free from strife,
A cul-de-sac, a sanctuary
Where old quaint customs creep to die
And only ancient memories stir,
At evening comes the lamplighter;
With measured steps, without a sound,
He treads the unalterable round,
Soundlessly touching one by one
The waiting posts that stand to take
The faint blue bubbles in his wake;
And when the night begins to wane
He comes to take them back again
Before the chilly dawn can blight
The delicate frail buds of light.

This book improves on second and third reading: its beauty is too delicate to be appreciated aright until it grows familiar. Collectors will seek it eagerly in a little while.

MEMOIRS OF AN OLD BOHEMIAN.

MAJOR FITZROY GARDNER'S second book of recollections makes one marvel at the number and variety of experiences a man can go through, even during a period of over sixty years. He has been either an onlooker or an active participator in events that took place in many widely differing spheres of life—the drama, law, medicine the Press—and, in 1914, by, as he puts it, "lying largely" about his age, he managed to get into the Army at sixty.

There is a special interest in all biographies attached to the glimpses we get of the beginnings of those who afterwards rise to giddy heights of fame or infamy, or sometimes both in turn. Countless notable people figure in these pages at an age when the world was as yet unfamiliar with their names. The writer's memories of West End playhouses include at least half a dozen which have long disappeared; he recalls strenuous days as Mrs. Langtry's manager in the Imperial; he was also closely associated with the opening of Her Majesty's—an equally eminent and far more profitable place of entertainment from a financial point of view. He tells anecdotes of Earl Balfour—in the early 'eighties when he was Irish Secretary, and caused the Irish Detective Division more anxiety by his efforts to dodge their care than did the machinations of the people from whom they were trying to protect him. On another occasion, in the House of Commons, when Balfour was Chief Secretary, as the moment was approaching when he was expected to stand up and handle what threatened to be a very critical situation for his side, he was discovered just in time by an anxious search party lying on a sofa in his private room absorbed in a French novel.

Major Gardner's duties during the war in connection with the military police might well have reduced a man of half his years to a wreck, but he writes of them in the same light-hearted manner as when retailing the history of his early manhood and youth, and adds that, in spite of his white hairs, he never tired of the job. Berlin, in the writer's first recollections of it in the days of the grandfather of the last of the Kaisers, he found one of the dullest cities in Europe, with hardly any inducements to gaiety. Four years ago he visited it again, and found it for luxury and entertainment—both of a respectable character and otherwise—almost the equal of Paris at its best, or Vienna before the war.

The last page of the book records how he had been afforded yet another chance of stirring experiences in connection with the general strike as a special constable. In spite of his credentials he was not considered worthy of any more responsible position, but found himself in good company, and took orders cheerfully from youths and well-meaning elderly gentlemen alike unfitted for real police work.

In "Brangane" Mr. Martin Mills has given us a clever study of a social climber. His satire is keen and subtle, and the terseness of his language is blended with a fine sense of values. Mr. Mills never says too much, but his portrait is remarkably clean-cut and detailed. Brangane had her dreams when she was quite a little girl. She despised her slovenly mother and looked on her drink-sodden father as very much more "grand." Even if he did sell milk and had married a barmaid, he was a gentleman and he had a lord for a cousin. Brangane pushes her way relentlessly through life, and in making her become a countess eventually Mr. Mills has not been guilty of exaggeration. The reader easily can imagine her becoming so, and the logical sureness with which Brangane's character is depicted makes her subsequent fortunes appear possible.

MODERN TURKEY.

THE SICK MAN REVIVES.

THE West European is still very apt to think of Turkey in connection with some famous phrase like "The Question of the Straits," "The Overland Route to India," or "The Armenian Massacres"; that is to say, instead of looking at Turkey, to look through Turkey at something else. The authors of this excellent and comprehensive study direct attention to one of the most remarkable phenomena arising out of the world war—the revival in full vigour of the "Sick Man of Europe," whose decease had been expected in 1856, in 1876, in 1912, and, finally, with absolute certainty in 1918, when "the Turkish people, in exhaustion and despair, were prepared, not only to lose their Empire, but to resign themselves to some form of foreign tutelage like that under which Egypt had lived since 1882." Five years later "the world had the unprecedented surprise of seeing a defeated and apparently shattered nation rise from its ruins, face the greatest nations of the world on terms of absolute equality, and win from the humiliated victors of the Great War almost every one of its national demands."

* * * * *

Mr. Toynbee and Mr. Kirkwood, both of whom have an intimate knowledge of the new Turkey, explain very lucidly how this remarkable transformation has come about. The losses of the outlying provinces of the Ottoman Empire had been, on the whole, a net gain, but the landing of Greek forces at Smyrna, in 1919, struck a blow at the Turkish homelands and "threatened to deprive the nation of territories vital to its existence before a Turkish national consciousness had come to light. The instantaneous effect was to arouse that consciousness." The repulse of the Greeks, who had acted with the full support of the Allied Powers, was an event of great historical importance:—

"The Turkish victory on the banks of the Sakaria radically changed the political complexion of the Near and Middle East. For two hundred years the West had been breaking down the old Ottoman Empire, but on the Sakaria River it encountered the Turk himself, and, when it touched, the tide of history turned. History will one day find in this obscure engagement on the Sakaria one of the decisive battles of our era."

It is very doubtful if all this could have happened without Mustaphá Kemál Pasha, whose "defiance of the victorious Allied Powers was an act of heroic faith and courage," who

"Called a national convention at Angora which recognised him as head of the State and Commander-in-Chief of the National Forces; fought successfully against his foreign enemies; and reigned like a benevolent despot over a down-trodden people. Mustaphá Kemál Pasha carried through the revolution; ruled as a dictator supported by an elected Parliament; carried into his interregnum of administration a reforming zeal seldom shown in such spectacular fashion; and made a unique place for himself as the great iconoclast of the Islamic tradition and the builder of a new Western State of an Oriental people."

* * * * *

Mr. Toynbee and Mr. Kirkwood are inclined to think, like many friends of Turkey, that Kemál has been forcing the pace too much. "A nation does not change its whole mode of thought and cast off the traditions of centuries merely through calling old things by new names." In spite of the Constitution of 1924 (which is given, as an appendix, in full) Turkey is really governed, with a masterly hand, by a despotic oligarchy. It has been said that "President Kemál Pasha is a solid fact, but the Republic of Turkey may yet prove to be a somewhat shadowy façade."

A very full account is given of commerce, industry and agriculture in the new Turkey, and of social changes—especially of the emancipation of women. The economic position is similar to that of Canada and Australia—a country possessing rich natural resources, but comparatively undeveloped, and especially needing more population. It is noted that Angora, which was selected for its strategic position, is quite unsuitable for a modern capital city. Progress up to the present has been extremely rapid, but we are warned that, "notwithstanding the reforms in the cities and among the upper classes, modernisation in Turkey will be slow, because Turkish teachers doctors and specialists are scarce and foreign specialists are not encouraged; while the majority of the population of the interior can neither read or write, and have little or no communication with the outside world. Life in inner Anatolia is still primitive and unchanged, and the permeation of the new ideas to those sections may possibly have to wait until the extension of railways brings with it the seeds of a new civilisation. WITH PEARY TO THE POLE.

THE profession of explorer has never been one of the overcrowded occupations, but few explorers can have been more severely tried than Peary. Danger, loneliness and cold—these were all in the day's work; but the lack of funds, the discouragement of his superiors in the U.S. Navy, the indifference of the public and the scepticism which met his discovery of the Pole, were not endured so patiently. When Peary reached New York in the autumn of 1909 the impostor, Dr. Cook, was lecturing on his own alleged journey, and the interest of the American public was excited mainly by the "rivalry" of the two men. The question was widely asked, "What did the fellows who put up the money get out of it"? Peary did not make a good hero. He lectured to raise funds, but he hated lecturing. Grim and dogmatic, without amusing stories, even his veracity was against him. There can be no reasonable doubt, however, as to the validity of his claim. When he left his main party 140 miles from the Pole he was excellently supplied with dogs, drivers and provisions, and all the conditions were favourable.

What did Peary "get out of it?" Not very much personally, perhaps, but the notes of his famous trip to the north of Greenland may help the less adventurous to understand the fascination of exploring the Arctic:—

"We could plainly see the green rivers and lakes along the margin of the ice, and the murmur of cataracts came softly to our ears. . . . We stood upon the north-east coast of Greenland, and, looking far off over the surface of a mighty glacier on our right, and through the broad mouth of the bay, we saw stretching away to the horizon the great ice-fields of the Arctic Ocean."

How seldom in future will man be able to surprise the secrets of our dwindling planet or feel again the thrill of the ancient navigators!

"We were the first
That ever burst
Into that silent sea."

Commander Fitzhugh Green's enthusiasm for his hero communicates itself to the reader, although he is a little too fond of working the narrative up towards a climax in this style: "The future that had beckoned was coming true. Surely Fate had relented." The book is illustrated with some remarkably good photographs.

"CAN WE THEN BELIEVE?"

DR. GORE'S new volume is a re-statement and summary of his well-known series on the Reconstruction of Belief, together with a reply to some criticisms. Dr. Gore admits that he has not been led to alter any of the main conclusions reached in the earlier volumes, but he has modified the expression of some of them. Thus, while still adhering to the position that the prophets of Israel were vehicles of a true Divine revelation, and as such forerunners of Jesus Christ, he does not apparently insist now that this position is fundamental to Christian belief. Dr. Gore gives up the creation stories of the Old Testament as not literally true, but he maintains that they express in the language of picture truths about man's origin and nature and fall that are vital to the Christian system. He continues to speak of the fall of man, though admitting that, according to the conclusions of biological science and history, there is nothing corresponding to the Biblical Fall in the course of man's development.

The bulk of the book was delivered as Lenten lectures under the White Lectureship, and we have to remember that lectures are necessarily of a popular character in form and even substance. An appended "Essay on the Relations of Religion, Theology and Philosophy," and a series of notes additional to the "Reconstruction of Belief," are valuable and interesting and will be appreciated by those who possess those earlier volumes.

LATEST FICTION.

A GOOD ADVENTURE TALE.

OF the eight books which Messrs. Nelson now have published in a uniform series of new novels, we have had occasion to draw attention to three or four as really noteworthy, and always a fine standard is maintained. The two latest volumes are thoroughly satisfying. "Tzane" is a rattling adventure story describing intrigues for the capture of a precious industrial formula. The matter is fought out in romantic sites in Scotland, and a mediæval castle sees events as exciting as ever rang within its walls. A heroine, unusually charming, plays a sprightly part, and her chaperone's woes add a wholesome spice of laughter. "Scutcheon Farm" is an old-fashioned novel, woven around the sorrows of an unacknowledged wife, bereaved by the war, and her son. It closes on a note of noble, tragic pathos.

Mr. MacArthur endows his South Sea Island with a fearful interest. His hero, Julian Laurence, is a resourceful young man, who, facing ruin in England, comes out to look after his remaining possession, the copra-producing Island, and resists longer than his predecessors, the soul-destroying blight of the dreadful beautiful spot. The picture of a typical English girl, found in an ancient "Bystander," arouses Laurence's pride of race for a time, and the arrival of the original, now wife to his old friend, comes between him and Lola, the lovely half-caste maid who has saved his life. The end will come as a surprise to even the most astute novel reader.

His latest tale is distinguished by that happy blend of humour and pathos that O. Douglas can achieve so successfully. The sale of their beloved Scottish home to the new-rich, as personified in the Jacksons, and their removal to a smaller house on the East Coast is a cruel blow to Lady Jane Rutherfurd, her daughter, and niece. The blow, however, is accepted with the gay courage of their breed, and Nichole Rutherfurd, in particular—surely as enchanting a heroine as ever portrayed—does much to cheer the lives of their new neighbours, and gains cheer in return. Alistair, aged six, is not the least important character, and through his agency Nichole's friendship with the retiring celebrity, Simon Beckett, develops into something more precious to them both. The pitiful little tragedy that ensues serves to show the fine stuff of which Nichole is made.

The fact that Mexico is so much in the limelight at the moment gives an added interest to Johnston McCulley's new novel, "John Standon of Texas," which has its setting in that turbulent and unsteady country. It deals with the adventures of John Standon, a Texan, who gets into a brawl at Chihuahua in which he is succoured by a Spanish Grandee. How they find themselves pitted against the revolutionary general's forces, and their fight for life, is well told. Action is the pulse of the story from beginning to end, and thrilling episodes abound.

"John Standon of Texas." By Johnston McCulley. Hutchinson. 7/6.

The theme of the unkind stepmother is fair game for any novelist. In "Valiant Heart" we are introduced to an extremely malicious one in the person of Susan MacDonald, who has become the wife of John Goulet, a ranch-owner and a widower, with one child. In the background is Francet Vedene, a cripple, of almost repellent appearance, who has been the faithful "watch-dog" of the Goulet family for years. The interest of this book lies chiefly in its study of the morbid mind of Susan, who can put strychnine into her husband's porridge with an abnormal concern. The force of her dark mentality makes itself felt throughout the book. Cruelty, passion and innocent love occupy the rest of the story. Mr. Regan shows us through a chink, as it were, the dark romance of life in hut and shack in North-Western Canada.

AMERICAN TOURISTS RETURNING.

The return of Americans and Canadians who have visited Great Britain and the Continent during the summer continues. This week-end over 6,500 are making the homeward trip by Cunard liners. Yesterday the Andania left Southampton for Halifax and New York, carrying 900 passengers; she will be followed to-day by the Carmania, from London and Southampton for New York, with over 1,200, and by the Berengaria, which leaves Southampton to-morrow with over 2,000 passengers.

Tourists returning to America, from Liverpool, on the Samaria, number over 1,050.

In addition to the Canadian sailing of the Andania 900 Canadian tourists are returning by the Ausonia, from London and Southampton, for Quebec and Montreal to-morrow.

The White Star liner Majestic, which left Southampton yesterday morning for New York, had nearly 2,300 passengers on board. During the week White Star steamers took some 5,000 passengers back to the United States and Canada. Large numbers of students are returning in the tourist class in time for the opening of their schools next month.

Mr. W. C. Nash, one of the open-air speakers attached to the National Unionist Association's Central Office, has died suddenly at Exmouth.

The KEY above the DOOR 7/6 NET.

A joyous novel you should read now and you will then be in a position to recommend to your friends a story that is certain to become a "best seller." Just the book to read after a tramp on the moors or while you are enjoying the sea breezes in a comfortable deck chair. If you have not the good fortune to be engaged in either of these pleasant pastimes this novel will be a delightful compensation.

TRULY A PROPHET IS WITHOUT HONOUR IN HIS OWN COUNTRY.

What the Irish Times says:—

We are disappointed in "The Key Above the Door"—a tale of the Highlands that begins with some excellent word-painting, and promises something of the quality that we are accustomed to expect in a Chambers' tale.

What Other Papers say:—

A dashing story with real scenery in it, real fishing, plenty of real men, and one very nearly real woman in the Henry Harland tradition.—Country Life.

A fine brave book, clean and healthy as the Highlands in which the story is placed. It has the full charm of the open air, redolent of the heather and the wild thyme, with the hum of bees and the call of the wild fowl. A really beautiful book. It shall go to our shelves to bring a sense of beauty and an appreciation of pleasure again and again. Essentially one of those books to be read and to be kept.—South Wales Daily News.

Mr. Walsh displays a remarkable power of characterisation, gifts of narrative and scenic description, distinction of style, and a shrewd sense of humour.—Cork Examiner.

A romance we enthusiastically commend to all novel-readers. The novel has touches of Borrow and Kingsley, and may be described as in some respects, a modern and Highland cousin of "Lorna Doone." One of the most refreshing novels that we have read for a long time, and one of the most striking.—Staffordshire Sentinel.

In its bare simplicity lies the very essence of drama and the spirit of the Highlands. Tom King is one of the most interesting characters one has encountered in recent novels.—Liverpool Daily Courier. Will the book be filmed? There are some tense moments and fine landscape settings in it. Here is a book to buy or steal and gloat over in holiday time.—Brechin Advertiser.

Holiday Tours

THE CIRCUIT OF IRELAND.

A THREE WEEKS' HOLIDAY TOUR.

While there is plenty of beautiful scenery in the centre of Ireland, the finest touring districts are undoubtedly those which lie along, and parallel to, the coast. A complete circuit of the island, following the mountain ranges which mostly lie near the sea, and taking advantage of the roads which closely follow the coast-line, makes a tour which is a long, splendid series of lovely drives.

Such a tour we outline here, so arranged that it can be carried out within a motoring holiday of twenty-one days. Of course, three weeks is not long enough to enable one to do more than catch a hurried glimpse of the country, nor will it allow one much leisure to step aside from the scheduled route to explore this, that or the other fine corner of mountain and seascape. But we think that, within the narrow limit of three weeks, the route here sketched will give the tourist so satisfying a glimpse of a well-favoured land that he will scarcely admit to a dull mile, and will assuredly return some day to explore at his leisure the nooks and crannies of a beautiful countryside.

For convenience we have divided the tour into three sections. For the initial stages we follow the routes outlined in our issues of August 6th and August 13th, with some slight variations. Convenient stopping places with satisfactory hotels are printed in italics:—

Dublin, Enniskerry (13½), Roundwood (23½), Glendalough (30½), Rathdrum (39), Woodenbridge (49), Aughrim (54), Shillelagh (66½), Carlow (85½), Thomastown (111), Inistioge (116½), New Ross (127), Waterford (152), Carrick-on-Suir (169), Clonmel (182½), Clogheen (197), Lismore (211), Youghal (229), Whitegate (252), Cork (284), Macroom (307½), Inchigeela (317), Glengariffe (344), Castletownbere (365½), Kenmare (397½), Parknasilla (411½), Waterville (435), Cahirciveen (445½), Glenbeigh (463½), Caragh Lake (467½), Killorglin (471½), Killarney (484½), Dingle (525), Connor Pass (529½), Tralee (555), Listowel (572), Tarbert (583), Limerick (619).

We start with a run through some of the Wicklow valleys, and proceed by the Counties Carlow and Kilkenny, with their fine river scenery, to Waterford. Then, following the River Suir as far as Ardfinnan, we cross the splendid "Gap" over the Knockmealdown range to Lismore. Cork Harbour, with its beautiful intricacies, is skirted. If time permits, the tourist should visit Queenstown and Crosshaven. Through the Pass of Keimaneigh we run to Glengariffe. Then follow the splendid coast roads round the Bere peninsula, the Kenmare peninsula and the Dingle peninsula, with a glimpse at Killarney en route, winding up this section of the trip by a run along the Lower Shannon to Limerick.

Limerick, Ennis (23), Kilkee, by Moyasta (57½), Spanish Point (76), Lahinch (84), Cliffs of Moher (90½), Ballyvaughan, by Black Head (115½), Galway (148), Oughterard (165), Maam Cross (175), Clifden (197), Letterfrack (206), Leenane (218), Westport, by Dhulough (253), Mallaranny (272), Dugort (289), Mallaranny (306), Belmullet (338), Ballycastle (368), Ballina (385), Sligo (422), Bundoran (443½), Ballyshannon (448), Donegal (462).

The wild coast of the County Clare is well worth visiting; and the savage grandeur of its seascapes makes this one of the finest coast drives in Ireland. Our route allows for only a hurried run through Connemara; if time permits, an extra day or two should be spent in this famous district. There are satisfactory hotels at Cashel and Carna. Both roads to Westport are fine, but the route indicated, by Dhulough and the coast of Clew Bay, is undoubtedly the more beautiful. Our route includes a run into Achill and a drive in the wild barony of Erris. Thence by the coast to Sligo, where Lough Gill should be seen, and Ballyshannon—a famous fishery—to Donegal.

Donegal, Killybegs (17½), Glencolumbkill (34½), Ardara (50½), Glenties (56½), Dungloe (72½), Gweedore (83½), Falcarragh (93½), Dunfanaghy (101), Rosapenna (117), Milford (130), Portsalon (140), Letterkenny (164), Londonderry (185), Buncrana (198), Carndonagh (206), Malin Head (216), Moville (240), Londonderry (259), Coleraine, by Downhill (295), Portrush (301), Giant's Causeway (309), Ballycastle (322½), Cushendall (338½), Larne (364), Belfast (388½), Downpatrick (410½), Newcastle (424), Kilkeel (437), Rostrevor (446½), Warrenpoint (449), Newry (456½), Drogheda (491½), Dublin (522).

The tourist's stay in the Donegal highlands should be prolonged as long as possible. There is every attraction for the holiday-maker—magnificent scenery of mountain and seascape, first-class angling, good golf and splendid air. The route outlined above will, indeed, give a hurried glimpse of some of the most striking scenery, but the beauties of the county would take weeks to explore and appreciate. The tour of Inishowen, that great peninsula which lies between Lough Swilly and Lough Foyle, and a visit to the historic City of Londonderry, form a good preliminary to the great coast road of Ulster, which runs from that city to Newry, and is hardly out of sight of the water for a dozen miles all the way. A pleasant addition to the trip would be a drive round the Ards peninsula, and along the shores of Strangford Lough. This is a district rich in antiquarian interest. From Newry it is a straight run of about 65 miles on a good main road to Dublin.

NOTES FOR ANGLERS.

(FROM OUR ANGLING CORRESPONDENT.)

The greater part of the trip outlined to-day has been touched on in previous notes, but a suggestion or two on the middle portion of the trip—Limerick to Donegal—may prove of use. Roughly speaking, this brings in the Counties of Clare and Galway, the latter well known from the angling standpoint, but the former practically an "undiscovered country."

Just over twenty miles from Limerick we run into Ennis, the centre for the Corofin chain of lakes. Rather more than 20 years back a chance word gave me an inkling of the possibilities of these waters, and a week's stay in the tiny village of Corofin proved that it was no traveller's tale that I had heard. Of a long chain of lakes, Lough Inchiquinn is the most accessible, and moreover, boats and boatmen are available. The waters higher up are not so easy of access and boats are a difficulty. Here a car comes in well, and with something in the nature of a Berthon boat wonderful possibilities open up.

My first trip took place in a hot, dry August, but the coming rise was very fair. Trout ran to something over 2lb., with an average of about 1lb., a very level lot of fish, shapely, and of tremendous fighting power. A subsequent visit in the month of April confirmed all my original impressions, but change of residence prevented a return visit. At the time I heard of an interesting experiment which had just been started, namely, the introduction of the Mayfly. Undertaken by one of the best fishermen it has been my lot to meet, the initial difficulties were successfully surmounted and the outlook was promising. If this note should chance to meet the eye of any reader with present day knowledge of how the plan turned out I shall be very glad to hear from him.

From Ennis it is no distance to Kilkee, from which the coast road north opens up the whole Atlantic seaboard, and here again the possibilities of the sea-fishing has never been fully tested. It is a wild, inhospitable coast, with harbours few and far between, but the native curragh (canoe) is a wonderful seaboat under expert handling, and for inshore work can scarcely be surpassed. Some distance north from Kilkee, at Spanish Point, I can recall many a pleasant summer, when pollack, mackerel, a couple of long lines, and lobster pots yielded many a good boat-load. This district also possesses numerous small streams, all of which hold an occasional salmon and sea trout and any number of brown trout, generally small, four or five to the pound.

Lahinch and Lisconnor Bay provide very similar sport, and the estuary of the Inagh river might give wonderful sport with bass if fished systematically.

Galway and the famous Corrib fishery is too well known to require any detailed comment, but if readers require full particulars a letter to the Fishery Office, Galway, will receive immediate attention. At this time of the year sea trout often yield very good sport.

Fifteen miles away we come to Oughterard, the centre for Lough Corrib. Founded by the late S. B. Doig, the Corrib Fisheries Association has done wonders for the lake in the last twenty-five years, and to-day it offers the best prospects of any of our inland waters. February to the end of April sport may be had trolling, late May and early June sees the Mayfly in full swing, casting and trolling will occupy July, and in August heavy trout may be killed on the "daddy." October to April is the best season for coarse fishing, pike, perch, and bream all being plentiful. Messrs. J. P. Monaghan and M. Power, Oughterard, are the present secretaries of the Association, and will be happy to send full particulars to intending visitors.

TONE AND COMMENT.

DUBLIN FIRM.

COURTAULDS STRONG.

Business yesterday on 'Change was again disappointingly small, and outside a few leading Manufacturing Shares, in which a fair amount of dealing, as usual, took place, there were very few orders in the hands of the brokers. Government National and other Loans were idle all day, and did not change hands. British Funds were rather busier, with limited irregular price movements. The Bank market was steady to firm all day. Guinness Ord. eased a further fraction and recovered. Dublin Distillers Ord. were a few pence harder for a limited transaction. Rails were idle, but steady. Dublin United Tram Ord. were higher. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were quieter. There was rather free bidding for leading Manufacturing Shares on trade hopes in view of the improved aspect of the coal deadlock. Textiles were keenly bid for. Bradford Dyers added 1s. 6d. and Courtaulds 2s. 1½d. to overnight gains. Tobaccos were in strong request, with higher quotations the rule; but B.A.T. "Fractions" did not hold the previous day's rise. Radio Corporation of America Common rose sharply, and Canadian Marconi seemed wanted.

LONDON IDLE.

COAL CONFERENCE BREAKS DOWN.

The news of the breakdown of the Coal Conference after one and a half hours' discussion came too late to have any effect on dealings in the London Stock Markets yesterday, which, on hopes of an early settlement, continued firm in tone. The near approach of the carry-over, however, exercised a restricting influence on dealings, and, although Home Rails and Industrials were again the turn better in places, the majority of markets were content to repeat their former levels. Little of interest transpired in gilt-edged securities. Among Foreign Government Stocks French Fives responded to the improvement in the exchange, while Chinese issues also hardened appreciably. Home Rails, on the other hand, continued firm on hopes concerning the coal situation, and final quotations were higher in several directions. Business continued small in Colonial and Foreign Rails, while a slightly easier tendency prevailed.

A quietly firm tone prevailed in Industrials, Textiles registering some further improvements, while Tobaccos were also harder in places. Iron and Steels maintained a firm tone, and Oils and Tin shares also went forward, the latter on a further improvement in the quotation for the metal.

THE B.A.T. DIVIDEND.

In order that the British-American Tobacco Company's dividend may be made perfectly clear, it is desirable to state that all new shares—both the bonus shares and the subscription shares—if applied for in accordance with the terms of the resolutions, will rank for the full dividend of 10d. per share, payable on 30th September next.

BRITISH CELANESE FIRE.

The British Celanese, Ltd., write as follows: "Owing to the exaggerated rumours which have been spread regarding the fire at our Willesden dépôt, we are anxious to inform our customers that our dope works are intact, the fire being confined to a small store for 'Celanese' garments. Business is being carried on without any delay."

WILLIAM SHEPHERD AND SONS.

The directors propose raising the capital to £450,000 by the creation of 50,000 new shares of £1 each, for the purpose of acquiring the entire share capital and control of a company in Middlesbrough.

EAST RAND PROPRIETARY MINES.

A circular was issued from the London Office of the company yesterday to the shareholders of the East Rand Proprietary Mines, Ltd., announcing that negotiations were reopened with the Cinderella Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd., and the Board had pleasure in advising shareholders that another agreement had been concluded between the respective Boards, subject to ratification by the shareholders of both companies, and the Debenture holders of the Cinderella Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd. This provides for the acquisition by the East Rand Co. of the property and other assets of the Cinderella Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd., excluding cash and cash assets, but including stores, without the creation of any second Debentures. Extraordinary general meetings of shareholders will be held on October 22nd and November 15th next, to ratify the agreement.

LONDON MOVEMENTS.

A steady tone prevailed in the gilt-edged market yesterday, and closing quotations showed but little change from the previous night's final values.

Among Foreign Government Stocks French Fives hardened further on the improvement in the franc, the closing level of 9⅝ x.d being ⅛ higher. The Fours, on the other hand, went back rather smartly, finishing ⅛ easier at 7. Chinese were a firmer market, the 5 p.c. 1896 gaining a point to 92, while the 4½ p.c. 1898 at 76 and the 5 p.c. 1912 at 59½ were also both a point to the good. Peruvian Corporation Pref. at 49 were finally ½ lower. Portuguese Threes shed ½ to 33, and Mexican 6 p.c. 10-Year Treasury at 55 were 5 points down. Turkish Unified, on the other hand, were ½ higher at 16.

RAILS STEADY.

The firmer tendency manifest in Home Rails on Wednesday continued in evidence yesterday, and most of the leaders were again higher. Great Westerns gained a further ½ to 89 x.d., while the Cons. Pref. at 94½ x.d. were a full point to the good. Midland Ord. finished ½ better at 74 x.d., while the 4 p.c. Pref. 1923 at 71 x.d. were a point to the good. North-Eastern Def.-Ord. at 17½ were ¼ better, and Southern Pref.-Ord. at 78½ x.d. and the Def.-Ord. at 46 were both ½ higher.

A quiet and rather easier tendency ruled in Colonial and Foreign Rails, and, although closing values were not altered in many instances, changes where registered were generally against holders. Buenos Ayres and Western shed ½ to 87½, and the Great Southern lost a similar amount to 98½. Antofagasta Ord. and Central Uruguay were also both ½ easier to 81½ and 78 respectively. Cordoba Centrals were held, as were Canadian Pacifics, Grand Trunks and Mexicans.

RUBBER SHARES IRREGULAR.

Business continued on an extremely small scale in the Rubber share market yesterday, while a slightly irregular tendency was manifest. Price movements at the close were few and far between, but, taken as a whole, they favoured holders. A better tone ruled in the commodity market. Spot and August sold 1s. 7⅞d. to 1s. 8d. per pound, while September kept steady at 1s. 8d. per pound throughout the day. October to December realised 1s. 8⅛d., 1s. 8⅜d., and then 1s. 8¼d. per pound, while January to March, after opening at 1s. 8⅞d., eased to 1s. 8⅝d., but later hardened and closed at their opening value of 1s. 8⅞d. per pound. In the share market the principal movements were a rise of 1s. in Broome Selangor to 31s. 6d., improvements of 1s. 3d. each in Glenshiel and Golden Hope, and a gain of 1s. 10½d. in United Sua Betong to 104s. 4½d. x.d. Tandjong, on the other hand, went off to 73s. 1½d., or 1s. 3d. lower, while Bah Lias at 48s. 1½d. and Malayalam at 43s. 9d. x.d. were 7½d. and 6d. lower respectively.

TEA SHARES QUIET.

The volume of dealings put through in the Tea share market yesterday remained on a small scale. Actual price movements were not numerous. Amalgamated Estates hardened further to 42⅞, or 1/16 firmer, and Borelli at 90s. were 1s. 3d. to the good. Chubwa were a firm market, the closing level of 90s. 7½d. being no less than 2s. 4½d. above the previous closing value. Rosehaugh Ceylon hardened to 44s. 7½d., or 1s. 1½d. higher, while Travancore spurted to 96s. 3d., which represents a gain of 6s. 3d. from the previous quotation. Assam Dooars, on the other hand, went back to 49, or ½ lower, while Ceylon Plantation shed 1/16 to 6½. Consolidated Tea and Lands weakened a trifle to 33, or ½ lower.

OIL SHARES GENERALLY MAINTAIN STRENGTH.

In regard to the actual volume of transactions in Oil shares yesterday, it cannot be said that there was much improvement, there being an almost entire absence of public interest, while dealings on the part of professionals were confined to a few specialities. Nevertheless, the leading issues generally continued to display firmness this being especially noticeable in the case of Royal Dutch and Shells, while strong spots were provided by Lobitos and Apex. Trinidad Venezuelans remained on the dull side. Following the decline of the preceding day, Anglo-Persians were a dull market during the early hours, being offered down to 4 11/16. At the close they were quite firm at the overnight's level of 4 11/16; the 8 p.c. Prefs. weakened to 26s. 3d. An outstanding feature was provided by Lobitos, which, following the firmness of the preceding day, met with a strong demand, to which the price responded smartly, the market being poorly supplied with the shares. As a result of the day's business Lobitos shares advanced 1/16 to 6 11/16. Shells met a fair amount of attention, and, although they were offered in a small way at one time at 4 9/16, they improved later, and closed with a gain of 1/32 at 4 11/16, the Bearer shares being up to a like extent at 4½. Royal Dutch from 31⅞ weakened to 31⅝, but improved in the later dealings to 32, which left them ½ up on the day. Burmahs gave way to 5 3/16 in the early hours, but rallied to the overnight's level of 5 5/16. Paris was a small seller of Mexican Eagles, which eased to 18s. 3d., but the 8 p.c. Participating Prefs. and the 7 p.c. 1st Prefs. remained at 17s. 3d. and 16s. 6d. respectively. Venezuelan descriptions were lacking in interest and remained on the dull side. Small offerings of British Controlled were encountered, the Common shares weakening to 8s. 7½d. and the Preferred to 10s. 7½d. V.O.C. Holdings failed to make any recovery, the Ord. remaining at 3 5/16 and the Prefs. at 3 5/16. Lagos gave way 1/32 to 4½, and Omniums closed easier at 3s. 10½d.

COAL STRIKE'S EFFECT ON INDUSTRIALS.

After displaying a firm tone for the greater part of the session, prices in the Industrial market yesterday eased somewhat towards the close on fears concerning the outcome of the coal negotiations, the actual nature of which was not known until after official hours. On balance, however, some substantial advances were again recorded, but how the market will take the latest development still remains to be seen. Supporting orders for Textiles were received from the North, where Bradford Dyers proved first favourites and advanced 1s. to 53s. Listers put on 9d. to 24s., and gains of 6d. each were recorded by Sewing Cottons and Fine Spinners at 52s. 6d. and 46s. 3d., respectively. Bleachers improved 3d. to 44s. 3d. Of the Artsilks, Courtaulds were at one time bid up to 5 15/16, closing 1/16 higher on balance at 5 15/16. Nuera Ord. were dealt in up to 15s. 6d., and the Def. up to 10s. 3d. Celanese continued dull, the Ord. at 3s. 1½d. and the Prefs. at 4s. 6d. Some modest advances were recorded by the principal Coal, Steel and Engineering issues, though best prices were generally under the best. Cammell Lairds, Guest Keens, Hadfields, Ruston and Hornsbys and Powell Duffryns improved. Armstrongs remained at 6s. 3d. and Vickers at 9s. 3d.

Although fair support was again forthcoming for "Bats.," it was "Imps." that took the lead in the Tobacco section. At one time they changed hands at 114s. 9d., being finally 1s. 3d. to the good at 114s. 6d. "Bats." finished a modest 6d. higher at 96s. 6d. United Tobacco South were a strong spot, 1/16 up at 4⅜, while Godfrey Phillips weakened ⅛ to 5 1/16. Carreras were an uncertain market and closed unchanged on balance at 14½, after being 14⅝ and 14¼. Copes at 3 1/16 and R. and J. Hill at 2⅛ were stationary. There was little doing among Land shares, where the tone remained quietly steady. Nitrates remained dull, and few features of interest developed in the Shipping group or Insurance section. In the Wireless group Marconis rallied a trifle to 14s. 9d. Few alterations were witnessed among Breweries, where the only feature was Watney Deferred, which on investment buying enjoyed an advance of 8 to 267½. Sidros continued the centre of interest in the Traction group, changing hands up to 13¼ and closing with a net gain of ⅜ at 12⅞. Brazilian Tractions fluctuated between 114½ and 116, with Barcelonas quiet at 37½ and Mexico Trams at around 115. Motor shares were quietly firm, but News generally were easier.

In the Miscellaneous department Manbre Sugar issues received further attention at advancing prices, the Ord. at 2 11/16 and the Deferred at 12⅞. Dunlops failed to find supporters, but the price kept steady around 28s. 6d. Most of the Cement shares were harder. Swedish Match "B" held at 14 13/32, with Bryant and Mays 6d. harder at 46s. 6d. Union Cold Storage Prefs. put on 1/16 to 1 1/16, and African and Easterns were favoured 6d. higher at 27s.

DUBLIN BUSINESS DONE.

INDUSTRIAL MANUFACTURING SHARES THE FEATURE. TEXTILES AND TOBACCOS GOOD. GUINNESS CLOSED FIRM AFTER DULL OPENING.

British Funds were irregular. Consols rose 1/16 to 55 1/16, but Irish Land 3 per cent. fell ⅛ to 62½, and India 3½ per cent. 1/16 to 69 1/16. War Loan 5 per cent. repeated 101 1/16, and do. 3½ per cent. quoted 97½. Funding Loan (by Deed) quoted 85 15/16.

In Banks, Provincials rose 1/16 to 23 1/16, while Hibernians repeated 7⅞, Munster and Leinsters 6 11/16, and Nationals 20⅛. Royals remain in request without changing hands.

Among Breweries and Distilleries, actual dealing was particularly light. Guinness Pref. rose 1/16 to 11⅞, but the Ord. fell 1/16 to 65 15/16 at one time, but later recovered to 66. A few Dublin Distillers Ord. fetched 9s. 9d., a rise of 3d., and Castlebellingham Ord. again fetched 67s. 6d. for an odd lot.

Rails were very idle. Great Southern Ord. repeated 19⅛ and the Pref. 36.

In Tramways, Dublin United Ord. rose ⅛ to 6¼, but Cork Electric Pref. repeated 96s.

Dunlop Rubber Ord. fell 1½d. to 28s. 4½d.

Among Manufacturing Shares, Bradford Dyers rose 1s. 6d. to 53s., 53s. 6d., Calicos 1½d. to 30s. 1½d., and Courtaulds 2s. 1½d. to 118s. 4½d., after all offered at 117s. 9d. were absorbed. Coats Ord. repeated 61s., and the Pref. 11⅜. Goulding Ord. rose 2s. 6d. to 62s. 6d., and the Pref. were bid for at 65s., or 8d. over last price. Brunner Mond Shares advanced 2s. to 38s. British-American Tobacco rose 4½d. to 96s. 10½d., but the Fractions more than lost the previous day's rise by falling 1s. 6d. to 27s. 6d., 27s. Imperials were good, and improved 1s. 7½d. to 113s. 10½d., 113s. 9d., 114s. 10½d. Lever Bros. 7 p.c. Pref. repeated 19s. 4½d.

In Trading, etc., Findlater Pref. repeated 9s. 6d., but Yam Seng Rubber rose 1d. to 6s.

Other business included Radio Corporation Common, which rose ⅛ to 9 1/16, and Canadian Marconi 1½d. to 3s. 7½d.

BELFAST.

There was no improvement in the volume of business yesterday. In Home Government Stocks the 5 p.c. War Loan changed hands at 101 1/16 and 101 1/16, 5 p.c. National War Bonds (1928) at 105¼, Funding Loan at 86, Local Loans at 63 1/16, and an odd lot of 5 p.c. National War Bonds (1929) at 104⅞. In Bank Shares, Northern Bank "B" were done at 2⅜, and a transaction in Midland Bank partly paid at 8 11/16 on 18th inst. was recorded. In Railway Stocks, Great Northern Ord. was done at 26½. Belfast Corporation New 5 p.c. repeated previous price, 1 1/16 discount. In Industrials, business was on a small scale. White, Tomkins and Courage Ord. were done at 22s. 6d., British-American Tobacco Fractions at 26s. 6d., Dunlop Rubbers at 28s. 6d., and a small odd lot at 28s. 4½d.

At the end of this month, when two motor-lifeboats, which are being built for Montrose and for Longhope, in the Orkneys, are completed, the Royal National Lifeboat Institution will have 60 motor lifeboats in its fleet.

LONDON MINING MARKET DULL.

SOUTH AFRICANS GENERALLY LOWER.

With the carry-over in sight there was not a large amount of business doing in the "House" yesterday, although Paris continued a buyer of its favourites. In the Mining market a few South Africans were inclined to harden, but generally this section was dullish under the lead of Sub Nigels. Early in the day the Cape sent over a lower price for these shares, and the market on this side fell sharply. Towards the close a part recovery took place, but on balance a decline was shown. The set-back since the last making up is now assuming fairly big proportions, and selling in other directions to meet differences was given as the cause for the general dulness. Gold Fields eased in sympathy, but the only other change worth quoting in finance shares was a small rise in "C.M.S." Anglo-American were mildly offered, although unaltered. Crown Mines regained the overnight loss and a harder tendency was reported in East Rand Props. and Langlaagte Estates. Rose Deep and Village Deep were quieter, and no further improvement was shown. There was a further bout of selling in Springs Mines, which weakened, but "bear" closing in West Springs caused a modest recovery. Platinum shares opened better on the cabled news respecting the companies success in the Mynpacht case, but the Cape was a persistent seller and prices fell back. The Rhodesian Department was influenced by the conditions prevailing in the senior market. Chartered fell away, but under the stimulus of Paris and Brussels inquiries, Tanks were buyers at overnight level. Congo Borders and Southern Base Metals were easier, and Cams declined. Diamond shares were quiet and prices unchanged. The upward swing in tin gathered momentum and a rise of £3 2s. 6d. brought the price to £295 5s. per ton. The share market responded in a gallant manner, seeing how close the new account stands. Among Easterns, Tronohs continued to improve, and Ipohs again rose, followed closely by Bangrins, Southern Perak and Kramat Pulai. Tavoys, however, eased a little on some disappointment at the dividend. There was a good local and Paris demand for Rio Tintos, and the shares closed substantially higher on the day. Canadians had an easier tendency, but the declines were of small proportions. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANS EASIER.

EXCHANGES STEADIER.

Conditions were somewhat easier in Lombard street yesterday, the calling in of funds for "window-dressing" purposes being comparatively light, while there were dividend disbursements amounting to nearly £2,000,000. Short loans as a rule commanded 4 p.c., although towards the close there was a little available on easier terms. Fixtures for a day or a week were renewed at 4 p.c. Business remained quiet in the discount market, and rates were without material change. The general quotation for fine two and three months' bills was 4½ p.c., and the new Treasuries were again offered at that figure to a fraction over.

The price of gold remained at 84s. 9½d. per fine oz. The Bank of England announced that £25,000 in sovereigns had been taken for export—viz., £5,000 to Uruguay, £10,000 to the Argentine, and £10,000 to Spain. In the market for bar silver the Indian bazaars bought while the China banks sold. The spot and forward quotations each declined 1/16d. to 28 1/16d. and 28⅛d. per oz. respectively.

An improvement to 166¾ which took place in French francs in the morning was more than lost, the closing quotation of a little over 177 showing a movement against France of 1⅞ francs. Brussels also moved in our favour to 178¼, or 2¼ francs worse on the day, the quotation at one time having been 175¼. Lire sympathetically weakened. There was a further depreciation in Spanish pesetas, and Dutch florins were cheaper again; but Rumanian lei and Greek drachmae were a little better. After business at a little over 4.86, the sterling dollar rate closed dull at 4.85 11/16. In the South American group Argentine and Uruguayan dollars and Chilean pesos were better.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

DUBLIN GRANARIES.—2½ p.c. (2/- per share) interim (same).

AMALGAMATED PRESS.—In their report for the year ended June 30, 1926, the directors of the Amalgamated Press (1922), Ltd., state that an interim dividend of 1/- per share (less income tax) on the Ordinary shares having been paid in January last, the directors now recommend a final dividend of 2/- per share (less income tax), making 15 per cent. for the year. The accounts presented cover the period of the general strike, when the business of the company was suspended for a complete fortnight, and production and sales were at a standstill. Owing to efficient organisation, it was possible to make good the weekly periodicals for one of the lost weeks, while some of the magazines and part publications were issued as usual. The directors add that it is impossible for a large manufacturing business to continue to make progress under such difficult conditions, and it is hoped that the much-needed industrial peace will not be long delayed. In the circumstances, they consider that the balance-sheet is a very satisfactory one.

CONSOLIDATED GAS, ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER OF BALTIMORE.—A dividend of $[illegible] per share on Common Shares for quarter.

JOHN MARK AND CO.—Final dividend of 5 p.c. on Pref., making 6½ p.c. for year; final dividend of 8 p.c. actual (making 10 p.c. for year) on Ord.

JOHN OAKEY AND SONS.—Interim dividend on Ordinary for half-year ended June 30 last at 2½ per cent., less tax.

LEYLAND AND BIRMINGHAM RUBBER.—Final dividend of 7½ per cent., making 10 per cent. for year, against a total of 12½ per cent., including a bonus of 2½ per cent. for previous year.

SCOTTISH GENERAL INVESTMENT.—Dividend at rate of 6 per cent. per annum on paid-up capital, less tax.

TAVOY TIN.—Second interim dividend of 1/3 per share, tax free. This is at the same rate as the first interim payment, made in May last, which accompanied the final payment of 2/- per share for 1925. The corresponding interim payment last year and the third interim were at the rate of 1/- per share.

TYNE-TEES STEAM SHIPPING.—Final dividend of 6d. per share, less tax, on fully-paid shares, and a final dividend of 3d. per share, less tax, on partly-paid shares.

WOLSELEY SHEEP SHEARING MACHINE.—Dividend at rate of 5 per cent., less tax, making 7½ per cent. for year, and carry forward £15,567.

WESTERN MANSIONS.—Interim dividend at rate of 6 per cent. per annum (6/- per share), less tax.

BANK OF ENGLAND RETURN.

INCREASE IN THE RESERVE.

This week's Bank return shows a contraction of fully £7,250,000 in the "other deposits," which explains the stringency in Lombard street during the early days of the week. The total has now been reduced to £104,828,000. The Government securities show a decline of about £2,500,000, while the public deposits are nearly £6,000,000 higher, and, as there was only a trifling alteration in other securities, these movements account for the reduction in other deposits referred to above. Thanks to the further return of notes from circulation and an increase of £276,000 in the coin and bullion, the reserve shows a further expansion of £1,044,537, raising the total to £33,340,838. Owing to the net decline in the deposit liabilities and the increase in reserve, the proportion of the latter to the former has risen from 26⅜ p.c. to 27⅜ p.c.

PAINFUL SHEFFIELD CASE.

TWO CHILDREN POISONED.

At Heeley, a thickly-populated district of Sheffield, last evening, two children, aged two and a half years and eight months, respectively, were found dead in a house. Poisoning is supposed to have been the cause of death.

The mother, aged 24, had been suffering from neurasthenia, but on Wednesday she appeared to be considerably better. She went for a char-a-banc drive with the children, and on her return told the neighbours that she had enjoyed the outing. Yesterday she was not seen about very much, but at half-past four she left the house, and an hour and a half later she went to the district police station and told the officer in charge that her two children were dead. The police found the two little ones lifeless on the floor.

TWO OLD LADIES "GASSED."

Two elderly spinsters were found dead in a house in Suffolk place, Ipswich, yesterday, having evidently been suffocated by gas.

Calling with the milk, a roundsman failed to get a reply from the house, and, opening the door, saw Sarah Parker, aged about seventy, dead in a chair in the parlour. The police were summoned, to find the house full of gas, and on their going to the meter to turn off the supply the body of Susan Parker, aged sixty-five, was found in a huddled position near the meter. She had, apparently, been overcome while endeavouring to shut off the gas.

DUBLIN DISTILLERS.

HANDICAP OF THE WHISKEY DUTY.

Presiding yesterday at the annual meeting of the Dublin Distillers' Co., Ltd., in Dublin, Mr. Joseph Devlin, M.P., in moving the adoption of the report, said that he should like to emphasise the fact that the deplorable trade conditions which prevailed during 1924-25 were accentuated during the past year. After all, the mainstay of the country was agriculture—he referred to Ireland as a whole—and it was well known that while there was a good harvest, yet, from various causes, farmers were unable to sell their produce at remunerative prices. When such a state existed in the main industry of the country, every other business suffered, and none more than the whiskey trade.

In addition to the unprecedented depression in trade generally, they had the intolerable handicap of the enormous duty on whiskey. The continuance of the high rate of duty was the principal cause of the decrease in their business. The present Government could not be blamed for the introduction of the 72s. 6d. rate; it was a legacy left them by the British; but he certainly thought their statesmen had sufficient vision to foresee where such a tax would lead, and he emphatically asserted that a tax of the same proportions inflicted on any other commodity would, in the course of time, assuredly wipe it out. Furthermore, the Governments of North and South had carried and put into operation such restrictive legislation as imposed upon the liquor trade disabilities almost amounting to prohibition.

PROHIBITIVE LEGISLATION.

Fanatics, and even sincere temperance reformers, might secretly rejoice at this result, but the shocking evils that such a system had produced in the United States should give pause to those who were anxious to introduce a practically similar law in this country. Had the Government considered that, should the present decline in consumption continue, the day was not far distant when the amount realised by the whiskey duty would not be worth the cost of collection? Had they considered, moreover, the consequent loss in income tax? The consumption of legitimately manufactured spirit had greatly declined, but there had been a correspondingly alarming increase in the use of methylated spirits, poteen and inferior wines, which were quite as dangerous as either of the former, but escaped the ban of the law.

Mr. James H. Locke seconded the motion, which was passed unanimously.

Messrs. Craig, Gardner and Co. were re-elected auditors.

THE "SPIRIT OF PATRIOTISM."

At the close of the proceedings, the Chairman paid a tribute to the work which had been done by the board, not only in times of prosperity, but in times of adversity. He commented on the fact that there was a tendency, and even a practice, for people in Ireland to ask for Scotch whiskey. In the midst of speeches of the most violent character about the sales of their barley, many of them walked into public-houses in the South of Ireland and asked for Scotch whiskey. This country was cursed with a spirit of patriotism which asked everybody to make sacrifices but the persons concerned themselves. He added that one of the greatest inflictions this year was the bottle tax. In the coming year they should think out some other method of organisation, and get all their friends, shareholders and customers to stand together for the purpose of advertising their goods, admittedly the best, and making one great effort in order to restore the company to its old prestige.

In answer to a shareholder, the Chairman said that it was not intended to elect a director in room of Dr. James McDonnell, who has retired. He said he should like to pay tribute to Dr. McDonnell for his unceasing energy and resource and the competence and intelligence which he displayed in the service of the company.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT

GOVERNMENT PAY ORDERS.

FURTHER CHARGE AGAINST CIVIL SERVANT.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

Thomas Hall, aged about 35 years, of Shelmartin avenue, Fairview, described as a civil servant, came before the Court, charged with having, on the 18th inst., forged and uttered a pay order on the Department of Local Government for £18, and also with having obtained a sum of £15 12s. 6d. with intent to defraud.

Mr. Little gave an order returning the defendant for trial on bail of £20, but subsequently Detective Sergeant O'Neill asked the Justice to cancel the order with regard to bail, as the defendant had been already returned for trial on similar charges, and he (Sergeant O'Neill) understood that more than one draft had been issued by him while he was on bail.

The defendant said that he had a wife and five young children. He was very "hard up" and had to pay two rather urgent debts, but he intended to pay back the money.

Remanding the defendant in custody, the Justice said that that order should protect the public.

VOLUNTEER'S SERVICES.

ALLEGED FRAUD ON THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE.

Michael Donnelly (29), of Mountfield, Omagh, Co. Tyrone, was returned for trial to the Circuit Court on bail of £220, charged with having, between March, 1924, and April, 1925, obtained by false pretences and with intent to defraud drafts for sums amounting to £216 13s. 4d., the property of the Ministry of Finance.

It was stated that the defendant had represented himself as having had five years' service in the Volunteers as a captain, and claimed that he had received gunshot wounds in attacks on barracks.

CITY ROBBERIES.

NUMBER OF YOUTHS SENT FOR TRIAL.

Edward O'Connor, Christopher McClure, Gerald McKay, and Thomas O'Neill, each aged about 18 years, and all living in Lower Gardiner street, and Thomas Duggan, of Summerhill, were again remanded for a week on the charge of having broken into the wholesale jewellery premises of Messrs. Samuels and Son, Upper Liffey street, and stolen a quantity of jewellery and other articles to the total value of £383.

Two young men named John Kelly and Denis Kennedy were remanded for a week on the same charge.

Charged with breaking into No. 1 Wellington quay, where the business of a wholesale tobacconist is carried on, between the 10th and 11th May last and stealing goods to the value of £87, John Daly (19), Bracken's Cottages; Michael Clinch (21), no fixed address, and George Smith (20), Gloucester place, were returned for trial at the next Circuit Court.

A further charge was made against Smith, Clinch, O'Neill, McKay and Kelly, of attempting to break into the offices of Mr. J. G. Fottrell, Fleet street, last Saturday evening, and they were sent forward for trial on this charge also.

MOTORISTS PROSECUTED.

A fine of £5 was imposed on Redmond Maguire, St. Patrick's terrace, off Brunswick street, for having used a false identification and road tax disc on his motor cycle on the Rock road, Williamstown, on the 3rd June last.

Michael Dunn, who was summoned for allowing his road tax disc to be used by Maguire, was fined £4.

Edward P. Hurse, student, Ashleigh road, Ranelagh, was fined 40s. and had his licence suspended for one month for driving a motor cycle at Stillorgan in a manner dangerous to the public.

WICKLOW'S SILENT QUAYS.

For six weeks there has not been a single cargo imported into Wicklow, or exported from it, owing to the coal strike, the only traffic being the bunkering of two steamers who put in for supplies. Consequently there is a dearth of employment amongst the labouring classes, who depended so largely on the quay work.

Thirteen men were killed, twelve seriously injured and three slightly injured at Tata Steel Works, Jamshedpur, when the sling holding a ladle containing fifty tons of molten metal snapped, pouring the metal on the workmen below, four of whom were killed on the spot.

THE CORRECT TYPE OF PIG.

METHODS OF PACKING AND FORWARDING.

A conference of all the interests concerned in the development of the Irish pork industry met at the offices of the Department of Lands and Agriculture, Dublin, yesterday, and appointed a representative committee to aid the further development of the industry.

The methods of marketing, packing, conveyance, and the type of pigs required were discussed.

Mr. A. Hardie, Central Meat Markets, London, said that pork forwarded in crates reached the London market in a much better condition that that which was packed in hampers or sewn in canvas. The Dutch pork had always been sent in crates. The freights from Rosslare to London, he added, would be slightly lower than the charges from Rotterdam to London. A new small type of crate, four of which could be placed in an ordinary railway wagon, was better than the old type, only one of which could be placed in a wagon. It having been pointed out that Dutch pork reached London in twelve and a quarter hours, as against forty-eight hours from this country, Mr. Hardie urged that pork intended for sale on a particular day should reach the market at 4 a.m.

Mr. A. D. Roberts, L.M.S., on behalf of the shipping companies, stated that boat accommodation for a big pork trade in crates was limited, and that if the trade grew until it eventually equalled the Dutch trade, ships suited to it would have to be provided.

Mr. D. Barry, British and Irish Company, said that by the introduction of a suitable packing system, carcases could be sent by sea to London in 60 hours without any depreciation in quality.

THE "IDEAL PIG."

Colonel Gibbon, who presided, said that the Wexford Meat Company had decided to send its pork in crates. He urged that all possible steps should be taken to speed up the production of pigs in the country. The most suitable pork pigs were from 70 to 110lbs., and the ideal pig should weigh about 84lbs.

Mr. J. Slattery (Messrs. Slattery and Sons, Tralee) said that the pork trade was bound to injure the bacon-curing business. It might result in Irish bacon, which now commands the highest price in the London market, sinking to the low level of Dutch bacon.

Colonel Gibbon said that those who were interested in the pork trade hoped to be able to help the bacon trade. If attended to, pigs, in four months, would be suitable for pork, and if the farmer did not like the pork price, he could make very suitable bacon pigs of them in a few more months. The current pork pig was the long, rather lean, type. He hoped that farmers would produce as many of these pigs as possible before November, and that they would take active steps to be ready for the next season.

Mr. D. Barry hoped that co-operative methods would be applied to this industry. It would be a great thing for the country if it could even get hold of the fringe of the trade.

Dr. Hinchcliffe said the Ministry was taking all possible steps to increase the number of high-class pigs in the country. The number of boars distributed under the swine scheme was double what it had been last year. A large number of sows, at reduced prices, had also been sent out to the poorer districts, and their produce had been kept for breeding purposes.

Colonel Gibbon urged that the Government should take steps to introduce a system of inspection similar to that in operation under the Dairy Produce Act. In the meantime the public health authorities should see that killing was not permitted on unsuitable premises.

The following Committee was appointed to work in conjunction with the County Agricultural Committees:—Colonel C. M. Gibbon, Wexford Meat Company; P. F. Baxter, T.D., Farmers' Union; Michael Bowe, Pig Buyers' Association; J. Willington, Pig Breeders' Society; a representative of the Bacon Curers' Society, and Mr. M. R. Heffernan, T.D., who acted as secretary to the meeting.

PERILS OF THE ROAD.

INQUEST ON DUBLIN CYCLIST.

A verdict of "accidental death" was returned at the resumed inquest at the Mater Hospital, Dublin, yesterday on Edward Corr (22), blacksmith, of 22 Shaw's cottages, Broadstone, who was knocked down by a motor omnibus on the Howth road while cycling last Sunday.

Superintendent Hughes, Civic Guard, Howth, said that unless some drastic measures were taken soon in regard to the effective control of vehicular traffic in this country there was a sorry time ahead for most people.

Mr. Francis McDonald, Eden terrace, Drumcondra, said that at about 8.30 p.m. last Sunday he was cycling with the deceased man and others from Baldoyle to Dublin. After turning into the main road he heard a motor 'bus behind, saw it pass him out and stop. He then saw Edward Corr lying on the road. He estimated that the 'bus was going at thirty-five miles per hour. The 'bus pulled up about twenty yards from where the body lay.

Matthew Brennan, 24 St. Teresa's road, Glasnevin, Dublin, said that when turning into the main road the 'bus was going in the direction of Dublin. Coming on to the main road witness saw the deceased man look around as the 'bus was passing him. In turning around he gave his front wheel a half-turn to the right, so that the left front wheel of the 'bus struck it. He was thrown underneath the 'bus. He heard no horn sounded. Corr was travelling well on his own side of the road.

"STUMBLED OFF THE BICYCLE."

Miss Brennan, Tally House, Sutton, said that when the accident happened the deceased man was over on the right-hand side of the road. She thought that the 'bus was going at a fast speed.

Noel O'Mahony, Dublin road, Sutton, stated that when the 'bus was approaching the Baldoyle road the driver sounded the horn. Witness then saw two cyclists turn out of the Baldoyle road into the main road and cross over to the left side. The motor 'bus driver again sounded his horn and swerved over to the right-hand side of the road to pass them. Then one of the cyclists cut across the road to the right, but saw the 'bus on that side also, and apparently tried to stop. In doing so, however, he stumbled off the bicycle under the left-hand front wheel of the 'bus. The 'bus stopped about twenty yards from where the man was lying on the footpath on the right side of the road. Witness did not think that the 'bus was travelling at an excessive speed.

Miss Margaret Aherne, 68 Orwell Park, Rathgar, stated that she was travelling in the 'bus and heard the horn sounded a number of times just before the accident.

The jury deliberated for over an hour before returning their verdict.

They added riders exonerating the driver from all blame, as they considered that the accident was unavoidable, and expressing sympathy with the next-of-kin.

Mr. Fallon, on behalf of the driver and the owner of the 'bus, Mrs. Gilbert, also expressed sympathy with the next-of-kin and family.

DUBLIN DISTILLERS.

HANDICAP OF THE WHISKEY DUTY.

Presiding yesterday at the annual meeting of the Dublin Distillers' Co., Ltd., in Dublin, Mr. Joseph Devlin, M.P., in moving the adoption of the report, said that he should like to emphasise the fact that the deplorable trade conditions which prevailed during 1924-25 were accentuated during the past year After all, the mainstay of the country was agriculture—he referred to Ireland as a whole—and it was well known that while there was a good harvest, yet, from various causes, farmers were unable to sell their produce at remunerative prices. When such a state existed in the main industry of the country, every other business suffered, and none more than the whiskey trade.

In addition to the unprecedented depression in trade generally, they had the intolerable handicap of the enormous duty on whiskey. The continuance of the high rate of duty was the principal cause of the decrease in their business. The present Government could not be blamed for the introduction of the 72s. 6d. rate; it was a legacy left them by the British; but he certainly thought their statesmen had sufficient vision to foresee where such a tax would lead, and he emphatically asserted that a tax of the same proportions inflicted on any other commodity would, in the course of time, assuredly wipe it out. Furthermore, the Governments of North and South had carried and put into operation such restrictive legislation as imposed upon the liquor trade disabilities almost amounting to prohibition.

PROHIBITIVE LEGISLATION.

Fanatics, and even sincere temperance reformers, might secretly rejoice at this result, but the shocking evils that such a system had produced in the United States should give pause to those who were anxious to introduce a practically similar law in this country. Had the Government considered that, should the present decline in consumption continue, the day was not far distant when the amount realised by the whiskey duty would not be worth the cost of collection? Had they considered, moreover, the consequent loss in income tax? The consumption of legitimately manufactured spirit had greatly declined, but there had been a correspondingly alarming increase in the use of methylated spirits, poteen and inferior wines, which were quite as dangerous as either of the former, but escaped the ban of the law.

Mr. James H. Locke seconded the motion, which was passed unanimously.

Messrs. Craig, Gardner and Co. were re-elected auditors.

THE "SPIRIT OF PATRIOTISM."

At the close of the proceedings, the Chairman paid a tribute to the work which had been done by the board, not only in times of prosperity, but in times of adversity. He commented on the fact that there was a tendency, and even a practice, for people in Ireland to ask for Scotch whiskey. In the midst of speeches of the most violent character about the sales of their barley, many of them walked into public-houses in the South of Ireland and asked for Scotch whiskey. This country was cursed with a spirit of patriotism which asked everybody to make sacrifices but the persons concerned themselves He added that one of the greatest inflictions this year was the bottle tax. In the coming year they should think out some other method of organisation, and get all their friends, shareholders and customers to stand together for the purpose of advertising their goods, admittedly the best, and making one great effort in order to restore the company to its old prestige.

In answer to a shareholder, the Chairman said that it was not intended to elect a director in room of Dr. James McDonnell, who has retired. He said he should like to pay tribute to Dr. McDonnell for his unceasing energy and resource and the competence and intelligence which he displayed in the service of the company.

GOVERNMENT PAY ORDERS.

FURTHER CHARGE AGAINST CIVIL SERVANT.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

Thomas Hall, aged about 35 years, of Shelmartin avenue, Fairview, described as a civil servant, came before the Court, charged with having, on the 18th inst., forged and uttered a pay order on the Department of Local Government for £18, and also with having obtained a sum of £15 12s. 6d. with intent to defraud.

Mr. Little gave an order returning the defendant for trial on bail of £20, but subsequently Detective Sergeant O'Neill asked the Justice to cancel the order with regard to bail, as the defendant had been already returned for trial on similar charges, and he (Sergeant O'Neill) understood that more than one draft had been issued by him while he was on bail

The defendant said that he had a wife and five young children. He was very "hard up" and had to pay two rather urgent debts, but he intended to pay back the money.

Remanding the defendant in custody, the Justice said that that order should protect the public.

VOLUNTEER'S SERVICES.

ALLEGED FRAUD ON THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE.

Michael Donnelly (29), of Mountfield, Omagh, Co. Tyrone, was returned for trial to the Circuit Court on bail of £220, charged with having, between March, 1924, and April, 1925, obtained by false pretences and with intent to defraud drafts for sums amounting to £216 13s. 4d., the property of the Ministry of Finance.

It was stated that the defendant had represented himself as having had five years' service in the Volunteers as a captain, and claimed that he had received gunshot wounds in attacks on barracks.

CITY ROBBERIES.

NUMBER OF YOUTHS SENT FOR TRIAL.

Edward O'Connor, Christopher McClure, Gerald McKay, and Thomas O'Neill, each aged about 18 years, and all living in Lower Gardiner street, and Thomas Duggan, of Summerhill, were again remanded for a week on the charge of having broken into the wholesale jewellery premises of Messrs. Samuels and Son, Upper Liffey street, and stolen a quantity of jewellery and other articles to the total value of £383.

Two young men named John Kelly and Denis Kennedy were remanded for a week on the same charge.

Charged with breaking into No. 1 Wellington quay, where the business of a wholesale tobacconist is carried on, between the 10th and 11th May last and stealing goods to the value of £87, John Daly (19), Bracken's Cottages; Michael Clinch (21), no fixed address, and George Smith (20), Gloucester place, were returned for trial at the next Circuit Court.

A further charge was made against Smith, Clinch, O'Neill, McKay and Kelly, of attempting to break into the offices of Mr. J. G. Fottrell, Fleet street, last Saturday evening, and they were sent forward for trial on this charge also.

MOTORISTS PROSECUTED.

A fine of £5 was imposed on Redmond Maguire, St. Patrick's terrace, off Brunswick street, for having used a false identification and road tax disc on his motor cycle on the Rock road, Williamstown, on the 3rd June last.

Michael Dunn, who was summoned for allowing his road tax disc to be used by Maguire, was fined £4.

Edward P. Hurse, student, Ashleigh road, Ranelagh, was fined 40s. and had his licence suspended for one month for driving a motor cycle at Stillorgan in a manner dangerous to the public.

WICKLOW'S SILENT QUAYS.

For six weeks there has not been a single cargo imported into Wicklow, or exported from it, owing to the coal strike, the only traffic being the bunkering of two steamers who put in for supplies. Consequently there is a dearth of employment amongst the labouring classes, who depended so largely on the quay work

DALKEY'S ROMANTIC PAST.

ITS KING'S TITLES AND PRIVILEGES.

An old history of Dublin and the surrounding neighbourhood gives some facts about the past history of Dalkey, which may not be familiar to all. In 1792, or thereabouts, Dalkey was the seat of a singular Society calling itself the Kingdom of Dalkey. They were a peace-loving lot out there in those days, it would appear, as this club, as we would now term it, was founded with the object of suppressing duelling. Its members bore successively the titles of Knights of Tara, Knights of St. Patrick, and Officers of the Kingdom of Dalkey.

The Dublin Morning Post of the 22nd of September, 1792, gave a reproduction of the Dalkey Gazette, of the 10th of September of that year, in which is given an account of the doings of the club, which included the election of a King, and his proclamation to his subjects.

STEPHEN THE FIRST.

His facetious Majesty, who was known as Stephen the First, carried an imposing array of titles: he was King of Dalkey, Emperor of the Muglins, Prince of the Holy Island of Magee, Elector of Lambay (and probably had a complete inventory of the mysterious treasures we are all so agitated about just now), Defender of his own faith and respector of all others, Sovereign of the Illustrious Order of the Lobster and the Periwinkle. His coronation was a profitable occasion for his housekeeper; he was brought tribute of such practical matters as rabbits, cockles and mushrooms, and a plenipotentiary arrived from Bullock with an offering of potatoes. There must have been a bad crop that year, as the donor was rewarded with a knighthood.

THE "SOFT" ANSWER.

Suspicion, probably bred by envy, malice, and all uncharitableness, fell on the club after some time, and one of the members was questioned about their doings by one in high authority. The said member occupied the post of Chief Commissioner of the Revenue of the club, and he was asked what were his emoluments for the job. He replied that he was allowed to import, duty free, ten thousand hogsheads of salt water! They let him alone after that. Good instance of a "soft" answer turning away wrath.

The last King of Dalkey, the record states, was a bookseller named Armitage, and his coronation was attended by 20,000 persons.

Sociable, go-ahead people they seem to have been out there in those days. Would there be any chance of resurrecting the idea in a modified form, even if it was only to supply a fresh topic of conversation for the neighbourhood? Of course, duelling cannot be made the raison d'être of the club; but it would be easy to find some modern grievance for them to tilt against—mixed bathing, for example.

OFFICIALS' SALARIES.

PROPOSED 10 PER CENT. "CUT" IN CARLOW.

Carlow County Council yesterday had before it, on the one hand, a report of an investigation committee recommending a 10 per cent. reduction in the salaries of the secretary, the accountant assistant, the county surveyor, the clerk to the county surveyor, veterinary inspectors, courtkeepers, school attendance officers and the sub-sheriff, and, on the other hand, an application from the secretary and the accountant for a reasonable addition to their salaries for extra work in consequence of the abolition of the District Council and the transfer of their functions to the County Council.

Mr. Broughan said that when the ratepayers had the money the existing salaries were fixed, and they were only trying to bring them down to a normal level. The farming industry was in a very depressed condition.

Mr. Brennan said that the Council had no authority to interfere with the salaries, and that this "false economy stunt" was started at the elections. The policy of reducing the salaries of tried and faithful officials was not economy at all.

The Secretary pointed out that his initial salary was £250 a year, and that in 26 years it had been increased to £450. He had received no bonuses like other officials.

Mr. Doyle, accountant, said that he started at £100 a year, his salary rising to £450.

The Chairman said that he had considered that they were perfectly entitled to insist on a reduction in the salaries. The capacity of the ratepayers to pay had gone down 200 per cent. compared with 1919.

The officials refused to accept the recommendation of the committee, and the matter was adjourned for a month.

CONNEMARA PONIES.

MR. BLYTHE'S VISIT TO THE WEST.

"I have had my first visit to Connemara, and I have long been anxious to be afforded the opportunity of seeing for myself that beautiful part of this country, which is a part that hitherto I had known the least about. Now that I have visited it, I am sure that I have learned something that may be of use to myself, and, perhaps, to Connemara."

In those words Mr. Ernest Blythe, Free State Minister for Finance, who is staying in Carna on a holiday, replied to a vote of thanks accorded to him for his attendance at a meeting of the Connemara Pony Breeders' Society on Wednesday. He added that he was very glad to have been afforded the opportunity of seeing the work which the Society was doing.

"It is a good augury for the future," said Mr. C. J. Kerin, "to have our Ministers coming amongst us, seeing our troubles and difficulties, for, although they may for the time be only little local troubles, yet, if they are neglected, they become very big and dangerous troubles in course of time."

Mr. Kerin went on to say that if they were to preserve the Connemara pony from extinction—a breed that had survived the neglect of man and overcome the difficulties of its natural surroundings—they must give some inducement to owners to preserve the stock. There were some gems of ponies still in Connemara. They had eighty or ninety registered mares in the district, and he held that there were no grander ponies in the world.

At different shows in Dublin and elsewhere people had asked him when they were going to produce polo ponies. Personally, he did not think that the present stock could ever be made fit for polo ponies, but they could produce ponies that would themselves produce polo ponies. He suggested that they should subsidise five ponies at £5 a year for three years, and that at the end of the third year the Society could purchase the pony for £15. The subsidy, it should be understood, would be given to owners of mares who showed them with colt ponies at foot.

This suggestion was approved by the meeting.

MINISTER TAKEN TO TASK.

MR. WALSH'S CHARGES DENOUNCED.

CORK COUNTY COUNCIL HITS BACK.

The recent allusion by Mr. J. J. Walsh, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, to the neglected condition of roads in the County Cork and to the administration of the County Council was the subject of discussion at yesterday's meeting of the Council, at which Mr. D. L. O'Gorman presided.

Some of the councillors denounced Mr. Walsh's statement as political propaganda, and a resolution was passed vehemently protesting against what it described as the Minister's virulent and misleading attack on the Council's methods.

THE ROAD WORKERS.

T.D. DEFENDS THEM.

Mr. T. J. Murphy, T.D., who introduced the subject, said that he was more amazed than he could say on reading in the newspapers the very malicious attack made on the road workmen of the county by Mr. Walsh, especially when it was remembered that not more than twelve months ago Mr. Walsh went out of his way to pay a tribute to the workingmen of the county, and to the manner in which they did their work. During a visit to the County Cork he stated that he had opportunities of seeing in a great many parts of the county the way that the road work was being carried on, and he paid a tribute to the direct labour system in the county.

Mr. Murphy added that the views of those that he represented there were that the men on the roads should be paid for their work, and that they should do a fair day's work for their wages, and he believed that that principle had been maintained by them, in spite of all these attacks. He did not know whether it was because of the future election that Mr. Walsh had stated his views in regard to the road workmen in County Cork, and in regard to the members of that Council, or whether it was that Mr. Tilson, who was once a prominent man in the City of Cork, was anxious to come into the limelight again. But whatever the reason, he (Mr. Murphy), on behalf of the party that he was associated with, repudiated and denied absolutely Mr. Walsh's statements and those of his associates. He thought that the attitude taken up by Mr. Walsh was a particularly foolish one, and he did not think that it would serve the objects that he had in view, or that it would influence public opinion in any way with regard to the coming election. He thought that it was entirely discreditable for a Minister of the Government to lend himself to the poisonous and lying propaganda of which he was the mouthpiece during the week. He suggested that the Council should absolutely repudiate and deny Mr. Walsh's statement, and that they should be quite satisfied with the tribute paid to the Council and to its servants and to the men employed on the roads by Mr. Quigley, the chief engineer of the Roads Department. Mr. Walsh's attack on that Council was unfounded, unfair and unreasonable.

THE RESOLUTION.

Mr. Lynch proposed the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Brasier:—

"That this Council vehemently denounces the virulent, malicious, and mischievously misleading attack by Mr. J. J. Walsh on the Council's administration; that we characterise such attack as savouring more of the pre-election utterance of a political mountebank and charlatan, rather than a responsible statement from a highly-placed Government official, and we further point out to Mr. Walsh that his administration of the Postal Service, for which he receives £1,700 a year, is not so efficient as would place him in a position to criticise the public administration of any other public body, and least of all a County Council whose members give their services to the public gratuitously. That we repudiate his lying inaccuracies, and call upon the Minister for Local Government and Public Health to say whether, in his opinion, the Council has not carried out its functions with creditable efficiency, both in its financial administration and its reconstruction of the roads, and being satisfied, he will inform the interfering Minister for Posts and Telegraphs that his lying, pernicious propaganda against the Cork County Council, for personal political motives, is neither creditable nor deserved."

POLITICS ALLEGED.

Mr. Lynch said that, with Mr. Murphy, he would raise his voice in the protest made against the most unfair and discreditable attack launched upon the Council by the gentleman known as the Minister for Posts and Telegraphs. Those of them who had worked on the sub-committees of the Council knew that these statements were most unfounded and unfair. They were made for a very definite and political motive. Before they discussed the question intrinsically they could not proceed without making some reference to a member of the Council who happened to be present as one of the deputation met by Mr. Walsh in Crosshaven. This member used his position to comment on the administrative efficiency of this Council, and apparently he did not consider it of a very high order. He referred to Mr. Eamonn O'Neill. There was a proper place for criticising the efficiency of the Council, and that was inside there on the rostrum. Mr. O'Neill showed a lack of esprit de corps to characterise his action. When this question was discussed there before they had it admitted by Mr. O'Neill that he was the gentleman who had inspired the seeking of the appointment of a Roads Commissioner. As regarded the statement of Mr. Walsh himself, he had no hesitation in saying that it was probably the most vulgar, ignorant and malicious attack ever levelled by a public man against a public body. Mr. Walsh had been criticised by some of his deputationists for his postal administration.

THE MOTOR LORRY TRAFFIC.

On the subject of trunk roads, Mr. Lynch said that the Council were called upon to subsidise the ordinary macadam roads for people who ran heavy lorries through the country, so that they might be able to defeat the railway opposition. The Council held that this matter was one for the Government, and it was questionable whether, in the existing state of the country, they could maintain two sets of transport. Mr. Walsh said that the trunk roads were maintained by moneys of the users of motors. In Cork County they had 1,000 miles of main roads, and last year the amount they received from motor taxation was £46,000. £36,000 was contributed under the county registration and about £17,000 from the borough. This was pooled in Dublin, and they received back road grants, and the amount received last year was £46,000.

Mr. Walsh made the sweeping statement that the Council got grants to the extent of hundreds of thousands of pounds. It was open to every member of this Council to go into this question, and they would find that since 1923 they had received no hundreds of thousands of pounds. The amount of the destruction to the roads was an important factor in this discussion. They had it on the authority of some of the best road engineers that a lorry would do about nine times the destruction that it really paid for in road taxation. Reference was made to the Crosshaven road. This was not a trunk road, and would have to be maintained out of the rates levied by this Council. That road was mainly used for trippers and the merchant princes of the city.

"ALL PROPAGANDA."

Mr. Lynch further said that the farming community were the people who were called upon to provide roads for Mr. Walsh and his like, so as not to smash their Rolls Royces or knock the nuts and bolts out of them. Mr. Walsh had used the roads question in Cork to flog his opponents. Probably in accordance with his election promises to Douglas, Blarney and Passage three years ago, Mr. Walsh would now promise to make Crosshaven an Irish Deauville, and to grow golden plums there. This was all propaganda, with a view to driving out of office the popularly elected bodies of the people.

Mr. Walsh might very well turn his attentions to improving his own postal department. Where there was formerly a postman and a parcels man, they now had one man acting in the capacity of a dray horse, and while in the Six Counties there was a three halfpenny post, they had to pay twopence for a letter in the twenty-six counties. They also had to pay sixpence extra on a telegram—that was fifty per cent. extra—for taking it one mile in the country.

THE CHAIRMAN'S QUESTION.

The Chairman having dealt with the position of the Council with regard to moneys expended during the twelve months, said that motorists had been provided with practically a free road. The two millions was a further provision in the same direction. The motors and lorries had almost broken the railway companies. Was it wise to assist them further in the process? They could not do without the railway.

Roadmaking, the chairman added, is not reproductive work. We all remember the time when we had the penny postage and a seven-day delivery, when letters were safe, when telegrams were delivered free within a two-mile radius, and when you had not the abominable Walsh tax inflicted under false pretences. In a small village that I know that tax costs the people £7 a week.

When will a decent service be restored? It is time that Mr. Walsh was asked to attend to the duties of his own department.

Mr. Brazier said that they were unanimous in characterising the attack on the County Council, its county surveyors, and its road workmen as absolutely untrue. They must bear in mind that the method of transit had considerably altered, that the Council inherited a bad state of affairs financially when they entered on the administration of the county, and that they had not received one penny of the moneys mentioned by Mr. Walsh.

Mr. John Daly, T.D., said that he was sorry that Mr. Walsh did not confer with the County Council as to the best methods of improving the roads.

DISAGREEMENT WITH THE RESOLUTION.

Mr. Sean Buckley, T.D., said that he could not acquiesce in the resolution, because he did not agree with the majority of the Council that serious notice should be taken of Mr. Walsh's statement. If the public were not able to place Mr. Walsh's statements at their proper worth, he did not think that there was any good in their trying to educate them. He had obtained what he wanted—a good advertisement—and as long as he (Mr. Buckley) knew him he had been making those wild statements. At one time the Unionists were to be put up against the wall; to-day he was a persona grata with those who stood for the British connection. Ulster was to be brought in on a shutter, but instead he joined with those who sold the corpse to the British anatomist. He claimed to be a pioneer of the Volunteer movement in this country to establish an Irish Republic; he was with the men who proclaimed a Republic in Easter week; he was one of the elected representatives who formally ratified the proclamation of the Republic, and he appealed to the free nations of the world to recognise it. Having repudiated that, he came down to the people of Cork and told them that the Republic was all bunkum.

How any responsible body of men could pay any heed to the statements of a man of that character he (Mr. Buckley) could not understand. Therefore, he could not acquiesce in their taking serious notice of the statements which Mr. Walsh had made.

The Chairman, having stated that there was a great deal in what Mr. Buckley had said, put the resolution, which he declared passed unanimously.

TEACHING OF IRISH.

VIEWS AT LONGFORD COUNCIL.

The feelings of a number of the members of Longford County Council on the question of the necessity of the Irish language were revealed at the quarterly meeting of the Council yesterday, when it was intimated by the Clerk that, in regard to the decision at a previous meeting to give £300 out of the General fund towards technical education in the county, the Local Government Department had first informed him that the Council would do so on their own responsibility, and then, after further correspondence, had assured him that if the £300 was to be devoted to teaching the Irish language the proposal would have the sanction of the Minister. In this event, the Council were advised to strike an extra rate of 1d. in the £.

Mr. Robert Belton asked whether, if the Council gave a penny in the £ now, it would mean a rate of threepence in the £ altogether for Irish.

The Chairman (Mr. Garahan)—Yes, between Irish and technical instruction.

Mr. Belton—At the last meeting of the Council I was against a halfpenny in the £ for Irish, and you, the Chairman, and I were abused in the local papers for opposing it. I was going to reply to it as far as I was concerned, but on consideration I did not think it worth while.

"I oppose giving £300 for teaching Irish," Mr. Belton went on. "What good will your Irish do a starving people? There is no use learning Irish on an empty stomach."

Mr. Reynolds—This is not the time to strike an extra rate, and put additional burden on the ratepayers.

Mr. Miller said that they did not propose to give £300 for Irish. They proposed to give £300 on the assumption that, if they gave that amount, a higher grant would be given by the Department.

Mr. J. Belton—I propose that we do not give £300. I think the whole technical business is only a humbug. It is doing nothing to make carpenters or to encourage useful trades.

"VERY INCONSISTENT."

Mr. Doris remarked that the Department were very inconsistent. First they said that this £300 could not be given, but when they heard that it was for Irish they suggested striking a rate of another penny in the £. He thought that they should fight the Department in the matter and pay this £300.

Senator McGuinness—The question of Irish does not arise at all, and this Council should not turn Irish down.

Mr. R. Belton—Every halfpenny counts, and if you knew what the country has been saying about spending money on Irish—

Mr. Carter (ex-T.D.)—We all know it.

Mr. R. Belton—Then we should act accordingly.

Mr. Carter—I am not out for the killing of Irish, and never will stand for it. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. R. Belton added that he had attended many meetings of the people, and none of them was for striking a rate for Irish, or making people pay for Irish.

On a vote of the Council 14 were for, and 7 against, giving £300 towards technical instruction.

ALLEGED THEFTS FROM BALBRIGGAN FIRM.

MANAGER, TWO SONS AND TWO TYPISTS CHARGED.

Five employés of Messrs. Smyth and Co.'s hosiery factory, Balbriggan, including the manager, Mr. T. M. Cashell, who is also chairman of the Balbriggan Town Commissioners; two of his sons, and two women typists, from Skerries, were arrested by Civic Guards on last Wednesday evening in connection with alleged thefts from the firm. They were brought before a special court in Balbriggan and charged on three counts—larceny, unlawfully receiving, and conspiracy to steal hose.

Thomas M. Cashell, senior, Skerries street, Balbriggan, was charged with, as alleged, having, on divers dates within the past three years, unlawfully stolen 278 pairs of men's and women's stockings, value £60 7s.; with having unlawfully received the hose, and with having conspired with Thomas Cashell, junior, Henry Cashell, Minnie Evans and Fannie Evans, and others at present unknown, to steal the hosiery.

Thomas Cashell, junior, was charged with, as alleged, having, on divers dates within the past three years, stolen 62 pairs of socks and stockings, value about £16 10s.; having received same, and having conspired with the four other accused to steal the hose.

Henry Cashell was similarly charged in respect of 42 pairs of hose, value for about £16 17s. Fanny Evans was similarly charged in respect of 31 pairs of hose, value about £9, and Minnie Evans in respect of 35 pairs of hose, value about £18.

Superintendent O'Halloran prosecuted, and the accused persons were not professionally represented.

Sergeant John Walker stated that when arrested the accused made no statements, beyond saying that they would reserve their defence.

The defendants declined to cross-examine, and the Peace Commissioner (Mr. P. Daly), having remarked on the serious nature of the charges, remanded all five accused to the next District Court in Balbriggan on personal bail of £10 and two independent sureties of £25 in each case. The bails were forthcoming.

T.D.'S AND THE HOUSING ACT.

REPLY TO A RESOLUTION.

Replies from Mr. J. Hennigan and Mr. M. Roddy, Deputies for Sligo, to a resolution of the Leitrim County Board of Health favouring the application in the Housing Act of provision for funds for the renovation and building of houses by small farmers in the rural areas, were read at the last meeting of the Board.

Mr. Hennigan wrote stating that the amendment to the Housing Act had his entire approval, as houses in rural areas needed improvements more than urban dwellings.

Mr. Roddy stated that he raised the question at some length in the discussion on the Local Government estimate this year, but it was really a question of where the money was to be found, and he certainly appreciated the difficulty of the Government in a matter of the kind.

"In a discussion, however, on the estimate for the Local Loans Fund," Mr. Roddy added, "the Minister for Finance held out a hope that it might be possible later on to advance money out of this fund to local authorities for housing purposes. There is a class of small farmers, particularly in the West, whose needs in this direction were specially catered for in the past by the Congested Districts Board, and who are unable for obvious reasons to take advantage of any of the existing Housing Acts. The Government is alive to the claims of these men.

"It is, perhaps, not generally known that any farmer, whose holding is not already vested is entitled to a grant or loan from the Land Commission for the reconstruction of his house. In addition, there is £300,000 provided in the Land Commission estimate this year for improvement works. The major portion of this money is being spent on the erection of new houses, etc., for tenants who have acquired holdings under the 1913 and previous Land Acts."

At the adjourned inquest, at Sunderland yesterday, on the three victims of the gangway collapse at the shipyard of Messrs. William Pickersgill and Sons, on the 22nd ult., the evidence showed that the gangway, which was a subsidiary one, became overloaded through men crowding on to it and broke. The verdict was "Accidental death" in each case.

ENGLISHMAN'S ARREST IN COUNTY CORK.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CLONAKILTY, Thursday.

The arrest was effected at Goleen, Skibbereen, yesterday of Richard O'Grady, a Justice of the Peace for Essex County, on a charge of having forged a cheque for £216 on the funds of a social club, of which he was the secretary.

He had been missing, it is stated, since 27th of April, and, despite the vigilance of both the English and Irish police, his whereabout was not traced until a letter written by him arrived in Grays, Essex, from a hotel in Dublin.

Inquiries by detectives showed that the accused used this hotel solely in the nature of a poste restante. A second letter bore the Goleen postmark, and this led to his arrest.

This morning at Skibbereen he was handed to an escort of English constabulary.

Lady Doctor Appointed.—The Northern Ministry of Home Affairs has sanctioned the reappointment of Dr. Eveline M. Calvert (daughter of the Clerk of Lurgan Union) as Resident Medical Officer of Lurgan Workhouse, at a salary of £100 per year.

LADY STRATHCONA'S DEATH.

A BY-ELECTION IN CUMBERLAND.

As the result of the death of Baroness Strathcona and Mount Royal, in London on Wednesday, an election will take place in the Northern Division of Cumberland. Her son, the Hon. Donald Stirling Howard, has represented the division as a Conservative since 1922, and his succession to the title will create a vacancy in the House of Commons. At the last General Election he polled more than the combined votes of the Liberal and the Socialist who opposed him.

Lady Strathcona was a peeress in her own right, and one of the wealthiest women in the world. She succeeded her father, the first Lord Strathcona, one of the makers of modern Canada, by special remainder, in 1914, and, as his only child, inherited from him the bulk of his fortune of five and a half millions. Her husband, Mr. Robert J. Bliss Howard, died in 1921. He was a doctor, and the son of a doctor in Montreal.

Lady Strathcona's benefactions were many and generous. Four years ago, for instance, she gave a cheque for £100,000 in an eleventh-hour attempt to save McGrigor's Bank from ruin. "I did it with my eyes open," Lady Strathcona said in an interview, "because Sir James McGrigor was an old friend." The munificent gift, however, merely postponed the crash.

One reason for this romantic gesture of friendship is that when the late Lord Strathcona set out for Canada as Donald Smith, a humble Scottish youth, it was Sir Charles McGrigor, the founder of the bank, who made possible the journey, which ended in fame and fortune.

A CLEVER LONDON REVUE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Thursday.

Mr. Archibald de Bear's revue, "R.S.V.P.," one of the brightest shows in London, celebrated its 201st performance with the inclusion of several new items.

Miss Mimi Crawford dances as vivaciously and gracefully as ever, and her rendering of three songs from Mr. A. A. Milne's "When We Were Very Young" was delightful, particularly "Vespers." Miss Joyce Barbour, who on the first night proved her ability as a comedienne, sang, for the first time, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," Irving Berlin's latest effort. It is very funny, but not so pointedly funny as "How Now, Brown Cow." The charming fantasie ballet, "Alice in Lumberland" (music by Norman O'Neill), which is the pièce de résistance of the show, has been retained in its entirety, and is as delightful as ever.

The second edition of Mr. de Bear's show is every bit as good as the first, which is saying a good deal, and it certainly continues to be one of the most witty and most artistic revues in London.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

The Cork County Council yesterday passed a resolution repudiating Mr. J. J. Walsh's recent statement regarding the roads in the County Cork, and stating that his administration of the Post Office was not so efficient as to place him in a position to criticise the administration of any public body.—(Page 5.)

A conference of persons interested in the Irish pork industry met in Dublin yesterday, and appointed a committee to further the development of the industry.—(Page 5.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

Flight Lieutenant Junor, of the Royal Air Force, was killed near Gloucester yesterday, when a machine that he was testing fell in a garden.—(Page 7.)

The miners, in their conference with the coal-owners yesterday, insisted on a national settlement, and opposed an eight-hour day. The owners replied that these conditions were "economically impracticable," and the negotiations were abandoned.—(Page 7.)

ABROAD.

Nineteen persons were killed early yesterday morning, when an express train running between Berlin and Cologne left the rails and dashed down an embankment.—(Page 7.)

Prince Umberto Ruspoli, a member of one of the oldest Roman families, was shot dead on his estate on Wednesday by one of two men who were stealing hay.—(Page 7.)

SPORTING.

At Mallow yesterday Silver Crest won the Mount Hilary Plate, Red Rocket the Military Hunt Cup, Inniscarra the Blarney Plate, Nantenan the Tailteann Gold Cup, Jerpoint the Knockmealdown Plate, and Rosmeen the Mallow Spa Plate.—(Page 10.)

At Stockton St. Jerome won the Durham County Produce Plate.—(Page 10.)

At Bath Esca won the Grosvenor Handicap.—(Page 10.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were idle, but steady, the failure of the Coal Conference not being announced till after business hours.—(Page 4.)

Lombard street was well supplied with funds, and short loans were made at 4 per cent. and later at lower rates. Discount rates were unchanged. The exchanges were steady.—(Page 4.)

In Dublin the market was firm. Courtaulds were a strong spot.—(Page 4.)

Too Many Cooks.

"For forms of government let fools contest," says Pope; but recent history shows that they have some importance. When we give the fullest weight to the poet's further dictum that "Whate'er is best administered is best" the fact remains that, in the world of the twentieth century, complicated forms of government offer a standing invitation to trouble. The invitation becomes especially urgent when two or more countries are concerned in a task of government; for then international jealousies are added to domestic problems. Tangier, which, even since we discussed its position on Wednesday, has developed new aspects of unrest, is a case in point. In 1912, by agreement between France and Spain, it came under a system of international control; and this system was confirmed and amplified by the convention which Spain formulated with France and Great Britain in 1923. Thereupon international jealousy was quick to reveal itself. Italy was not consulted about the 1923 convention, and Signor Mussolini soon advanced her claim for a larger part in the administration of Tangier. Now Spain declares that the whole system of international control ought to be abolished and that the Tangier zone ought to be included in her own Moroccan Protectorate. The demand coincides significantly with the Treaty of Friendship and Conciliation between Spain and Italy. Significant also, in view of Signor Mussolini's imperious temperament, is Italy's calm reception of the Spanish pretensions to Tangier.

In the meanwhile the internal situation at Tangier is keeping a host of consular officials awake at night. A difficult problem is created for the guardians of law and order when they are assailed at the same time with the very latest weapons of Europe's democratic unrest and the most ancient weapons in the armoury of Oriental intrigue. The European population of Tangier, which holds a substantial element of Communism, is resorting to strikes and street disturbances, and repeated strikes have done much injury to commerce. A demand for an eight hours' day has been the excuse for the latest strike, in which the European Workers' Syndicate is inviting Moslem co-operation: in Tangier, at any rate, it does not seem to be true that "East is East and West is West, and never the two shall meet." The Moslem residents also are making trouble on their own account, declaring that certain regulations are an offence to their faith. On Wednesday the Correspondent of The Times reported that a thousand men of the Fahs tribe were preparing to support the Moslem malcontents in Tangier and that, while "no immediate crisis was expected," the International Committee of Control was engaged in anxious conferences. The local troubles are aggravated by the badness of trade, which, indeed, is one of the Marquis de Estella's arguments for the cession of Tangier to Spain. He says that trade cannot improve so long as the port and its territory are severed artificially from their natural hinterland, though, as The Times reminds him, it was Spain herself who established a Customs barrier on the inland border. Geographically, Tangier and Morocco are remote from Londonderry and Donegal, but, economically, they seem to have some things in common.

In the light of this local situation the Spanish claim to Tangier is cleverly timed and may not be ignored by the European Powers. None of them has hastened to reject it; and a statement from London which appears to be semi-official says cautiously that a demand so radical must be the subject of international discussions. Of course, no change in the status of Tangier is possible without the unanimous consent of the Governments which have voices in the international system of control. Already, we may suspect, Spain has reached an understanding with Italy; but France will not be persuaded easily to abandon her pied à terre, and England cannot be expected to swallow the Spanish demand in its robust entirety. The alternative, however, to competent control by a single Power is an earnest attempt to make a success of the international system, and the prospects of such success are not hopeful. A complicated machinery of government has helped neither the trade nor the peace of Tangier; the Mixed Tribunals are unpopular, and matters are not likely to improve so long as Spain and, as is probable, Italy—two of the governing factors—are disposed to make capital out of the failure of the present régime. Moreover, Spain's demand for an undivided control of Tangier is supported by her successful management of her Moroccan zone, where she is establishing excellent terms with the tribes. It is possible that the coming discussions may result in an appeal to the League of Nations or in the application of the mandatory system to Tangier. In any case there is little doubt that the near future will develop aliquid novi in this contentious corner of Africa.

Markets for Connaught.

Mr. Ernest Blythe, Free State Minister for Finance, attended a meeting of the Connemara Pony Breeders' Society in Galway, and spoke encouraging words to those who are striving to build up the industries of the West. The merits of the native ponies of Connaught have been late to receive recognition, and the breed has been permitted to run far towards extinction. A change has come about, and to-day the Society which is seeking to improve the strain and its market can promise to the country folk who undertake to rear foals a satisfactory profit. The salvation of the Connemara pony is but one example of possibilities in the economic improvement of the congested districts. In the Irish Trade Journal an account is given of the excellent work that has been done all along the Western seaboard by the Congested Districts Board and its successor, the Free State Department of Fisheries, in fostering such industries as carpet-making, shirt-making, crochet and other kinds of lace-making, embroidery, spinning and weaving. In West Mayo between 3,000 and 4,000 skilled crochet-workers have been kept busy. Of late the chief market for Irish lace—the United States—has shrunk, owing to a heavy tariff and competition by Asiatic countries, which produce inferior fabrics by cheap labour. The large market found in England for crochet "jumpers" of artificial silk has been lost owing to the English Budget of 1925, which imposed stiff duties on goods made of this material. In woollen products, however, steady success has been enjoyed, and, in the poorest districts of Connemara, girls are knitting gloves for the London trade and golf-coats, costumes, "pull-overs," and children's clothes for both the home and the export trade. Homespuns continue to meet a good demand, and in Donegal there are over 500 cottage looms fed by over 3,000 spinning wheels. In Galway a toy factory employs over fifty workers, making swing-horses, "scooters," and toy motor-cars and railway engines, chiefly for export. As we read these facts, we are impelled to ask how it happens that we so seldom see these products of Western industry offered for sale or bought in the home market. If Irish consumers purchased the goods that America and England have barred out by tariffs, they would provide an ample market. We hear that Connemara workmen in the American cities recently discovered that their homely, but strong and comfortable, "bawneens" were admirable garments for use in the New World as well as in the Old, whereupon a little export trade sprang into being. Why do not workmen throughout Ireland make similar use of their country's produce? A Dublin tailor stated recently that to-day, as before the war, he sends ten sports' garments of homespun to discriminating purchasers in France for one sold at home. We believe that the blame does not lie wholly with Irish consumers that Irish produce is despised in one land only—the land of its production. Too often the producers, who know that inferior goods will be rejected in the foreign market, "unload" them on Dublin. To this may be attributed the fact that a certain variety of hand-knitted articles, offered in Dublin, reached such a pitch of debased quality that purchasers refused to buy Irish garments of the sort, and shops refused to stock them, whether good or bad.

"Dry" Literature.

An officer of the New York Customs has delivered a tentative ruling debarring from the United States a London magazine which contains an advertisement of a certain cherry brandy. The Volstead law declares that it is illegal to advertise alcoholic beverages in the United States by any means, and the sole stated exception applied to foreign newspapers posted to America. If the ruling is upheld, no foreign magazines containing advertisements of liquor will be allowed to pass the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbour. Not merely are the freemen of America forbidden to taste wine that maketh glad the heart of man, but they will not be allowed even to contemplate its praises. To be consistent, American law will need to suppress literature as well as advertising matter wherein the pleasures of wine are described. A "dry" literature, however, will be a thin literature. There are few great writers in English who will not come under the ban; for there are few who have not lavished fine art upon the merits of good fare. The Pickwick Club's adventures have ale or punch in every chapter; all Scott's heroes are stout trenchermen and lovers of a brimming flagon; and Shakespeare never was more truly Shakespeare than when he asked—as if in challenge to America—"Dost thou think, because thou art virtuous, there shall be no more cakes and ale?" It is, perhaps, a melancholy thought that, if the Volstead law had existed in England, not one of her poets would have left his work in the form in which we possess it.

A French Bull-fight.

Near St. Raphael, on the French Riviera, an ancient arena stands. There, when Fréjus was Forum Julii, the Roman games were held, gladiators strove, and the excited mob cried "habet" as the victims of their holiday fell in the encrimsoned sand. Visitors to the Riviera frequent the spot to admire the architecture which has outlived empires, like the great Coliseum itself, a relic of Rome's might and a memorial of the brutal vein in the Roman genius. The Cannes Correspondent of The Times reports that a bull-fight is announced to take place next Sunday at this ancient site. British visitors have read the announcements with surprise and indignation. Protests have been made against the official support given to the proposal by the Comité des Fêtes, and many holiday-makers have declared their intention to leave the district. Not since the last century has bull-fighting been seen on the Riviera, and it is earnestly to be hoped that next Sunday's arrangements even now will be cancelled. If the bull-fight is held in accordance with the programme, six four-year-old bulls will be slaughtered. The savagery of the spectacle will be increased by the use of horses, although in Spain, the home of this ugly entertainment, the use of horses recently has been abandoned as entailing a height of cruelty beyond even the trained endurance of a Spanish mob. Attempts to popularise bull-fighting in France during recent years were resented by French public opinion. It will be surprising if Sunday's indulgence does not lead to the explicit and final prohibition on French soil of this debasing form of sport.

OBITUARY.

LORD BURGH.

Lord Burgh, the seventh Baron, died on Wednesday night at Berse Lodge, Aberdeenshire, where he had been staying. Lord Burgh was 60 years of age. In 1912 he proved his claim as senior co-heir to the ancient Baronies of Burgh and Cobham, and in 1916 he proved his claim to the ancient Barony of Strathbogie, as senior co-heir. Before he assumed these titles he was known as Lt.-Colonel Alexander Henry Leith.

Lord Burgh was the eldest son of the late General R. W. Disney Leith, C.B., of Glenkindle and Westhall, Aberdeenshire. A Justice of the Peace and a Deputy Lieutenant for Aberdeenshire and the Isle of Wight, Lord Burgh had commanded the third battalion Gordon Highlanders, and commanded the Aberdeen garrison and coast defences during the Great War. He served in the Soudan campaigns of 1888 and 1889.

DR. DAVID EDGAR FLINN.

We regret to announce that Dr. David Edgar Flinn, F.,R.C.S.I., died at his residence, Kingstown, County Dublin, on Wednesday, aged 76 years.

The eldest son of the late David Edgar Flinn, of Buenos Ayres, Dr. Flinn was educated at Clongowes College, the Royal College of Surgeons, Ireland, and the University of Dublin. He served in the Volunteer and Territorial Forces and in the Army Medical Reserve, and in 1904 retired with the rank of Colonel.

Dr. Flinn was a Fellow of the Royal Sanitary Institute, London. From 1896 to 1910 he was Medical Inspector of the Local Government Board, Ireland, and afterwards he held the posts of His Majesty's Chief Inspector of Reformatory and Industrial Schools, and of Medical Member of the General Prisons Board, Ireland. Dr. Flinn gave valuable service as a member of the Viceregal Commission on the health of Belfast, and as a member of the committee of inquiry into the causes of typhoid fever in Dublin in 1893. He was President of the State Medical Section of the Royal Academy of Medicine, Ireland, and in 1894 and 1895 editor of the Health Record. He had been a member of the Council of the Royal College of Surgeons, Ireland, and was Examiner in Hygiene and Public Health for the Royal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons, Ireland.

Among Dr. Flinn's published works were: "Our Dress and Our Food in Relation to Health," "Ireland: Its Health Resorts and Watering Places;" "The Public Cleansing of Towns," "Recent Developments in State Medicine," (1894); "Wintering Stations in Ireland," "Administration of Public Health Acts in Ireland," etc.

MR. JOHN PIERCE.

Much regret has been caused in Wexford by the news that Mr. John Pierce, head and managing director of Messrs. Philip Pierce and Co., Ltd., has died in Paris, where he was spending a holiday. Mr. Pierce was a brother of the late Mr. Philip Pierce, founder of the well-known engineering firm, and of his successor, the late Mr. Martin Pierce. He took a keen interest in the management and development of the business, and despite the marked industrial depression that followed the Great War, he kept the works in full activity and gave employment to several hundred people.

LONDON CLERGYMAN'S JUBILEE.

A NATIVE OF DUBLIN.

Canon Edward F. Murnane, Rector of Bermondsey Roman Catholic Church, has just completed fifty years in the Priesthood. He is seventy-four, and has been attached to the church at Bermondsey, London, since 1883.

Canon Murnane, who was born in Dublin, was closely associated with Cardinal Manning in the temperance movement, and with his brother, Canon W. F. Murnane, Rector of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Camberwell, New road, London, who is his senior by several years, conducted a vigorous total abstinence campaign throughout the country.

LONDON TO TOKIO IN FIVE DAYS.

NEW JAPANESE AIR SERVICE.

Mr. Temotsu Aiba, President of the Japanese Aviation School, left Southampton yesterday morning by the White Star liner Majestic for New York. Mr. Aiba has been in Europe some months studying commercial aviation, with the ultimate aim of establishing a new air line between Tokio, Shanghai, Tsingtao and Peking, and to Karbine, Manchuria, early next year, to carry passengers and mails.

This service will link up with Russian air lines, and it will then be possible to fly from London to Tokio via Amsterdam and Siberia in five days. The railway now takes seventeen days.

Mr. Aiba, during his stay in Europe, has visited France, Belgium, Italy, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Russia and England, and has travelled by air during his journeyings, covering over ten thousand miles in that manner. "I think that British machines are best," he said, "but Germany, without doubt, has the best aerodromes."

While in the United States he will confer with American aviation companies, with a view to making arrangements establishing an air service from Japan to the United States, but that proposition he considered very difficult—quite as difficult as crossing the Atlantic by air. Airships would, no doubt, he said, be the best means of crossing oceans, but for land flying aeroplanes would undoubtedly prove better.

"Thus," he concluded, "once Pacific and Atlantic Ocean air routes have been established, it will be possible to circle the globe by air."

QUEEN'S VISIT TO SCOTLAND.

It is probable that the Queen will be later in reaching Balmoral than was anticipated. Instead of going North from Sandringham on the 23rd or 24th, she will return to London next Thursday, spend two nights at Buckingham Palace, and leave King's Cross for Ballater on Saturday, the 28th instant.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

The King will arrive next week at Balmoral Castle, where the Court will remain in residence till late in the autumn. The Queen will pay a couple of visits on her way North, and will probably spend a few days with Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles at Goldsborough Hall. Her Majesty will also visit Lord and Lady Elphinstone at Carberry Tower, Musselburgh, before she joins the King at Balmoral.

The Duke and Duchess of Atholl, Lord and Lady Manton, the Hon. Mrs. Campbell, Colonel the Hon. Stanley Jackson, Sir Cuthbert, Lady and Miss Quilter, Colonel Duff and Mrs. Murcel are included in the shooting party which Lord and Lady Barnby are entertaining this week at Castle Menzies, Perthshire. The Duke of Argyll is in residence at Inverary Castle, and presided on Wednesday at the annual games, which took place in the park before a large gathering.

The Marquis and Marchioness of Londonderry, accompanied by their daughters, Lady Margaret, Lady Helen and Lady Mary Stewart, have arrived at Wynyard Park, Stockton-on-Tees, where they will remain for some weeks. The Marquis and Marchioness of Blandford have gone North, and are paying a round of shooting visits. The Countess of Shaftesbury has left London, and has joined the Earl of Shaftesbury and their family at Abergeldie Castle.

Lord and Lady Bolton's shooting party at Bolton Hall, Yorkshire, this week includes the Marquis and Marchioness of Exeter and Lady Winifred Cecil, the Earl of Powis, Lord Dynevor and the Hon. Imogen Rhys, the Hon. Lady Curzon-Howe and the Hon. Nigel Orde-Powlett.

Earl Fitzwilliam arrived at Kingstown on Wednesday on board his steam yacht. Lady Fitzwilliam had previously arrived at Coollattin Park, where their son, Earl Milton, is spending his vacation. The Earl and Countess of Kenmare are spending the summer and autumn at Killarney House. Isobel Lady Talbot de Malahide have arrived at Malahide Castle on a visit to Lord and Lady Talbot de Malahide.

Viscount and Viscountess Cowdray are spending the autumn at Dunecht House, their residence in Aberdeenshire, where their son-in-law and daughter, Lord and Lady Denman, are now staying with them. Yesterday's departures for Scotland included the Countess of Derby, Lady Alastair Innes-Ker, Lord Cranworth, Lord Dewar, Field-Marshal Sir William Robertson, Sir Ian Malcolm and Sir Charles Welby.

Lord Revelstoke, Lady Wolverton, Major-General the Hon. Sir William Lambton, Sir Mark and the Hon. Lady Romer, Sir George Vernon, Sir Banister and Lady Fletcher and Sir Henry and Lady Rothband are among the British visitors at Aix-les-Bains.

Dr. Lewis J. Farrell has left 16 Westland Row for one month.

Dr. D. J. Cannon is leaving 13 Rutland square for a few weeks.

Dr. V. O. McCormick and Dr. Marjorie McCormick have left 4 Eaton place, Monkstown, for one month.

Dr. M. P. Burke has resumed practice at 67 Lower Baggot street, Dublin.

Mr. Dan Doolin has returned to 9 Upper Fitzwilliam street, Dublin.

Mr. Duncan Smith has returned to 62 Lower Mount street.

MARRIAGE OF MR. H. G. O'CARROLL DARBY AND MISS CELIA M. PHILIPS.

The marriage was celebrated on Wednesday at St. Mary's Church, Checkley, Staffordshire, of Horatio Gordon O'Carroll Darby, late Irish Guards, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan C. Darby, of Leap Castle, Roscrea, County Tipperary, and Celia Margaret Philips, younger daughter of Lieutenant-Colonel Burton H. Philips, C.M.G., and Mrs. Philips, The Heath House, Tean, Staffordshire. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of ivory Georgette, wrought with pearls, and the train of blush pink chiffon was veiled with antique rose-point lace, lent by her aunt, Mrs. Oliver Marton. Master M. Philips and Miss Marigold Philips, cousins of the bride, acted as train-bearers, and the four bridesmaids, in hand-painted mauve taffetas dresses and picture hats, with clusters of flowers and blue and mauve streamers, were Miss Audrey Philips (the bride's sister), Miss Joan le Fleming (the bride's cousin), Miss Lucy Clowes, and Miss Joan Thompson. The Rev. N. E. Drinkwater, Rector of St. Mary's, officiated, and Mr. Duncan H. Crawford acted as best man. After the ceremony a reception was held at Heath House, and later the bride and bridegroom left for Ireland.

MARRIAGE OF MR. F. D. WARREN, M.C., AND MISS K. M. PRESTON.

The marriage took place yesterday at Christ Church, Rathgar, Dublin, of Miss Katherine Mary Preston, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Preston, Bardowie, Orwell Park, Rathgar, and Mr. Frank Denis Warren, M.C. The Service was conducted by the Rev. J. J. Macaulay, B.A. The bride, who was given away by her mother, wore white satin beauté, embroidered in white and gold, with a panel of gold lace; her veil was white tulle, with a gold filet, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Allan and Miss Marjorie McEwen, were in taffetas of a deep shade of sweet-pea pink, and gold lace caps with little bunches of roses. Commander Warren, R.N., was best man. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with roses and sweet-pea.

THE DISCOVERIES ON LAMBAY ISLAND.

BELIEVED TO BELONG TO FIRST CENTURY.

In connection with the announcement in the Irish Times of archæological discoveries at Lambay Island, off the coast of County Dublin, The Times states that photographs of the discoveries have been submitted to the medieval antiquities department of the British Museum.

On the evidence which the photographs supply, it is believed that the discoveries belong to the first century A.D.

Among the more important articles found are a bronze beaded collar, a horn armlet and a number of brooches.

It is believed that the discoveries will find a place in the Dublin Museum. It is hoped, however, that when their place of exhibition has been decided, photographs of the exhibits will be sent to the British Museum.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

The Prince of Wales, who returned to London from Sandwich on Tuesday in order to be present at the Test Match on the following day, left York House yesterday afternoon for a round of golf in the suburbs. He will probably return to Sandwich for the week-end.

The date of the Prince's visit to Chester has been altered from October 27th to October 20th. His Royal Highness will probably be going to France towards the end of October, and arrangements for the Royal visit to Chester will in consequence be varied. The Prince, who is Earl of Chester, had arranged to attend the Chester Dairy Show, the presentation of a portrait in oils to Alderman Hewitt, and the opening of a new wing of the School of Agriculture at Reaseheath, and to pay a visit to Crewe.

LONDON LETTER.

THE COAL CRISIS.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
THURSDAY NIGHT.

The miners' leaders do not appear to have gone into conference with the owners with any other idea than to negotiate on their own terms. The proceedings broke down after a comparatively brief parley, and the country awaits with angry interest the next move in this distressing conflict. The Executive received a direct mandate from the men to negotiate, and it is inconceivable that Mr. Cook and Mr. Smith can have been obstinate enough at this juncture to push their demands to the extremity of another deadlock. The steady flow of miners back to work indicates that they are tired of sixteen weeks of inactivity.

Trade Union Laws.

Mr. Churchill had rather a stormy time at his Swansea meeting, and, despite all the precautions taken to ensure him a peaceful hearing, there was considerable disturbance during the proceedings, and quite a number of interrupters had to be ejected before he could get on with his speech. He was inclined to be bitter on the subject of trade unions, and, reading between the lines, one perceives that the Government will legislate in that direction either during the autumn sitting or early next session. In view of the congestion of Parliamentary business it is more than likely that the matter will have to be postponed until next year, which will not be at all to the liking of Conservative back benchers. Not a few trade unionists fully realise that there trade interests are not infrequently subordinated to political considerations, and they themselves would welcome such restriction of action as would bring back their organisations to the rôle they were created to perform.

No Tax Remissions.

The taxpayer derives sorry comfort from the Chancellor's observations on national finance. Any hopes entertained of remissions next year are dispelled: in fact, there was more than a broad hint that taxpayers' hands may have to dip even deeper into their pockets—not a pleasant prospect considering that the country is already the heaviest taxed in the world. Mr. Churchill holds the coal strike directly responsible for the expected deficit, and it would be strange if national finances promised otherwise when such a long and costly dispute was superimposed on declining exports and increasing imports.

Civil Servants and Politics.

Alluding to his threat towards the end of the session, Mr. Churchill was more definite on the point that trade unions within the Civil Service cannot be allowed to have political complexions. The ways and means by which the Government will purge the service of sinister influences he did not disclose, but, whatever may be the methods adopted, they will find large measure of support from within the Civil Service itself.

The Reform of the Lords.

A meeting is shortly to be held of the joint Committee of both Houses of Parliament, which is to draw up a scheme for the reform of the House of Lords. The Committee was formed shortly before the rising of Parliament in response to a hint from the Prime Minister that he would welcome any suggestions which had the support of the then Committees of the two Houses which were considering the subject. The newly-formed Committee consists of Viscount FitzAlan, the Earl of Midleton, the Earl of Selborne, Lord Sumner and five members of the House of Commons.

The Trail of the Tripper.

When the King opened Kenwood he made an earnest plea to thoughtless people not to disfigure the beauty of our public places and the countryside with litter. The plea has fallen on deaf ears; for, wherever holiday-makers go, they leave the scenes of their excursions despoiled and an eyesore. No place is sacred to these defilers of the country's beauty spots. Every temporary camping ground they select bears evidence of their presence in accumulations of empty bottles and tins, waste paper, cigarette cartons and other refuse. How best to deal with the nuisance is engaging the attention of the authorities concerned. There has been marked improvement in London parks since the County Council has rigorously enforced its powers and taken offenders into court, where fines have been imposed in every case.

After the Test Match.

Conversation to-day has been largely concerned with the Test match, and eloquent tribute is paid to the excellence of English fielding. In the first Australian innings four were bowled, five caught and one run out, while in the second innings seven were caught and three bowled. These details speak well for the smartness of the Englishmen, but it is the opinion of many who saw the match throughout that they convey an inadequate idea of the keenness of our men in the field. Individual performances were responsible for the fall of the Australian wickets, but it was the degree of combination in the field which kept the scoring low and had a disconcerting effect upon the Australian batsmen.

Cheaper "Listening In."

"Broadcast" listeners are gratified to hear that there is likely to be a drop in the cost of fittings and material generally, and in that of valves in particular. Eleven manufacturing firms have linked up to reduce prices, and thereby should compete effectually with foreign rivals. German, French and Dutch makers of wireless parts have been placing large stocks on the English markets, but of indifferent quality compared with home manufactures. This is particularly the case as regards valves, which do not touch the British article in efficiency.

NEW FASHIONS FOR WOMEN.

SPATTEES FOR RUSSIAN BOOTS

(FROM OUR LONDON CORRESPONDENT.)

Many new fashions for women are threatened in the near future. The smock of the countryside differing from the original only in material, and that it is shorter, is being affected by the up-to-date City girl, who is discarding the jumper in its favour.

The Highland spattee, sponsored by Lady Strathspey, is the latest device for winter footwear, and it may supersede the Russian boot. This invention is a Highlander's stocking, made spat fashion to enable the wearer to slip it easily over the shoe and stocking as a protection against cold or wet weather. It will be on the market soon in all manner of patterns and colours, and the price will range from 7s. 6d. to 10s.

HATS ON THE EYES.

The autumn hat is to come almost right over the eyes. It will be moulded on present shapes, but with a brim of three or four inches and a higher and tapering crown. Some milliners are making it with a sugar-loaf crown. Velours and velvet will be the two chief materials of black, lime green and wine red.

THE KING SHOOTS GROUSE.

The King had a good day's sport with the grouse on the Earl of Sefton's moors yesterday. He made the journey by car and pony to the butts on Littledale Fells. The birds were found to be strong on the wing, but the King's keen shooting accounted for a good proportion of the bag. There were occasional showers in the morning, but the weather cleared after lunch. The party returned to Abbeysteed for dinner.

Civil Servants and Politics.

Alluding to his threat towards the end of the session, Mr. Churchill was more definite on the point that trade unions within the Civil Service cannot be allowed to have political complexions. The ways and means by which the Government will purge the service of sinister influences he did not disclose, but, whatever may be the methods adopted, they will find large measure of support from within the Civil Service itself.

The Reform of the Lords.

A meeting is shortly to be held of the joint Committee of both Houses of Parliament, which is to draw up a scheme for the reform of the House of Lords. The Committee was formed shortly before the rising of Parliament in response to a hint from the Prime Minister that he would welcome any suggestions which had the support of the then Committees of the two Houses which were considering the subject. The newly-formed Committee consists of Viscount FitzAlan, the Earl of Midleton, the Earl of Selborne, Lord Sumner and five members of the House of Commons.

The Trail of the Tripper.

When the King opened Kenwood he made an earnest plea to thoughtless people not to disfigure the beauty of our public places and the countryside with litter. The plea has fallen on deaf ears; for, wherever holiday-makers go, they leave the scenes of their excursions despoiled and an eyesore. No place is sacred to these defilers of the country's beauty spots. Every temporary camping ground they select bears evidence of their presence in accumulations of empty bottles and tins, waste paper, cigarette cartons and other refuse. How best to deal with the nuisance is engaging the attention of the authorities concerned. There has been marked improvement in London parks since the County Council has rigorously enforced its powers and taken offenders into court, where fines have been imposed in every case.

After the Test Match.

Conversation to-day has been largely concerned with the Test match, and eloquent tribute is paid to the excellence of English fielding. In the first Australian innings four were bowled, five caught and one run out, while in the second innings seven were caught and three bowled. These details speak well for the smartness of the Englishmen, but it is the opinion of many who saw the match throughout that they convey an inadequate idea of the keenness of our men in the field. Individual performances were responsible for the fall of the Australian wickets, but it was the degree of combination in the field which kept the scoring low and had a disconcerting effect upon the Australian batsmen.

Cheaper "Listening In."

"Broadcast" listeners are gratified to hear that there is likely to be a drop in the cost of fittings and material generally, and in that of valves in particular. Eleven manufacturing firms have linked up to reduce prices, and thereby should compete effectually with foreign rivals. German, French and Dutch makers of wireless parts have been placing large stocks on the English markets, but of indifferent quality compared with home manufactures. This is particularly the case as regards valves, which do not touch the British article in efficiency.

SPATTEES FOR RUSSIAN BOOTS

(FROM OUR LONDON CORRESPONDENT.)

Many new fashions for women are threatened in the near future. The smock of the countryside differing from the original only in material, and that it is shorter, is being affected by the up-to-date City girl, who is discarding the jumper in its favour.

The Highland spattee, sponsored by Lady Strathspey, is the latest device for winter footwear, and it may supersede the Russian boot. This invention is a Highlander's stocking, made spat fashion to enable the wearer to slip it easily over the shoe and stocking as a protection against cold or wet weather. It will be on the market soon in all manner of patterns and colours, and the price will range from 7s. 6d. to 10s.

HATS ON THE EYES.

The autumn hat is to come almost right over the eyes. It will be moulded on present shapes, but with a brim of three or four inches and a higher and tapering crown. Some milliners are making it with a sugar-loaf crown. Velours and velvet will be the two chief materials of black, lime green and wine red.

THE KING SHOOTS GROUSE.

The King had a good day's sport with the grouse on the Earl of Sefton's moors yesterday. He made the journey by car and pony to the butts on Littledale Fells. The birds were found to be strong on the wing, but the King's keen shooting accounted for a good proportion of the bag. There were occasional showers in the morning, but the weather cleared after lunch. The party returned to Abbeystead for dinner.

NEGOTIATION FAILS.

UNCOMPROMISING ATTITUDE OF MINERS.

IMPORTANT MOVE IN NOTTINGHAM.

MEN ACCEPT OWNERS' TERMS.

THE joint conference of miners and owners, on which some hopes of peace were based, has ended in a deadlock.

Mr. Evan Williams, President of the Owners' Association, asked the miners to indicate the points which they desired to have considered, and Mr. Smith, for the miners, stated that the Federation adhered to its demands for a national agreement; no extension of the working hours; a discussion on wages only after an inquiry into the reorganisation of the mines; and an application to the Government for a subsidy.

Mr. Williams replied that it was economically impracticable to resume work on the basis of the hours and conditions which had obtained before the stoppage. It was also impossible to entertain a national agreement, and the owners now were as much as ever opposed to a subsidy.

The conference thus ended within an hour and a half.

The miners, in their official statement, say that Mr. Evan Williams made it clear that it would be useless to proceed with the conference in face of the great diversity of views. "We have no alternative," adds the miners' report, "but to stiffen our ranks against the owners' terms, which, if accepted, would mean abject poverty. No further negotiations with the owners are possible".

Mr. Baldwin and the members of the Cabinet Coal Committee were informed of the result of Mr. Baldwin, it is announced, will go on his holiday to Aix-les-Bains at the end of this week, and in the meantime Sir A. Steel-Maitland will act for the Government. It is clearly understood, however, that in the absence of a definite request, the Government will not intervene in the dispute.

An important development took place yesterday when the Nottingham owners and miners agreed to have the pits reopened on the owners' terms—a seven and a half hour day and the rate of wages that prevailed before the stoppage.

HOW THE CONFERENCE FAILED.

MINERS' UNCOMPROMISING ATTITUDE.

The joint conference opened at 2.30 o'clock at the offices of the Mining Association, and after sitting for about an hour and a half it came to an end.

Both sides, it is understood, took up their old position, the miners declining to move on the question of wages until they had definite guarantees regarding reorganisation.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

An official statement issued last evening by the Mining Association with reference to the afternoon meeting between the Central Committee of the Association and the Miners' Executive, says that "Mr. Evan Williams, President of the Association, who presided, invited the workmen's side to indicate the points which they desired to put before the owners.

"It appeared from Mr. Smith's reply that the only definite pronouncement which he was in a position to make was that the Miners' Federation adhere to their demand for a national agreement, for no extension of hours of working, for a discussion on wages only after an inquiry into reorganisation, and for an approach to the Government for a subsidy.

"Mr. Williams, in reply, explained why, in the view of the owners, it was economically impracticable to resume work on the hours and conditions in operation before the stoppage, or to make a national agreement. The owners, he added, remained as strongly opposed to the subsidy as they had always been."

MINERS' REPORT.

An official statement issued by the Miners' Executive says that, "after Mr. Herbert Smith had set forth the men's case, Mr. Evan Williams made it perfectly clear that it would be useless to proceed whilst there was such great diversity of views."

"We have no alternative, therefore," the statement adds, "except to urge upon all our members the necessity for stiffening their resistance to the owners' terms, which, if accepted, would mean abject poverty. No further negotiation with the coal-owners is possible. They have refused to negotiate nationally with us."

The result of the meeting was conveyed to the Prime Minister at No. 10 Downing street. Shortly afterwards he had a prolonged conference with Sir Horace Wilson, Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Labour, and Mr. Tom Jones, Assistant Secretary of the Cabinet, who has been closely concerned with the coal situation.

The Press Association understands that it is not the Government's intention to intervene in the dispute unless a definite request is made by the parties that they should do so.

Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, it is gathered, has been delegated to act for the Government in any situation that may arise, and he will be "on duty" throughout the Parliamentary recess. If the situation has not changed by then, there may be developments when the House of Commons re-assembles on August 30 to confirm the Emergency Regulations.

The breakdown of the meeting caused little surprise in political circles, but there was general regret that it had not been found possible to re-open negotiations on a definite peace plan.

THE UNEXPECTED.

NEXT PROBABLE STEP.

The Central News Political Correspondent writes:—There are people in London who think the Miners' Federation is on its last legs as a result of yesterday's conference with the owners. It is quite true that not a great deal was expected from the conference. The unexpected thing, which appears to be an inevitable conclusion from the proceedings, is that the Federation Executive intended it to be abortive. They advanced nothing in the nature of a compromise, and the owners, perceiving this, pronounced unflinchingly for district settlements.

It is felt now that the delegate conference on Monday last was really a mislead rather than a lead to public opinion, as the natural assumption was that the Miners' Executive would sue for peace terms.

What will be their next step? It may be that this morning they will deside to try Mr. Baldwin. They may not be so sure, however, when they read that Mr. Baldwin is going to the Continent for his deferred holiday at the week-end, and that Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, who is also on the Cabinet Coal Committee, has left for Scotland. Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland and Colonel Lane-Fox, it is understood, will remain. The Prime Minister himself will be in Downing street to-day if the miners wish to see him.

The essence of the matter, however, is that the Government have made up their minds that the owners and the miners must settle the dispute themselves.

District agreements are regarded as the most likely solution of the deadlock, but it is

GOLDEN WAY.

"ALCHEMIST" WHO HOAXED GEN. LUDENDORFF.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
MUNICH, Thursday.

General Ludendorff, former Commander of the German Armies, is the newest victim of the traditional honest-looking man of science who sells the secret to make gold, according to Munich's chief newspaper, Az Am Abend.

Herr Tausend is the name of the alchemist who was introduced to General Ludendorff by one of his Fascist followers. In the General's sittingroom Herr Tausend carried out his startling experiments for the benefit of the General. He threw a piece of earth into a glass filled with a mysterious liquid. After the lapse of a minute grains of gold shimmered at the bottom of the glass.

The liquid for the experiments was expensive, but General Ludendorff and his friends generously financed the alchemist. Then one day he disappeared suddenly, after the Munich police authorities had taken an interest in his gold-making process.

General Ludendorff and his trusting friends are now in great distress over the non-appearance of Herr Tausend.

EXPRESS TRAIN DERAILED.

NINETEEN PASSENGERS KILLED.

Nineteen persons were killed early yesterday morning when an express train, running between Berlin and Cologne, left the rails and dashed down an embankment near Lehrte Station. The first two coaches were telescoped.

The accident is stated to be due to the criminal action of persons who loosened some rail joints, with the result that the train, which was running at a speed of eighty kilometres an hour, was derailed at 2 o'clock in the morning.

CRASH IN THE DARK.

REWARD OFFERED BY RAILWAY COMPANY.

BERLIN, Thursday.

The railway authorities have offered a reward of £100 for information leading to the arrest of the criminals responsible for the derailment of the Berlin-Cologne express, which also had sleeping cars for Flushing, and runs in connection with the London boats. This train generally contains many British passengers, but on this occasion fortunately was not so crowded as usual. The accident occurred at 2.15 in the morning when it was pitch dark and most of the passengers were asleep.

Suddenly there was a frightful crash, the passengers were hurled from their berths, and there was a noise of breaking glass and splintering woodwork. The engine and the two following coaches rushed down a steep embankment and two cars were telescoped.

There were heartrending cries from the injured passengers, and all those who were in the carriages which remained on the metals streamed on to the railway line, and did their utmost to help the unfortunate victims. They could, however, do but little owing to the darkness and the lack of proper rescue appliances, such as saws and axes.

It was an hour and a half before a rescue train arrived on the scene, although the town of Lehrte is only three miles away. Most of the injured, including a Londoner, whose name is given as Read, and who is stated to be seriously hurt, were taken to the Brunswick Hospital.

The name of an Englishman who was killed is Mr. David Howard Pirrie, reported to be of Cambridge.

DEATH OF SECOND ENGLISHMAN.

A telegram received from Berlin late last night states:—The Englishman who was so severely injured in the railway accident near Lehrte this morning, and whose name is given as Mr. Woodrik Read, has succumbed to his injuries. Mr. Read is stated to be a Londoner.

The reward offered for the apprehension of the train wreckers has been increased to £1,250.

MRS. HERMAN DAREWSKI AMONG THE INJURED.

Mr. Herman Darewski, the well-known composer and musical director, of The Spa, Bridlington, received a telegram from Berlin last night, stating that his wife was among those injured. She left London for Berlin on Wednesday night. Before her marriage, Mrs. Darewski, as Madge Temple, was a well-known musical comedy "star."

FRANC IMPROVES.

M. POINCARE'S STAND AGAINST CREDITS.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.
PARIS, Thursday.

The marked rise in the franc, which began yesterdaly, was continued again to-day. The rate for sterling started at 169.85.

As there is no other reason apparent for the sudden reaction against the decline of the past fortnight, it is natural to conclude that the rise is artificial, and is due to purchases of francs by the Bank of France. The rise has produced a slight reaction against the current scepticism as to the Government's ability to carry out a successful policy of currency reform without foreign credits. We shall see during the next few weeks how far the resources at the disposal of the Bank of France will suffice for the purpose.

CONVINCING THE EXPERTS.

In view of the opposition in the Cabinet and Parliament to the unconditional ratification of the debt settlements, M. Poincaré evidently intends to make a full trial of the powers of France to keep the franc under control unaided. He has denied, with demonstrative assurance, rumours that he intended to summon Parliament next month to vote the debt settlements, and that he himself would shortly be meeting Mr. Mellon, the United States Secretary of the Treasury. This gives the impression that he is steadfastly turning his face away from foreign credits.

In doing this he is probably wise, for if, as the report of the Committee of Experts predicted, any attempt to stabilise the franc without the help of foreign credits is foredoomed to failure, he will find it easier to convince men like M. Louis Marin of their error if he has first deliberately tried to follow out their counsel.

ANOTHER CABINET MEETING.

The Cabinet held another meeting to-day to consider the suggestions which have been made for lowering the cost of living and making reductions in administrative expenditure. The decisions taken are being kept secret, and will not be announced until they have been definitel adopted by a Council of Ministers, which will be held to-morrow.

BELFAST STOWAWAYS.

LOOKING FOR WORK AT ROTTERDAM.

ROTTERDAM, Thursday.

On the arrival at Rotterdam of the Greek steamer Triton on Wednesday morning there were found on board three British dock workers, who had hidden themselves on the vessel when it was in Belfast dock.

The stowaways declared that they had heard so much about the activity in the port of Rotterdam that they thought they would try to get a job there. The men have been handed over to the Foreigners' Service.—(Reuter.)

THE PILGRIMAGE TO FRANCE.

FAMOUS BATTLEFIELDS TO BE VISITED.

TESTING PLACES OF IRISH TROOPS.

Arrangements are now complete for the unveiling of the War Memorials at Wytschaete and Guillemont in memory of the officers and men of the 16th (Irish) Division who died in the war. The crosses have been erected, and the pilgrimage will leave Kingstown for the battlefields by the mail boat to-night.

It was originally arranged that the King of the Belgians would perform the unveiling ceremony at Wytschaete. His Majesty, however, has expressed his deep regret that he will not be able to attend in person, and has deputed General Borremans, Inspector-General of Belgian Infantry, to act as his representative.

Among those who will be present at the ceremony are Sir George Graham, the British Ambassador in Belgium; Count O'Kelly, Free State representative at Brussels; the Curé of Ypres, the General Officer Commanding the Belgian Army in Flanders, and the Senators and members of Parliament of the neighbourhood. The Comtesse van den Steen de Jehay has kindly undertaken to act as hostess to the guests, who will be served with light refreshments in the Hotel de Ville at Wytschaete after the ceremony.

SITE OF THE CROSS.

WHERE IRISH DIVISIONS ATTACKED.

The cross stands on the northern side of the road leading from Kemmel to Wytschaete, which formed the junction of the line between the 16th (Irish) Division and the 36th (Ulster) Division where the men of the North and the South made their memorable attack on the strongly entrenched German Army on June 7th, 1917. The monument stands on the very ground crossed by the 47th Brigade, whose gallant commander, General George Pereria, a soldier beloved of the men of his Brigade, has since died in China. An indefatigable traveller General Pereria penetrated to many remote corners of the world, and though lame through wounds received in the war, had walked many thousands of miles in China, a country which had for him great fascination.

The 6th Connaught Rangers, one of the battalions of General Pereria's Brigade, with fixed bayonets, and amid a raking fire of shrapnel and high explosive shells, covered the hallowed ground; on their left was the 5th Batallion of the Royal Irish Regiment, in whose ranks served Major William Redmond, M.P., whose remains are interred at Locre. He was struck by a shell two hundred yards from the spot where the memorial cross now stands. Alongside the cross there is now a beautifully-kept British cemetery, in which lie many hundreds of Irish dead, and it is consoling to know that for all time the graves therein will be carefully and reverently attended by the Imperial War Graves Commission. When the unveiling ceremony is over the memorial cross will be blessed by the Rev. Father Maurice O'Connell, D.S.O., Senior Roman Catholic Chaplain to the 16th (Irish) Division, and the Rev. Mr. Bird, D.S.O., Senior Church of Ireland Chaplain to the formation, will recite the prayers. The wreaths will then be laid on the monument, while the pipers' band of the Irish Guard will play an Irish lament.

THE CROSS AT GUILLEMONT.

The pilgrimage will then set out for Amiens en route for Guillemont, where the second cross will be unveiled by General Joffre. At Loos a halt will be made for lunch, after which Major-General Sir W. B. Hickie, who commanded the 16th (Irish) Division, will give a short lecture on the Battle of Loos. He will make special explanatory reference to the crater attack of the Royal Munster Fusiliers, in which over sixty brave soldiers were killed by the explosion of a single German mine; the gas attacks by the Germans which took place on the 27th and 29th of April, 1916, and in which not a single German succeeded in getting into the Irish trenches, except those brought in as prisoners.

During those two terrible days the Division's losses amounted to 1,500 officers and men. General Hickie will also describe the daring raid made by the Leinster Regiment between Hart's and Harrison's craters, near the village of Loos. Close to Arras members of the pilgrimage will pass a huge cemetery in which are interred more than 52,000 German officers and men. Hitherto the bodies have been buried in a large number of smaller cemeteries, but the French Government have now concentrated all the bodies into one cemetery.

After the unveiling ceremony at Guillemont on Monday forenoon lunch will be served to some thirty-five French notabilities, including Marshal Joffre, the Baroness de la Grange (known throughout France as the mother of the British Army), the Bishop of Amiens, the Senators and Deputies of the district, and the General Officers Commanding the French Army in the district.

THE LAYING OF WREATHS.

As has already been announced, wreaths are to be laid at the tombs of the Unknown Warriors in London, Washington, Paris, Rome and Brussels on Tuesday next. At Washington the wreath will be placed by Brigadier-General Claude Graham Charlton, British Military Attaché at Washington, who commanded the 16th (Irish) Divisional Artillery in all its big battles on the Western front.

At Brussels on the same day Dr. James Ashe, Honorary President of the British Legion, Dublin, will lay a wreath on the grave of the Unknown Warrior, and Sir Robert Tate, K.B.E., F.T.C.D., will deliver an oration in French. Among other representative Irish citizens who will be present are Sir William Taylor, K.B.E., C.B.; Mr. Alfred Byrne, T.D.; Mr. J. J. Cole, T.D.; Alderman Hubbard Clark, Mr. William Ireland and Mr. J. Robertson Coade (Dublin Rotary Club).

NORTHERN PREMIER INDISPOSED.

PRIVATE VISIT TO CANADA.

MONTREAL, Thursday.

Sir James Craig, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, who, with his family, arrived here on board the steamship Doric, is confined to his room in his hotel with an attack of influenza contracted abroad. He is convalescing, and expects to leave Montreal for Ottawa, and to go thence to Western Canada at the end of the week. His visit to the Dominion, he says, is purely in the nature of a holiday trip.—(Reuter.)

ITALIAN PRINCE KILLED.

SHOT DEAD BY A THIEF.

ROME, Thursday.

Prince Umberto Ruspoli was murdered yesterday evening. The Prince, who was a popular figure both in Rome and in the Roman Campagna, where he held large estates, while walking about in his own fields near Genzano, caught red-handed two men who were stealing hay.

It is not known exactly what happened after, but one of the two men drew a revolver and fired at the Prince, killing him instantly.

The assassin was arrested a few hours later, but the other man involved is still at large.

Prince Ruspoli was for some time Italian Military Attaché in Paris.—The Times Correspondent.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

ROME, Thursday.

Prince Umberto Ruspoli, a scion of one of the oldest Roman families, was shot dead last night by a thief, who was caught robbing the Prince's cottage near Genzano. The thief was wounded by the Prince's head hunter and arrested.—(Exchange.)

PILOT OF AIR MAIL DEAD.

CONDITION OF THE INJURED.

A WEST-END CLUB MANAGER A VICTIM.

INQUEST TO-DAY.

M. DE LISLE, the pilot of the French air mail which crashed in Kent on Wednesday, died yesterday afternoon in the Victoria Hospital at Folkestone, thus bringing the total deaths to three. The other two who lost their lives were:—

Signor Hugo Rizzi Gino, and

who were passengers on the machine, which was bound from Paris to London.

The inquest on the passengers will be held this afternoon at the farm where the crash occurred. The Coroner's inquiry in the case of De Lisle, the pilot, has not yet been fixed.

On inquiry at the Victoria Hospital, Folkestone, last night it was learned that there was no change in the condition of the injured under treatment there.

Mr. Robert Blaney was the son of Mr. D. Wight Blaney, a well-known American water-colour artist. He graduated at Harvard University this year, and since taking his degrees had been travelling in Europe.

The other passenger who was killed was Hugo Rizzi Gino, known to members of Ciro's and the Ambassador Clubs, in the West End of London, as Signor Rizzi.

He was an inveterate air traveller. Asked last week if he did not fear a serious mishap, he lightly remarked: "I have a presentiment that I shall never die in my bed, and when I have to die, I should prefer to die that way. Then all London would be talking about 'poor old Rizzi.'"

Among the injured was Miss Edna Bennett, until two months ago a member of the "Mercenary Mary" Company at the London Hippodrome. She was returning to take up her part after a trip to Canada.

Reports that a British peer was a passenger are not confirmed.

THE INJURED.

SEVERAL IN A SERIOUS CONDITION.

Mr. Robert McAdam, Glasgow (broken arm and dislocated hip).
M. Gavin Ducos, Paris, mechanic.
Edna Bennett, Gower street, London.
Edna Fearn, Carlton terrace, New Rochelle, New York (injury to the hip, severe cut, face bruised).
Marguerite Hazzard, of West 116th street, New York City (both thighs fractured, in a serious condition).
Stanley Hazzard, of the same address (both arms and one leg fractured).
Harriet Ames, of West Kingsbridge, New York City (both arms fractured).
Lawrence Stroh, of East 176th street, Bronx (slightly cut).
Victoria Vaiden, of Baltimore (slightly injured and suffering from cuts).
Mildred Vaiden, of Baltimore (both arms fractured and skull wounded; her condition is very serious).
Mr. and Mrs. Clark, British (suffering from severe shock).

Miss Victoria Vaiden and Miss Bennett are in the Bevan Nursing Home at Sandgate; the others are in the Folkestone Hospital.

The machine involved in the crash was one of the latest of the French Air Union fleet of air liners.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

An official statement issued by the Air Union yesterday states that the French commercial aircraft engaged in the regular passenger service between Le Bourget and Croydon, after having left Le Bourget at 12.30 p.m. crashed at Aldington, Kent, at 2.30 yesterday afternoon, when making a forced landing in very adverse weather.

"Immediate help was given by the staff of the Lympne Aerodrome and the officers of the Auxiliary Air Force stationed at Lympne."

ANOTHER AEROPLANE ACCIDENT.

TENTH DEATH THIS MONTH.

Another fatal accident in the Royal Air Force occurred yesterday, making the fourth this week, and the tenth death since August 3rd.

Flight Lieutenant Hugh Robert Junor, Royal Air Force, of Ashvale, Hampshire, was killed in an aeroplane crash at Hucclecote, near Gloucester, yesterday afternoon. He was testing a machine before taking it back to Farnborough. The aeroplane went into a nose dive and crashed into a garden.

The pilot attempted to leave the machine in a parachute, but was too late, and was killed. The machine struck the earth near an outhouse, and burst into flames and set the shed on fire.

Two men who were having dinner in the shed were burned on the face and hands, and suffered from shock. Both were taken to the Royal Infirmary and detained. The body of the deceased officer was removed to Gloucester mortuary to await the inquest.

SERGEANT INJURED NEAR READING.

A Royal Air Force aeroplane, piloted by Flight Sergeant Bramwell, who was accompanied by Sergeant Kerlew, crashed on the estate of Sir William B. Mount, Bart., at Wasing place, near Aldermaston, Berkshire, yesterday afternoon.

The machine, while flying at a height of 200 feet, appeared to be misfiring badly, and turning to effect a landing in a field, crashed into a hedge and turned over.

Both men were thrown clear, and Kerlew, who was suffering from severe concussion and bruises, was taken to the British Red Cross tent at Aldermaston Flower Show, which was being held close by. Bramwell escaped with a few scratches.

THE "KITCHENER" COFFIN.

SHIPPED FROM ORKNEYS AND RAILED AS EMPTY.

Newcastle railway officials state that they consigned a case containing a coffin to Mr. Frank Power, Sinclair Mansions, London, on the 7th inst., but not a body. The official entry is "case, containing a coffin," and it was sent at parcels rate. Had there been a body it would have gone in a special compartment at special rates. The case came from the Orkneys by boat.

An official of the North of Scotland, Orkney and Shetland Steam Navigation Company states that a package, described as "one coffin, in case," and addressed to Frank Power, Newcastle-on-Tyne, was put on board the ss. St. Magnus at Kirkwall before the vessel left that port on the morning of July 27. On the following morning the steamer arrived at Leith, and the case with the coffin was at once sent on by rail to Newcastle.

TANGIER CRISIS AVOIDED.

SHOPS OPEN AGAIN.

SPANISH CLAIM MAY BE DISCUSSED.

THERE is no disposition in authoritative quarters in London to regard with undue concern the unrest which has recently manifested itself in Tangier. It is realised that there is a subversive element there, which is anxious to prevent the successful working of the international régime, and which seizes upon every opportunity for exaggerating and fomenting disturbances.

Advices from Tangier show that much criticism has been aroused there by the new Press law which it was proposed to introduce. As a result, a body known as the Workers' Union called a general strike, and forced all the shops to close. When the Assembly agreed to postpone the discussion of the Press law until October, the Workers' Union thought that they had won a victory, and immediately made other demands, such as an eight-hour day, and the adoption of a protectionist law to prevent the import from abroad of all goods which can be manufactured at Tangier.

With regard to the Spanish proposal, made by the Marquis de Estella, for embodying the Tangier zone in the adjoining zone of Morocco, the British view is that naturally so important and far-reaching a proposal would have to form the subject of international discussions.

ALL QUIET.

SITUATION CAUSES NO ALARM.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.
TANGIER, Thursday.

Thanks to the tactful and conciliatory attitude adopted towards the Moslem population by the Mendub, and by M. Caillat, the director of Shereefian affairs in Tangier, calm has been restored.

The Consuls-General have aided this satisfactory result, using their influence over the subjects and protected subjects of their respective countries in the interests of law and order.

The attitude of the Workers' Syndicate is still doubtful, but a crisis has been avoided.

Public criers paraded the streets last night inviting the Moorish population to avoid all indiscreet gatherings, and to bring their complaints direct to the Mendub.

Tangier to-day resumed its ordinary existence.

DIAMOND TOWN.

50,000 CAMP ON NEW DIGGINGS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
JOHANNESBURG, Thursday.

The record rush to peg diamond claims at Elandsputte, near Lichtenberg, in June last was eclipsed to-day, when 15,000 participated in the proclamation of treasure trove at a farm adjoining Elandsputte.

The runners, including 120 women, were clad in light running kit, and covered one and three-quarters of a mile of ground in the unusual form of a semi-circle.

The population in the new "diggings," including natives, is estimated to be in the neighbourhood of 50,000.

THE PHILIPPINES.

NO NEW STATEMENT BY U.S. PRESIDENT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
PAUL SMITHS (U.S.A.), Thursday.

At the President's summer residence today no comment was forthcoming with reference to the statement that the United States would withdraw from the Philippine Islands as soon as the natural resources of the islands had been developed.

The remark was attributed to President Coolidge by Senator Osmena, a Philippine leader. Inquirers, however, were referred to the letter which the President wrote a year ago to Senor Roxas, Chairman of the Philippine Independence Commission, maintaining that the Philippines were not yet ready for independence.

ANOTHER REVOLT.

AN OUTBREAK IN NICARAGUA.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
WASHINGTON, Thursday.

The American Chargé d'Affaires at Managua reports that the Nicaragua Government is despatching troops in various directions to suppress revolutionary outbreaks, notably at Leon, Chinadega, and Corinto.

The telegraph wires have been cut and all communication interrupted.

A message from Managua says that the Government forces have recaptured Quezalgaque, and are besieging two other towns, which are still in the hands of the rebels.

[Nicaragua has an area of about 51,660 square miles, with a coast line of 300 miles on the Atlantic and 200 on the Pacific. It has a population of 600,000, mostly of mixed Spanish and Indian extraction.]

NORWEGIAN LABOUR QUARRELS.

NEW UNION TO BE FORMED.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
OSLO, Thursday.

Important developments in Norwegian Labour circles are pending.

Since 1923 the Norwegian Labour Party has been divided into three camps, following quarrels concerning the question of international co-operation. Ever since the Social Democrats, the Moscow Communists and the local Communists have been exceedingly hostile to each other, showing no unity and co-operation at the elections, with resultant weak representation in Parliament and on local governing bodies. All attempts at unity have failed.

At the last Parliamentary election the Moscow Communists were badly beaten, losing many members, while the other two parties gained adherents.

The Norwegian Labour Party has now invited the Social Democratic Party to meet in conference to consider the formation of a new Labour Union. The Social Democrats have agreed, and if the new union results it is understood that it will be outside both the Amsterdam International and the Third International.

LATE NEWS

THE COAL-MINING NEGOTIATIONS.

ANOTHER CHECK.

The Times remarks in an editorial article:—The approach made by the Executive Committee of the Miners' Federation to the colliery owners yesterday did not open the way to negotiations. A basis of negotiations was not found. There is, indeed, no definitely common ground to be discovered in the statements issued last night by the two parties. A comparison of the two statements, which were made independently the one of the other, reveals a hiatus. The miners do not so much as hint that they stipulated for a return to work on the conditions as to hours of work and rates of pay that were in force during the subsidy period and before. The owners' reply suggests that they did. In most areas—but Northumberland and Durham are important exceptions to the rule—the owners did offer last month to continue the old rates of wages until the end of September, and for still longer in two or three of the smaller districts, on condition that the working day was extended to eight hours. So far as is known, those offers, as district offers, are still open to acceptance. If the miners required that a national agreement should make a similar concession in respect of all areas, the fact should have been disclosed.

On the other hand, the owners have put an obstacle in the way of a settlement which was thought to have been removed in the course of the Prime Minister's protracted mediation at the end of April. The owners were then insisting on what would virtually have been district agreements. The Prime Minister prevailed upon them to accept the opinion of the Royal Commission in favour of a national agreement, and to offer a uniform national minimum percentage addition to basic rates. The addition proposed was 20 per cent. North Wales was the only district which took exception to the proposal, and its ground of objection was not one of principle, but the practical one of inability to continue working on that minimum. The owners now revert to their former objection to a national agreement.

DAMAGE TO ROADS.

BRITISH MINISTER'S ADVICE TO COUNCILS.

The damage to roads caused by heavy steel-tyred vehicles is the subject of a circular issued in London yesterday by the Minister of Transport to all highway authorities in Great Britain.

The Minister of Transport states that complaints are frequently made to him by highway authorities and road users regarding the damage caused to road surfaces by the passage of steel-tyred traction engines, especially those the wheels of which are fitted with strakes. These complaints come from all parts of the country, and are most common during the early summer months, when carriage-ways have recently been treated with tar or bituminous dressings.

During the past month alone instances have been reported to the Minister of many miles of road which have been gravely damaged by the journeys of these steel-tyred engines, the cost of making good the damage amounting collectively to many thousands of pounds.

Although highway authorities generally are subjected to so much annoyance and expense from this cause, the circular states that there are still a few cases where highway authorities themselves own steel-tyred tractors, traction engines and wagons. At least one important County Council, however, has recently decided, in view of the damage which they cause, to discard the whole of their fleet of this type of vehicle.

Colonel Ashley has been in communication with the Showmens' Guild and the Traction Owners' Association, both of which organisations have agreed to urge the adoption of rubber tyres or pads on all types of vehicles referred to other than those used for purely agricultural purposes on the land.

This alteration has already been made on a considerable number of engines and trailers. The results have proved satisfactory to the owners, who have recouped the cost in greater ease in running, and reduced the cost of maintenance of plant, while the damage to road surfaces is very materially reduced.

The Minister suggests that local authorities, in the interest of the highways which they maintain, should do their utmost to discourage the use of heavy steel-tyred vehicles, and should consider the advisability of (1) superseding or fitting with rubber tyres all such vehicles as they themselves own; and (2) specifying that all engines and vehicles used under haulage contracts shall be equipped with rubber tyres or pads, in order that damage to the highways over which these machines travel may be reduced to a minimum.

DEAD ACTRESS'S FORTUNE.

MLLE. FLORY'S JEWELS.

When a safe which belonged to Mlle. Regine Flory, the French actress, who shot herself in London two months ago, was opened in Paris on Wednesday, in the presence of her mother, it was found to contain only a gold purse and three nickel sous.

A Paris lawyer has possession of two wills drawn up by Mlle. Flory. In the first, which was made in 1919, she left all her property to a female friend, but the second, which was made in 1924, and annuls the first, gives all that she possessed to her mother. Her jewels, which are valued at between £30,000 and £40,000, are at present under lock and key in London and Paris.

Mlle. Flory directed that her mother should give presents to three women friends—a diamond bracelet to one, a pair of earrings to another, and 5,000 francs to the third. The woman to whom the money was left died before Mlle. Flory committed suicide.

THE RED CAR MYSTERY.

FRENCH FINANCIER ARRESTED.

PARIS, Thursday.

The financier, Guyot, for whom the police have been searching in connection with the murder of Mlle. Beulaguet, whose body was discovered on a burning hayrick near Claye-Suoilly, was arrested by the police to-night.

Guyot was arrested at a hotel in the Montparnasse district. He will be removed to-morrow to Meaux.—(Reuter.)

MR. KELLOGG'S SPEECH ON GENEVA.

EUROPEAN OPINION AWAITED IN AMERICA.

WASHINGTON, Thursday.

The reaction in Europe to the speech of Mr. Kellogg, the Secretary of State, at Plattsburgh, dealing with the preliminary Arms Conference at Geneva, will be watched with considerable interest here. The speech was prepared after consultation with members of the American delegation who have returned from Geneva, and in its final form presumably bore the approval of President Coolidge, whom Mr. Kellogg visited before speaking.

Its significance is indicated further by the fact that it was cabled in full to the American diplomatic missions in all the major capitals.—(Reuter.)

SHIPS LOST LAST YEAR.

Lloyd's Register of Shipping last night issued a statistical summary of ships of 100 tons and upwards totally lost, condemned, etc., during 1925. For the whole year, 1925, the gross reduction in the mercantile marine of the world amounted to 739 ships of 1,142,035 tons. Of this total 553 ships of 980,794 tons were steamers and motor ships, and 186 of 161,241 tons, were sailing ships.

Strandings and kindred casualties, which are comprised under the term "wrecked," are the most prolific cause of disaster. To such casualties are attributable 50.7 per cent. of the losses of steamers and motor ships, and 46 per cent. of sailing ships.

MEXICAN CRISIS.

BISHOPS' NOTE TO THE PRESIDENT.

REVISION OF RELIGIOUS LAWS REQUESTED.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.
NEW YORK, Thursday.

After deliberations, which continued for a week, 37 Mexican archbishops and bishops yesterday sent a petition to President Calles, signed by Monsignor Moray del Rio, Archbishop of Mexico, and Monsignor Pascual Diaz, Bishop of Tabasco, pleading for an adjustment of the conflict between Church and State.

NOT A REBELLION.

The Episcopate repudiates President Calles' charges that the suspension of religious service was a rebellion, as citizens have the right "to suspend the exercise of their profession when they conscientiously believe that legal requirements are contrary to their beliefs."

The Episcopate points out that the constituent religious provisions have hitherto been in abeyance, and cite the late President Carranza as being personally convinced that "these articles violated the liberties to which Mexican Catholics are entitled as citizens."

REFORMS REQUESTED.

The Hierarchy then ask President Calles effectively to reform these Articles, as well as the penal regulations basing the reform on the principle of a sincere separation of Church and State, under which "the State will not dictate laws proscribing any religion or legislate in regard to religious affairs, such as the number of Ministers, or conditions as to the exercise of the Ministry."

They add—"We request that we, as Christians and citizens of a civilised nation and as men, have the right of liberty of conscience, thought, creed, education, teaching, association and Press."

THE BOYCOTT.

The petition, which does not indicate any change in the Hierarchy's attitude, is reinforced by an open letter from the Chambers of Commerce Federation, which urges President Calles to revise the religious laws, asserting that the present boycott is affecting business in all parts of the republic, and suggesting that the laws should be suspended pending a study of the whole situation by Congress. Thus far the Government has not indicated any intention to change its attitude.

PRIESTS REPORTED KILLED.

Reports are current that two priests have been killed at Tepalcingo, in the State of Guerrera.

More than 3,000 claims from United States citizens for damages sustained during the revolutionary movements preceding the Calles régime, have been filed with the Claims Commission. The total is unofficially stated to amount to about $300,000,000 (£60,000,000).

The United States Secretary of State to-day denied the rumours that Mr. Sheffield, the Ambassador, intended to resign, and deplored the embarrassment caused to the foreign relations of the country through speculations in regard to official relations with the State Department.

RUSSIA'S DEBTS.

NEW OFFER TO BE MADE TO FRANCE.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.
PARIS, Thursday.

There is good authority for stating that M. Tchitcherin will come to Paris towards the end of September, after he has finished his cure at Wiesbaden, in order to see M. Briand. His reason, no doubt, is to open up afresh the question of an agreement between France and Soviet Russia.

The negotiations for a settlement of the Russian pre-war debts are due to begin again in October, and it is understood that M. Rakowsky will then make a fresh offer of 65,000,000 gold francs, as the annuity to be paid in settlement of the debt.

So far the Soviet Government has not gone beyond 40,000,000 gold francs, whereas the French claim 125,000,000.

BREEDING AND DISEASE OF POTATOES.

TRIALS AT ORMSKIRK.

A meeting of Fellows of the National Institute of Agricultural Botany was held at the potato testing station, Ormskirk, yesterday, to inspect this season's potato trials. These consist of trials of new varieties of potatoes for immunity from wart disease, an investigation into the methods of transmission of virus disease, trials of the leading maincrop potatoes to determine their yielding capacity and time taken to mature, and the competition between new immune varieties for the gold medal offered annually by the Earl of Derby.

During the morning the Chairman of the Institute's Council, Mr. W. Hasler, presented to Dr. Redcliffe N. Salaman, the John Snell Memorial Medal, which, for the year 1925, has been awarded to him in recognition of his services in the study of problems connected with the breeding and the disease of potatoes.

THE MURDER OF A RECTOR.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD AMERICAN CASE RE-OPENED.

SOMERVILLE, Thursday.

The sensation which has been caused in American society circles by the re-opening of the four-year-old murder case in connection with the finding of the bodies of Mr. Hall, who was rector of the fashionable Church of St. John, New Brunswick, and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, a beautiful choir singer, was heightened to-day when it became known that Mr. Willie Stevens, the brother of Mrs. Hall, the widow of the rector, and her brother-in-law, Mr. Henry Carpenter, had been held for trial by a grand jury on a charge of murder.

Mrs. Hall was herself arrested on July 29th, charged once again with the murder of her husband, but was later released on bail. The ground on which the bail was applied for was that there was no great presumption of guilt.—(Reuter.)

QUEEN WILHELMINA.

THE HAGUE, Thursday.

Queen Wilhelmina, who has recently been confined to her residence owing to the state of her health, has now been able to take several drives along the seashore. She will not, however, be able to receive any visitors on her birthday on August 31.—(Reuter.)

THE TEST MATCH WICKET.

AUSTRALIANS TAKING TURF HOME.

The much-discussed wicket at the Oval yesterday looked hard and playable, but there was a deep hole about six inches square cut in the turf just outside one of the creases.

Martin, the head groundsman, volunteered the explanation. The Australians wished to take a bit of the famous wicket home with them, and the Oval authorities gladly obliged.

AUSTRALIAN COMMENTS.

Australians are loud in their praise of the fine victory of the English eleven in the final Test match. The general opinion, however, is that it would have been more satisfactory to both sides if the first four matches had also been played to a finish.

The newspapers warmly congratulate the English players in general, as well as individually. Mr. Chapman is lauded on his personal success in leading the team to victory, and Hobbs, Sutcliffe, and Rhodes come in for special praise for their remarkable performances.

The Herald remarks:—The Australians would be lacking in grace if they did not accept the result in anything but a sporting spirit. We have been beaten. The better team has won, and our only regret is that the "Ashes" depended on the final match. While we do not claim that the result would have been altered if the five matches had been played out, it would have been more satisfactory to both sides if all had been played out. England's undoubtedly fine cricket recovery since the war is in step with her other magnificent effort, which has enabled her to raise her head above a mountain of debt and disaster, and to meet her obligations to the world. Australians will be the first to congratulate the young English captain.—(Reuter.)

The Age:—"Whole-hearted congratulations to the Englishmen on their recovery of the 'Ashes.' They thoroughly deserved their victory, in which the determining factors were the collapse of Australia's leading batsmen in the first innings, the great triumph of Hobbs and Sutcliffe in England's second innings, and the bowling of the veteran, Rhodes. It is unfortunate that only one Test was played out, but in future tours a longer period is likely to be devoted to these matches. Now that the struggle is over, both winners and losers and the peoples they represent are, as a result, more closely knit together."

The Argus:—On the whole, the English performances were better than ours, and nobody begrudges Mr. Chapman his great victory and personal success. Though the Australians put up a rare fight in the first innings, their inability to dig out Hobbs and Sutcliffe when they had dug themselves in caused us to lose our grip. No matter how keen the disappointment, no Australian sportsman worthy of the name would begrudge the Englishmen their victory or withhold his warmest congratulations.

BURGLARS TRAPPED IN NEWRY MANSE.

RAIDER JUMPS THROUGH WINDOW.

As the result of a telephone message received at Canal street Barracks, Newry, last Wednesday, that suspicious characters were loitering about Sandys street Presbyterian Church Manse, on the Downshire road, the occupants of which, the Rev. Dr. W. G. Strahan, Mrs. Strahan and family, were on holidays, Sergeant Oliver and Constable Faulkner proceeded to Downshire road, entered the manse through the window, and searched the ground floor with negative result. On reaching the pantry on the first floor they came face to face with a young man, Daniel McMahon, 6 Castle street, Newry, who was no less surprised than the police.

Asked if there was anyone else on the premises, the man replied that there was, and Constable Faulkner, on going upstairs, discovered Francis O'Rourke, of 71 High street, who jumped thirty feet on to the lawn and got safely away for the time being.

He was later arrested, and also Bernard Donaghy, of 6 Stream street, Newry.

TURNED OUT PATIENT.

STORY CORK INQUEST DISCLOSED.

At an inquest in Cork yesterday into the circumstances of the death of Denis O'Riordan, Friar's Walk, Cork, who was found unconscious in the street, bruised all over, it was stated that when taken to hospital by Civic Guards he recovered consciousness and became so noisy that he had to be restrained by medical students and ultimately handed back to the Guards. Next day he was removed to the District Hospital, where he died, and a post-mortem examination revealed laceration and compression of the brain.

Dr. Donovan, who gave evidence of the post-mortem examination, was asked by the Coroner whether he thought that the action in putting the deceased man out of the South Infirmary was justified.

He replied that the query raised the question of differentiation between intoxication and injury of the brain, a point which often led the best into a mistake. A house surgeon, he thought, had to use his own judgment in the interests of the hospital, and it happened in more places than Cork that a man's judgment might be wrong.

Dr. O'Callaghan, house surgeon, South Infirmary, said that on the deceased man's admission he made an examination in the presence of three medical students. The man appeared to be deeply intoxicated and smelt strongly of alcohol. On looking at his face he saw a slight bruise at the angle of his left jaw. He closed both eyes to do the test for drunkenness, and could see no mark on his eyelid. His eyes reacted normally to the test. He showed no sign of any head injury. Notwithstanding that, the witness ran his fingers over the base of the skull on the outside and on the forehead, and found no external fracture.

About twenty minutes after being put to bed O'Riordan began to sing, and later became violent. There were a number of bad cases in the ward, and two collapsed. After several complaints the witness got the Guards to remove the deceased man.

Further evidence was given that when the deceased man was admitted to the District Hospital he was unconscious.

The jury returned a verdict of "death from laceration and compression of the brain due to hemorrhage caused by being knocked down by an unknown man," and added a rider that better provision should be made, both by the Civic Guards and the South Infirmary, for dealing with such cases.

At a Special Court later, Stephen Sullivan and Walter Aylward were charged with the killing of Denis O'Riordan, an alternative charge against Aylward being that of aiding and abetting the killing of O'Riordan. Both men were remanded in custody.

MORE MOTORS IN TIPPERARY.

Motor cars registered in South Tipperary have increased from 799 last year to 903 this year, and the tax paid to the County Council has risen from £10,484 to £12,184. Private cars paid £6,794 in taxes, commercial cars £1,780, and hackneys £2,973. Ford cars head the list of cars registered with 384, and Morris Cowley cars come next with 60.

COAL CRISIS.

probable that before that stage is reached the Miners' Federation will make a desperate effort to intensify the struggle.

MR. BALDWIN'S HOLIDAY.

It is learned that the Prime Minister (Mr. Baldwin) had decided to take the holiday at Aix-les-Bains, which he postponed shortly before Parliament adjourned. He will leave London this week, and according to present plans will be on the Continent for three weeks. Mr. Baldwin's decision is believed to be the result of representations made to him by Ministerial colleagues, who are anxious for his health.

NOTTINGHAM'S LEAD.

MEN ACCEPT OWNERS' TERMS.

An important move was made in the Nottingham coalfield last night, when the Bolsover Colliery Company discussed with the workmen's delegates terms upon which they were prepared to re-open their pits at Mansfield, Bolsover, Rufford, Clipstone and Creswell. They offered a seven and a half hour day, with wages as before the dispute, and the meeting accepted the proposal. Arrangements for signing on will begin at once, and it is thought that an early start will be made. There are normally employed at these five pits twelve thousand to fourteen thousand men and boys. Other owners, it is anticipated, will follow this lead.

At Warsop main pit men are signing on at the rate of forty per day, and six hundred are at work at the Blidworth and Ollerton pits.

The Nottingham and Derbyshire coalowners resolved yesterday to open pits in the two counties on the same terms as at Bolsover.

MR. COOK AND THE OWNERS.

A SWEEPING PROGRAMME.

Writing on the subject, "Is Peace Possible?" in The Miner, the organ of the Miners' Federation, Mr. A. J. Cook states that everybody in the country must realise now that one million families would not fight for sixteen weeks for nothing. They had been told again and again by the Government, by representatives of public bodies, and by public men of all political opinions and religious denominations that the public "will see that the miners get a fair deal."

"We are going to put those declarations to the test," adds Mr. Cook. "This is why we are giving the owners another opportunity to meet us nationally and consider the whole situation, with a view to negotiating for a settlement. The public will now be able to judge whether the owners will rise to the occasion. Will the owners recognise that they have a responsibility, not only to those who have invested their money in the industry, but to those who have invested their lives in it?

"The men may rely on this—the negotiations will be national. No districts will meet the owners individually. All are standing true to the Federation."

Mr. Cook adds:—"Let the miners rest assured that there will be no weakness on the question of hours, or on a national agreement. You can well leave to us the task of negotiating, knowing that you will be consulted before you are committed to anything. Once again, there will be no terms without your endorsement. But negotiations will not be the only task which your leaders will immediately take in hand.

"Now that we have proved to the public the reasonableness of the miners' position, we propose to launch a national campaign to force the Government to carry out the reorganisation of the industry, to remove the Eight Hours Bill from the statute book, and get a seven hours bill, bank-to-bank, put there in its stead. If the Government does not carry out every one of the Commission's recommendations, we will rouse the country against it."

APPEAL FOR MINERS' FUND.

Representatives of the Trades Union General Council and the Miners' Executive, at a meeting in London yesterday, decided to issue an appeal to the organised workers in all trades to give greater financial help to the miners. An appeal is to be addressed also to the general public and to Continental trade unionists.

INDIAN FEDERAL FINANCE.

SIR BASIL BLACKETT'S STATEMENT.

SIMLA, August 19.

In the Legislative Assembly to-day, Sir Basil Blackett, Finance Member, spoke on the resolution for the discussion of the Taxation Enquiry Committee's report, and outlined the scheme of federal finance. Sir Basil said that the reforms had revolutionised the financial relations between the Central and Provincial Governments. There was supreme need of such a system of federal finance as would ensure to the central and provincial and local authorities clearly defined fields for taxation, thus eliminating chances of friction through overlapping. The Meston settlement would give them a starting point.

The Central Government must keep for itself the proceeds from the Customs, income and salt taxes. The provinces, however, ought to share in the proceeds of the income tax on a definite basis. The local Gvernments had been addressed on the subject, and an agreement regarding a new financial arrangement could be reached. The Meston settlement would not, however, end until the provincial contributions were entirely extinguished.

The policy of the Government, therefore, was first to extinguish those contributions, and then to undertake some reduction which would bring down the proportion of indirect central taxation to the whole taxation, keeping a margin for emergencies, on the one hand, and, on the other, relieving the central taxpayer, so that, in his capacity of provincial taxpayer, he might be able to bear any burden which the provinces, in pursuit of the policy of development, might impose on him. The provinces would thus be left with a clearly defined field in which to develop.

The Diwan Rangachariar then moved the adjournment of the debate sine die.

Mr. K. C. Roy said that in his view Sir Basil Blackett had made a notable pronouncement in outlining his scheme of federal finance, but the House should have time before giving its verdict on the scheme.

Sir Walter Wilson opposed the adjournment, as he wished to criticise some of the recommendations of the Committee.

The adjournment of the debate was carried. to steal.

HOW COMMUNISM WORKS.

WORKERS EXPLOITED.

THE SOVIET'S REPLY TO CRITICISMS.

RIGA, Thursday.

The Soviet Government is perturbed by the increasing dissatisfaction of the Russian workers at the low wages and methods employed by the trusts, arising from the new economy orders.

Moreover, the Opposition have played their trump card by warmly espousing the workers' cause, and roundly condemning a régime in which trusts and Red directors outrival capitalists in squeezing the workers.

To disarm the Opposition of this powerful weapon, the Soviet Government and the Communist Party have jointly issued a long order addressed to all party and Soviet institutions, signed by Rykoff, Stalin, and Kuibyshev. This order demands the complete termination, now and for ever, of all practices likely to worsen the workers' position, as, for instance, the ruthless dismissal of workers and their substitution by cheaper juvenile labour, the illegal cutting of wages, and the closing of workers' schools.

The whole tone of this order, threatening offenders with severe punishment, reflects the Kremlin's fears of the Opposition bloc, and of the acute dissatisfaction among workers.—(Reuter.)

HIGHWAY ROBBERY IN QUEEN'S COUNTY.

VICTIM BOUND AND GAGGED.

Armed bandits "held up" and robbed Charles Ward, Portarlington, at Bracknagh on last Tuesday. Mr. Ward was returning to Portarlington at the time with his horse and cart, when four men jumped out on the road, and one of them, who was armed, shouted: "Hands up." Having first kicked and ill-treated Ward, the highwaymen gagged him with a handkerchief, tied his hands and feet, robbed him of £2, two packets of cigarettes, and a box of matches, and flung him, in his helpless condition, into the cart.

The victim of the robbery was released by a man named Ward, after the horse had proceeded for a mile along the road.

The outrage was reported to the Civic Guards, who arrested a man named James Ryan, who was brought before Acting District Justice Conroy on last Wednesday, and allowed out on bail till the next Tullamore Circuit Court.

A CLEVER CAPTURE.

At yesterday's court in Portarlington a young man, who gave his name as "James O'Brien (21), of Kilkee," was charged with the robbery of 19s. 6d. from a woman named Weir at Ballybrittas, and was returned for trial in custody to the Queen's County Circuit Court.

Superintendent Quinlan said that on inquiring of the Guards at Kilkee he was informed that no such man lived there. The prisoner, the Superintendent stated, entered Mrs. Weir's house on July 30th last and searched it. When the woman came on the scene and remonstrated with him he assaulted her and knocked her to the ground. He then took the money from the mantelpiece and made off. A neighbour, hearing Mrs. Weir's cries, rushed to the house, and on learning what had happened he reported the matter to the Civic Guards.

The Superintendent proceeded to tell of the pursuit and capture of the accused man. He violently resisted arrest when taken from his hiding place in a ditch. At the barracks 19s. 6d. was found on him and the purse identified by Mrs. Weir.

The District Justice said that it was a prompt and clever capture.

HOUSE BURGLED.

At Mountrath District Court a young man named Whelan, of no fixed address, was remanded in custody to the next Circuit Court, charged with entering the premises of Mr G. F. Smyth, Moorefield, Mountrath, and stealing articles value £40, including a shot gun.

In the course of his statement, the prisoner asked the Justice to deal with the case. "I have been already some time in jail," he added.

District Justice Maher—I am afraid you will be longer.

TURF VERSUS COAL.

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT ON STEAM ROLLERS.

As a result of the British coal strike, and the consequent difficulty of procuring normal supplies in the West of Ireland, the Galway County Surveyors have made the discovery that turf can be used in the steam-rolling plant with success, and that 8s. 4d. per day can be saved by burning turf on a single steam-roller.

There are over 3,000 miles of main roads to be maintained in County Galway. Of these, there are 1,229 miles in the West Riding, of which 96 miles, exclusive of roads in urban areas, are steam-rolled. In the East Riding there are 1,324 miles of roads, of which over 40 are steam-rolled.

Galway County Council employs 27 engines of all types on road maintenance. Of these, five are tractors, eleven rollers and eleven crushers.

In an experiment it was found that a "creel" of turf (a local crate or cart load), costing £1, lasted for three full working days on a steam-roller, the cost thus working out at 6s. 8d. per day, against 5 cwt. of coal, the average working cost of which would be 14s. a day. There are about 240 working days in the year, and, therefore, the saving on one roller alone in a single year would be £88.

It should be pointed out, however, that there are certain times of the year when it is virtually impossible to procure turf, so that coal will then have to be used. Further, turf was found impracticable on the tractors, and the crushing machines had to be started up with coal.

LECTURE ON CHURCH MUSIC.

On Tuesday a very interesting lecture on "Church Music" was given in Ballinderry Church, Co. Derry, by the Rev. Canon Drury, M.A., Rector of Raheny. The South Derry Church Choir Union, the oldest in Ireland, founded in 1870 by the Rev. James William Hogan, Rector of Magherafelt, was represented by members of the following choirs:—Cookstown, Desertcreat, Ardtrea, Bellaghy, Desertmartin Woods, Kildress, Castledawson, Ballinderry and Tamlaght. There were also visitors from Moneymore, Magherafelt, Pettigo, Clogher, Dungannon. The clergy present were:—Revs. J. P. Barcroft, H. W. Rennison, W. E. R. Scott, G. Bloomer, D. G. Allman, A. P. Chamberlain, E. L. Keane (Clogher Cathedral), and P. H. Kinch. The visitors were entertained to tea at the Rectory before the lecture.

Canon Drury spoke first of such general points as the importance of the choir, the usefulness of choir festivals, the need of regular practice, the value of more difficult work, which means a real effort for the choirs; and then, in detail, of various parts of choral work as suited for country choirs—psalms, canticles, hymns, descants, etc. Many of the speaker's points were driven home by brief practices, which gave additional pleasure to the lecture. Great interest was taken in a setting of the Te Deum by Geoffrey Shaw.

An Enjoyable Outing.—The wages staff of the L.M.S. Railway Company, North Wall, held their outing on last Sunday to Avoca, over 200 members with their families taking part. The sporting events were keenly contested, the prizes for the women going to Mrs. P. Caffrey and Miss Hackett, and for men to R. McGrann, J. Macken, P. O'Riordan, P. Young, L. McFarlane, J. McEvoy. The half mile race for the Staff Cup was won by P. McKenna after a great race. After tea an enjoyable dance was held.

Motorist Fined.—At Lucan District Court yesterday, Thomas Carroll, Blanchardstown, was summoned by Guard Ryan for having on July 23rd last driven a motor car without having paid tax on same. He was further summoned for not having a tail light or disc. For not having paid tax defendant was fined £42, mitigated to 20s.; for having no tail light, 2s. 6d. and costs, and for not having a disc 2s. 6d. and costs.

The Surveyors' Institution.—A meeting of the Irish Branch Executive Committee of the Surveyors' Institution was held at 110 Grafton street, Dublin, Mr. J. Graves Clayton presiding. A report was submitted, and approved, from the sub-committee, dealing with the Irish Land Bill, 1926. Mr. Robert H. R. Stewart (of the firm of Messrs. J. R. Stewart and Sons), land agent, 6 Leinster street, Dublin, was nominated for election to the Council of the Institution as a representative of the Irish Branch in the room of the late Mr. Charles Dickinson; and Mr. T. Loftus Townshend, land agent, 15 Molesworth street, Dublin, was elected a member of the Finance Committee of the Irish Branch, to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Dickinson's death.

"Robbing" A Bee-Hive.—At Lucan District Court yesterday, Alice Giltrap, Ballydowd, was summoned for having, as alleged, committed a breach of the licensing laws on Saturday, August 7th last. Sergeant Trannigan, Lucan, stated that he visited Mrs. Giltrap's at 10.15 p.m. and found 20 men on the premises. They were all bona fide travellers. In the yard he found three men, one of whom lived at Ballydowd. John Tinkler said that he was a friend of Mr. Giltrap. On this occasion he had tea with Mr. and Mrs. Giltrap, and they had "robbed" a beehive. Witness got a sting in the course of the transaction. Justice Reddin—How do you "rob" a beehive?—Well, there are several ways. However, I'm not a bee man. (Laughter.) The Justice said he thought it a proper case to bring up, and dismissed the summons.

Obstructing Motorists.—When James Phœnix, 4 Lower Gloucester street, and Patrick Kavanagh, 10 Corporation street, were charged at Lucan District Court with having obstructed a char-a-banc at Palmerstown on the night of July 24th last, Superintendent Hughes said that it was the custom of some young men to go to Lucan and when the last 'bus had gone they made a practice of stopping private motor cars and demanding a "lift" home. District Justice Reddin discharged the accused men on their paying the costs of the court, and warned them not to come before him again.

LEINSTER.

In Darkest Dungarvan.—Dungarvan was plunged into darkness on last Tuesday night, owing to the failure of the electric light.

Able-Bodied Men Debarred.—Kildare Board of Health have decided to discontinue payments of home help to able-bodied men and reduce expenditure of relief by £80 a week.

Arms Found in Kerry.—Sergeants Stapleton and Reidy, Civic Guards, Tralee, have discovered a dump in a house at Ardfert. The find included a number of guns, twelve rounds of ammunition, and 53 cartridge caps.

Price of Land in County Wexford.—A farm situate at Castletown, Carne, Co. Wexford, containing 147 acres, 3 roods, was sold recently for £400. The lands are subject to an annuity of £65.

Wife Deserter Sentenced.—For deserting his wife and three children, Michael Dempsey, labourer, of Ahare, Castletown, and who was arrested in England, was sentenced by Justice Fahy at Gorey Court to six months' imprisonment with hard labour.

The Bovine Tuberculosis Order.—Longford County Council have adopted the Bovine Tuberculosis Order, and have appointed Messrs. John Plunkett, V.S., and G. H. Jarratt, V.S., as inspectors for North and South Longford respectively at an additional salary in each case of £33.

Longford Roads.—Longford County Council have decided to put up £3,000, the Road Board giving £3,000, to steamroll the main road from Longford to Ballymahon. It was stated by the County Serveyor (Mr. Kilbride) that the steamrolling and tar spraying of the road from Longford to Ballinalee cost £900 a mile.

Cattle Seized.—The cattle seized by the Sheriff's officer from Messrs. Bryan O'Donnell, James O'Brien and Patrick McGrath, on the Barrymore Estate, Tipperary, under a decree of the High Court for non-payment of rent, were put up for sale on the lands during the week and sold.

A Ten Months' Strike.—The gas strike in Tralee, which began last November, has entered on a new phase. The Urban Council, after exhausting all efforts to get the eight old hands back to work, have brought in other men, who are engaged cleaning up the retorts. They hope to restart gas-making to-morrow. The new hands are working under the protection of Civic Guards.

Longford Council and A Co-Option.—Longford County Council yesterday passed a vote of sympathy with the relatives of the late Mr. John J. Slevin, Co.C., Granard. At a later stage in the proceedings the late Mr. Slevin's seat was declared vacant, and it was proposed to co-opt a new member. Senator McGuinness said that it was the height of disrespect to proceed to fill the vacancy created by Mr. Slevin's death, which only occurred a week ago. The Chairman (Mr. Garahan) said that it was the expressed wish of the members in the Granard district to fill the vacancy that day. By a vote it was decided to proceed with the co-option, and Mr. Harry Reilly (Farmers' Union) was co-opted.

Efforts to Have Quarry Re-opened.—Lisduff Quarry Works, situated near the railway station, and which, when in the hands of the railway company, up to some months ago employed 150 men at a wage of 50s. per week, have been closed down for some time. It appears that a Mr. McDonald, of Limerick, entered into a contract with the company for the working of the quarry for three years. Negotiations were opened with the workers' representatives on the question of wages, but no settlement was arrived at. An offer of 35s. per week was made, but it was not accepted. The workmen occupying the huts, erected by the railway company, were threatened with eviction if they did not resume work, and in view of this threat those men turned out to work. Owing to the attitude of the other workers, the men eventually gave up work. It is expected that negotiations will be re-opened in the course of a few days.

County Council Comedy.—Longford County Council having decided to pay members' travelling allowances at the rate of fivepence per mile both ways, instead of fivepence per mile on way, as stipulated by the Local Government Department, the Secretary, at the quarterly meeting of the Council, informed the members that he had made out the paying orders on this basis for those members who had returned their paying orders for half the amount, refusing to accept the fivepence one way only. The Council had passed a resolution unanimously declining to accept less, but eight members had accepted the lesser amount. Chairman—Will they be allowed the full amount now? Secretary—Not as they have accepted the fivepence one way up to this. This decision caused much laughter at the expense of the members who had accepted the lesser sum, but the merriment was short lived when the Secretary informed the Council that the members getting paid the higher amount would possibly be obliged to refund half the sum on surcharge.

Railway Official's Death.—The death took place, rather unexpectedly, at Cratloe, County Clare, yesterday, of Mr. James Kennedy, who had been on holiday from Dublin, where he was a member of the Commercial Managers Staff of the Great Southern Railways, Kingsbridge. He was a native of Limerick.

An Open Verdict.—An open verdict was returned at the inquest held in Ballymahon on a male infant, whose body had been exhumed from a grave made in a field at Drynam. The grandmother gave evidence to the effect that her daughter gave birth to the child, which was attended by a nurse and lived for some hours and was buried by witness and her son in a hole which the latter dug in a field. The medical evidence showed that death might have resulted from convulsions, or from being lain on.

CONNAUGHT.

Publican's "Fair" Mistake.—At Loughrea Court, District Justice Cahill imposed a fine of £1 and costs, to be endorsed on the licences of four publicans, who were charged with permitting their licensed premises to be open before 9 a.m. on the morning of June 25th last. For the defence it was stated that an exemption order to open on the morning of June 24th for the convenience of those attending the Loughrea Fair was granted in error by the Court, the correct date of the fair being June 25th. Defendants thought that it was optional to open on the latter date. The District Justice said that he had no hesitation in convicting because of the attitude taken up by the defendants, who, according to the evidence of the Guards, declined to close their houses after being directed to do so. The Justice dismissed summonses against three other publicans, who were also charged with similar offences on the same occasion, the Guards stating that they closed upon receiving instructions to that effect.

ULSTER.

Domestic Strife.—A row between brother and sister about an old age pension book was described at Gweedore District Court, when Hanna Sweeney, Corveen, had her brother, Charles McFadden, summoned for assault. Complainant said that the defendant struck her and knocked her down. The cause of the trouble was that up to six or seven weeks ago their mother had been living in the old home with the defendant. Defendant said that the real reason for the dispute was that the old woman was taken from one house to the other because she had a pension. The Justice said that the mother had a perfect right to stop with her daughter and give her a portion of the pension if she liked. Defendant had committed a most cowardly act. He imposed a fine, with costs, amounting to £1 4s.

NORTHERN IRELAND.

Portadown Doctor's Appointment.—Dr. Robert E. Hadden, son of Dr. W. E. Hadden, Portadown, has been appointed house physician to the York County Hospital.

Enforcing the Eggs Act.—At Ballyclare Petty Sessions a fine of 20s., with 20s. extra costs, was imposed on William Smith, Ballymartin, for offering for sale 17 unsound eggs at Ballyclare market on July 20th. The eggs had to be destroyed.

A Dear "Doll."—When the monthly accounts, amounting to £1,482 19s. 10d., came up for payment at the meeting of the Lurgan Board of Guardians yesterday, the Clerk (Mr. J. Calvert) mentioned that one of the items in same was for £22 10s. for a hospital "doll" for the probationer nurses—a figure for anatomy. Some of the members remarked amidst laughter that "She was a dear doll."

Coming Portadown Demonstration.—At a meeting of the Portadown Council, on last Wednesday night, reference was made to the monster demonstration to be held in the Show Grounds on August 28th, under the auspices of the Imperial Grand Black Chapter. It was stated that fourteen special trains were coming from Belfast, and that there would also be a large contingent from Enniskillen and the Clogher Valley.

Jail for "Sleeping Out."—"Sometimes you can't be inside all the time," said Michael O'Leary to Mr. Toppin, R.M., at Belfast Custody Court, in reply to a query if he admitted the charge of sleeping out. The police stated that there had been complaints from the Public Health Department about the prisoner sleeping out at Millfield. A month's imprisonment was ordered.

Girl Loses Her Thumb.—Whilst employed in the sweet factory of Mr. J. W. Russell at Lifford, Maggie Slevin, Strabane, had the thumb of her right hand so badly shattered in the machinery that it was found necessary to have it amputated in the County Donegal Hospital, Lifford.

The Streets of Letterkenny.—At a meeting of the Letterkenny Urban District Council, Mr. Diver said that the streets of Letterkenny were a disgrace to any civilised country, and were in a shocking condition. He proposed that they write the County Surveyor. Mr. William Boyle, Chairman, seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

A Dear Fare.—At Derry Petty Sessions, Thomas Ward, of Kilkeel, County Donegal, was fined £2 for plying for hire with a motor in the city without having a licence. The evidence was that the defendant attended at the Scottish boat, and got a fare to Donegal, "cutting" the charge of a local licensed taxi driver by 5s.

Condition of Lurgan Union.—The half-yearly report on the condition of the Lurgan Union Workhouse from Major G. H. Brash, Inspector to the Northern Ministry of Home Affairs, was read at the meeting of the Lurgan Guardians yesterday. He stated that the financial condition of the Union was satisfactory, and that the officers discharged their duties efficiently. He complained of the dirty state of the male and female tramp wards, and made several recommendations with regard to repairs in both infirmaries and other parts of the institution. The report was referred to the House Committee.

Warring Tramps.—At a Special Court held in the Police Barracks, Stewartstown, last Wednesday, two tramps Robert Graham and William McCabe alias Bolton, of no fixed abode, were charged with being drunk and disorderly. Evidence was given that the defendants were fighting on the street. They had a hold of each other by the throat when arrested. Graham was fined 40s., or one month in jail, and McCabe was fined 21s., or fourteen days in jail. Both defendants subsequently were removed to Belfast prison.

Watered Buttermilk.—Yesterday at Derry Petty Sessions, John McGlinchey, Tubber, Churchtown, was fined £3 for selling buttermilk containing 47 parts of added water. Mr. Jones, R.M., said that it was a bad case. Robert Gallagher, Springfield, Ballyarnett, was fined £3 for selling sweet milk which was 20 per cent. deficient in fat. The defence was that the milk was sold as it came from the cows. Sir Henry Miller, City Solicitor, said that a sample taken after the service of the summons showed that the quality of the milk had jumped up 3.20 over the standard required. Defendant said that they changed the hours of milking.

Theft of Coat from Motor Car.—Daniel Morgan, Eliza street, and William Gillen, College street, were each sentenced to a month's imprisonment with hard labour, in the Belfast Custody Court yesterday, for stealing an overcoat. Constable Smith said that he saw the accused men at a motor car. They took away an overcoat, and he followed and arrested the men. They alleged that a drunken man dropped the coat and they picked it up. Mr. Toppin, R.M., said that the whole of society was based on the idea that a man could leave his property for a short time without putting a watchman to take care of it.

£33 Fine.—At Ballynahinch Petty Sessions, Down County Council prosecuted Hugh Smylie and James Smylie, Ballynahinch, for using a hackney car for private purposes. Mr. R. Evans, representing the defendants, said that they were prepared to admit the offence owing to want of knowledge of the law. They had since taken out their licence in conformity with the regulations. The Chairman (Mr. John Gill) said that they could not do otherwise than inflict the penalty of £33, and, by a majority, made no recommendation.

Fatal Accident at Dangerous Corner.—A verdict of "accidental death" was returned at the inquest held in the Down County Infirmary by Dr. R. H. Sproule, J.P., Deputy Coroner, on Captain McLaughlin, Comber, who was fatally injured in a motor-cycle accident. Witnesses deposed to finding the machine in the ditch at Glassdrummond, a Belfast commercial traveller, named Wilson Hay, stating that the rate of speed prior to the accident was moderate. McLaughlin, in his wounded state, told him that he did not know of the dangerous turn in the road. The jury added a rider to the effect that something should be done about the dangerous corner.

U.S. MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED HEAVY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)
NEW YORK, Thursday.

Stocks at the opening were firm. Buying was broad and confident, despite persistent selling of U.S. Steel Common and General Motors, and the ability of the market to ignore this selling tempted more aggressive pool operations, especially in Merchandise issues, Oils and Tobaccos. Chesapeake and Ohio touched 154⅞ on reports that the minority interests are demanding 200 dollars per share, or a guaranteed 12 per cent. dividend, because of the large earnings. Subsequent irregularity was followed by general selling in the final dealings, which cancelled most of the advances, New York, Chicago and St. Louis, American Smelting and Refining, Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron, Woolworth, Mack Trucks and General Motors being particularly weak. U.S. Steel Common declined to 150⅞. The market closed heavy. Government Bonds irregular; Railroad Bonds irregular. The day's sales totalled 1,660,000 shares.

Money on call closed steady at 4½ per cent. bid and 4½ per cent. asked; all business was done at 4½ per cent. Prime Mercantile paper was quoted at 4¼ to 4½ per cent. Sterling exchange irregular. Silver ⅛c. lower at 61⅞c.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Thursday.

WHEAT at the opening was irregular, ⅛c. down to ⅛c. up. The market declined afterwards on disappointing Liverpool advices and the prospective marketing of the recent heavy North-West receipts; but claims of a good export business Continentward and continued wet weather in the harvesting districts carried prices above yesterday's closing. Subsequently values receded in sympathy with corn, and the market closed barely steady, ⅛c. higher to ⅛c. lower. Spot firm.

A FESTIVAL FORTNIGHT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—With a view of increasing our tourist traffic might we not, on the solid foundation of the Dublin Horse Show, build up an annual two-week festival? The first week would be the Horse Show, races and polo, as at present, and the second week might be devoted to championships and international matches in cricket, tennis, golf, swimming, water polo, athletics and other sports.

A representative committee might now be formed, with members of the Tourist Development Association and other interested bodies. With the city tastefully decorated, such a festival would annually bring to Ireland more and more visitors, and would help to keep us before the eyes of the world.—Yours, etc.,

IRISH COAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—Your correspondent, S. C. Harrison, has borne useful testimony to the value of Arigna coal. It must be admitted that in "the long ago" coal of poor quality was sometimes sent out from the Arigna district, the result of which was the creation of a prejudice against all coal coming from the mines there. It was out-crop coal. Since then the producers have worked their way into the good seams. Coal is now being mined at Arigna which is superior to most of the coal that is imported from cross-Channel and foreign mines. An expert mining engineer, who has had many years' experience of mining in Britain and the United States, visited Arigna last week, and expressed astonishment at the quality of the coal which he saw there. He declared that it is "far superior to any coal that is being brought into the country." For household purposes it will beat English, Welsh and Scotch coal all the time, if two simple rules in the treatment of it be observed:—(1) In the first instance, only a small quantity should be lighted, after which the grate may be filled, and the fire will last for many hours. (2) The poker must never be applied to the top of the fire. "Poke the bottom occasionally. Never poke the top," is advice given in a printed notice supplied to all customers.

For steam-raising purposes, Arigna coal excels. Anyone who cares to visit the district may see, on the Arigna Mining Company's premises, two large boilers which supply steam for all the hauling and electrical pumping plant, and are fuelled exclusively with slack.—Yours, etc.,

Placing of wreath on the Cenotaph by the President.

Admittance to the Lawn will be by invitation, and entrance may be gained only by the two gates in front of Leinster Lawn. The gates will be opened at 11.45 a.m., and visitors will be admitted up to 12.20 p.m., when the gates will be closed. It is essential that invitation cards should be brought, as no person will be allowed to pass the police cordon in Merrion square West without producing an invitation card.

Cars may be parked close to the footway on the park sides of Merrion square North and South, and also in Molesworth street. No vehicles will be allowed to enter or remain on Merrion square West or Upper Merrion street, from 11 a.m. until 2.30 p.m., or the conclusion of the ceremony. Persons arriving at the junction of Merrion Row and Upper Merrion street will proceed by way of Lower Baggot street, Fitzwilliam street Lower, and Merrion square South to the corner of Merrion square West, parking their cars on the park side of Merrion square South, thence proceeding on foot to the entrance to Leinster Lawn near the main entrance gate to Government Buildings.

Members of the general public will be allowed to remain on Merrion square West and Upper Merrion street, except in that portion of the thoroughfare between the police cordon and Leinster Lawn and that portion of the thoroughfare between the police cordon and Government Buildings. The entrance gate to Government Buildings and the passages thereto, as well as that portion of the thoroughfare immediately opposite the Cenotaph, will be kept completely clear at all times.

The ceremony will open with an oration by the President, on the conclusion of which he will place a wreath, inscribed "O Muinntear na hEireann, Lughnasa, 1926," on the Cenotaph. Following the placing of the wreath three volleys will be fired and the "Last Post" sounded.

AHMEDABAD, Thursday.

Mahatma Gandhi has become a teacher of Christianity. Gandhi recently decided to take the classes at the National College. He met the students, and, after a long consultation, they suggested that he should teach them Christianity.

The famous Indian Radical leader agreed, and he will read the New Testament to the classes of the University every Saturday.

PATIENT'S DASH FROM AN HOSPITAL.

Much excitement was caused in the neighbourhood of the London Hospital yesterday when a man bolted from one of the wards, where he was being prepared to undergo an operation.

Dashing from the building almost nude, and followed hot-foot by hospital students and doctors, the patient, as he passed some workmen, picked up a black mackintosh belonging to one of them, and, enveloping himself in it, ran swiftly through Oxford street and Sydney street into Rutland street. In this thoroughfare he turned into a shop, and, vaulting over a wall at the back, eventually hid himself in the kitchen of the premises in Sydney square.

Hospital porters were called in and the fugitive was taken back to the institution in a motor ambulance. He was in an exhausted condition, and was at once medically treated.

A verdict of death from misadventure was returned at a Southend inquest yesterday on the body of Bombardier William Norwood, 24th Battery, Royal Artillery, who was shot in a barrack room at Shoeburyness. The evidence showed that a comrade discharged a rifle containing, as he thought, a dummy cartridge. The bullet entered Norwood's head, killing him instantly.

FAILURE OF ROMAN EAGLE.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.
STOCKTON, Thursday Night.

Some rain came to spoil the pleasure of the last day of the meeting here. The attendance in the cheaper parts has been good throughout the three days, and the meeting has been successful considering how much the area in which it is situated has been affected by the industrial troubles. To-day the racing was hardly so interesting as on the two previous afternoons. The principal event, the Durham County Produce Plate, fell to Lord Lascelles's St. Jerome, who won in a canter from Zenobia, Roseola failing badly. The victory was a popular one, for it is rare to see Lord Lascelles's colours successful. Indeed, I think that in the last four years he has won as many races in Ireland with Kanowna as he has with all the horses he has in training at Egerton House. The Royal stable, however, appears to be running into form, and this was its second success at the meeting.

Most people had regarded Open Prospect as the good thing of the day in the Middlesbrough Welter, but he was cast in his box overnight and could not run. In his absence Roman Eagle was favourite, a position which she entirely failed to justify. Pandarus made the running, but two furlongs from home he had had enough, and then Celedon went on. Lord Derby's gelding, however, was all out to win by a short head from the consistent Evening Rose, who has been either first or second in her last seven races.

There was an interesting victory in the Wilton Welter Handicap, that of the favourite, Bucks Yeoman, who beat Charmione by a length and a half. Although he is a five-year-old, and had once divided Pharos and Verdict in the Duke of York Handicap at Kempton, and been second on several occasions, this was actually the first success Sir Abe Bailey's colt had gained in twenty-two efforts, extending over the better part of four seasons. He gave Dines a very comfortable ride here, and won without being pressed.

A THRILLING FINISH.

There was a second thrilling finish, for the Billingham Selling Handicap, when the Scottish mare, Damsel, beat Turpin by a short head, and a popular success in the other selling race, that of Lady Fitzwilliam's Fire Queen, who landed the odds laid on her when she beat Thalestris without a great deal to spare.

The last race also saw the victory of a favourite on whom odds were laid. This was Pleasant Thoughts, who beat the Hailstone filly by a neck. Counting the Private Sweepstakes, in which Te-Oran won cantering from Ambo, five favourites in all were successful in the course of the afternoon. I see also that four favourites were successful at the Bath meeting, so that the date of this afternoon has to be written in letters of gold on the black back-ground of this August.

The period of holiday racing comes to an end this week-end with the two-day fixtures at Haydock Park and Hurst Park. Brighter London, unluckily beaten in the Redcar Handicap on Saturday, has gone on to Haydock Park for the Grand Stand Handicap where his chance is an outstanding one. Hidennis may not be quite at his best, and Gonedry does not run. Through Longquill, Son of Spring, who finished behind him at Chepstow, is held safe by Brighter London. Kyra has not been seen out for some time, and a splendid chance is given BRIGHTER LONDON of avenging last Saturday's defeat.

Lord Wembley, who ran a good race at Wolverhampton on Monday, has gone on to Haydock for the Preston Handicap. Niloak and Charmant are fancied for this, and Mr. Lambton has sent Herbalist, the full-brother to Phalaros. The race should rest between Lord Wembley and HERBALIST, and I choose the latter to win. The Birchfield T.Y.O. Plate may be won by the WHITE DIAMOND C., who has Melanite to beat.

Fair class racing will be seen at Hurst Park, where Mr. Gilpin's two-year-old JOCK TROTTER has gone to run for the Robin Hood stakes. On his good show when second to Good St. Anthony at Sandown on his first appearance, he should win this, though he has something to fear from the speedy Mardoman. In the Wilderness Plate I like best the chance of CISTUS, and choose FOUNDATION STONE to win the Maze Plate.

MALLOW.

NANTENAN WINS GOLD CUP.

A SMART PERFORMANCE.

KNIGHT OF THE WILDERNESS BEATEN.

The Tailteann Gold Cup proved the big attraction anticipated, and brought another big concourse of people to the popular Mallow course. Since its inception the race has been one of the most interesting of the series of the big events of the year, and this year's contest well maintained previous records. Nantenan, who became a strong first favourite prior to the start, always dominated the situation, and, racing into the lead after the first furlong, subsequently never left the issue in doubt. The long delay previous to the start may have effected the chances of some of the candidates, but this was not apparent, and no excuses could be offered for the many failures. Mr. Ruttledge had due reward for his extreme patience by getting the field away to a splendid start, and Nantenan not alone chopped the others for speed at the start, but held her position all through, and stayed on as well as anything else.

It was a fine performance on the part of Captain Brassey's filly, who was highly weighted for a three-year-old, and was giving weight to the English-trained candidate, Gifted, who has shown some fair handicap form on the other side. Those who had anticipated the arrival of S. Donoghue by aeroplane were unavoidably disappointed, for a wire was early received stating that, though he had started on the journey in due course, he was compelled to land on the Welsh coast owing to bad weather. This contretemps gave a chance ride to E. M. Quirke on Gifted, but, as stated, the horse, though one of the quickest away from the barrier, very quickly faded out of the fighting line. Apart from the winner, the others who showed up best in the race were Linette and Maureen M. Neither could go the pace in the early stages, and were apparently out of the reckoning as the leaders swung into the straight, but ran on into second and fourth place, respectively.

The remainder of the racing does not call for much comment, the fields for the most part being on the small side. The good steeplechaser, Knight of the Wilderness, who looked a reasonably good thing for the Blarney Flat Race, ran in disappointing style, and was beaten by Inniscairn and Golden Light, horses who had shown but very moderate form up to this. The none too reliable Petit Beau looked to have the Mount Hilary Hurdle Race won until the last hurdle was reached. Here he and Silver Crest came together, and the old horse, failing to put it all in, was run out of it by Mr. Maguire's horse. The Military Hunt Cup was won in facile style by Mrs. Holroyd Smyth's Red Rocket, who led all the way. Jerpoint, now running in the name and colours of Mr. John M. Barbour, did not jump the fences in the Knockmealdown Plate too cleanly, usually bearing away to the left, but this did not effect his chance, and he always had the measure of Bealagh Conglas and the others. Noble Prince, having to put up a penalty in the Mallow Spa Plate, found the task of conceding 22lbs. to Rosmeen beyond him. It was only in the closing stages, however, that Rosmeen succeeded in getting on terms with him, but then he quickly got his measure. Details:—

2.45—THE MOUNT HILARY (S.) PLATE, a sweepstakes of 1 sov. each for starters, with 60 sovs. added, of which the second receives 10 sovs. and the third 5 sovs. A handicap hurdle race. 1½ m.

Royal Crest set the pace to Dinis Island, Magic Rod, and Petit Beau, until approaching the last hurdle, where Petit Beau took second place. In a good finish Royal Crest maintained the lead, and won by three-quarters of a length; ten lengths divided second and third.

There was no bid for the winner.

Betting—4 to 1 on Knight of the Wilderness, 8 to 1 agst. Golden Light, 20 to 1 INNISCARRA or any other.

Gentle Lady set the pace to Golden Light, Knight of the Wilderness, and Inniscarra, for over a mile, when Knight of the Wilderness went on in front, followed by Golden Light and Inniscarra. The last-named drew into the lead in the straight, and won by a length and a half; eight lengths divided second and third. Desthorpe was fourth, Ballycarron Lass fifth, and Ballinacurra Vale next.

4.15—THE TAILTEANN GOLD CUP of 1,000 sovs. (including a Gold Cup value 100 sovs.), of which the second receives 75 sovs., the third 25 sovs., and the fourth 15 sovs. A handicap flat race. 1 m. 1 f.

Mr. L. Scott's The Kid, 4, 7-7 ...... W. Howard 0
Mr. C. M'Loughlin's Millbank, 3, 7-7 J. Shatwell 0
(Winner trained by H. Hartigan.)

Betting—5 to 1 agst. NANTENAN, 7 to 1 each Maureen M, Gifted and Wild Argosy, 10 to 1 each Ardsallagh, Linette, Mernault and Credo, 100 to 8 each King's Falloch and Millbank, 20 to 1 each Tangle Toes and Mallow Bridge, 100 to 1 any other.

There was a long delay at the post, caused by the unruly behaviour of several of the runners. Eventually an excellent start was effected, the first to break the line being Gifted, Mallow Bridge, and Nantenan. Before a furlong had been covered Nantenan raced into the lead, and went on from Ardsallagh, Gifted, King's Falloch, Tangle Toes, Millbank, and The Kid, with Amatol and Lislea the last pair. There was little change in the order of the leaders until six furlongs had been covered, when Nantenan was followed by Ardsallagh, Tangle Toes, Linette, Gifted, King's Falloch, and The Kid. Inside the distance Linette took second place, but failed to make any impression on Nantenan, who won by two lengths; a length and a half divided second and third. Maureen M. was fourth, Credo fifth, Tangle Toes sixth, Mallow Bridge seventh, Gifted eighth, Amatol ninth, and King's Falloch next.

4.45—THE KNOCKMEALDOWN PLATE, a sweepstakes of 1 sov. each for starters, with 60 sovs. added, of which the second receives 5 sovs. A steeplechase for maidens. 2 m.

(Winner trained by Bickley.)

Betting—5 to 2 on JERPOINT, 3 to 1 agst. Bealach Conglas, 20 to 1 any other.

Jerpoint cut out the work from Hunode, Ballinacurra Star, Bealagh Conglas, and Wild Alder, to the third last fence, where Hunode fell, and Jerpoint, holding the lead to the end, won easily by fifteen lengths; a similar distance divided second and third.

5.10—THE MALLOW SPA PLATE, a sweepstakes of 1 sov. each for starters, with 60 sovs. added, of which the second receives 5 sovs. A handicap. 6 f. 63 yds.

Noble Prince led from Kylemore, Marten's Light, Danum, Rosmeen, and Hazel Grove, to inside the distance, where Rosmeen took second place, and, challenging close home, won by a length and a half; a length divided second and third. Kylemore was fourth.

HURST PARK

PROGRAMME AND SELECTIONS.

At Hurst Park to-day some good-class juveniles will be seen out in the Robin Hood Two-Year-Old Stakes, which is the richest race in the programme. The Brown Talisman gives way to his stable companion, Attic, but the form of the latter hardly looks good enough. Mardoman has run fairly consistently, and Parsee may run well, but after his promising début at Sandown Park Jock Trotter appears to represent the real danger. Attar is reported to have made improvement since running unplaced to Prestissimo at Pontefract early last month, and is thought to have a chance, but with the allowance he receives the race looks a really good thing for Jock Trotter. For the Maze Plate, in the probable absence of both Sun Yat Sen and Princeps, it will devolve on Glendun to carry top weight, but his recent running does not inspire confidence. Dalblaney is in the same category, but Balderston is a vastly different proposition, despite his failure in the Stewards' Cup, and on his previous win at Epsom he must possess a great chance. Selections:—

Wolsey Selling—Spigot Lodge.
Cowley Selling—Know All.
Maze Plate—Balderston.
Wilderness Plate—Cistus.
Robin Hood Plate—Jock Trotter.
Apprentices' Stakes—Dakota.

THE MISHAP TO W. NEVETT.

The Stewards of the Stockton Meeting yesterday inquired into the circumstances of the mishap to W. Nevett, whose mount, Alphy, fell in the race for the Billingham Selling Handicap. They found that it was a pure accident, the horse crossing his legs and not being interfered with by another competitor. Nevett is uninjured, though sore from his shaking, and will not be able to ride, as arranged, at Haydock Park to-day.

The reason why Open Prospect did not run for the Middlesborough Handicap at Stockton yesterday is that he had been cast in his box.

The going at Haydock Park is stated to be in excellent order, and there is not likely to be any shortage of runners. The programme is a well-balanced one, with the Grand Stand Handicap as the outstanding feature. Hidennis was over the distance of this race at headquarters early in the season with 9st. 5lb., and followed up this success by winning the Chester Cup. He failed in the Bessborough Stakes at Ascot, and he may have a trifle too much to do on this occasion. Son of Spring is nicely treated on his best form, and should prove a fighting factor, but the preference is for Brighter London, who may have been a trifle unlucky when beaten by Glen Albyn at Redcar last week. Selections:—

Preston Handicap—Lord Wembley.
Paddock Selling—Spale.

HUNTING.

HILLSIDE HARRIERS ACQUIRE NEW PACK.

Ten couples of 21 inch cross-bred Harriers arrived yesterday at Kingsbridge, being the pack, to all intents and purposes, of the well-known Glanmire Harriers (Co. Cork), which the late Mr. Robert Hall, of Glanmire, Co. Cork, maintained at his own expense for about 25 years.

The hounds, which have recently been acquired by the Hillside Harriers, reached Kingsbridge in the afternoon and left at once for their new quarters at Ballyowen, Rathfarnham. This is a most progressive step for this sporting pack of harriers, the youngest in County Dublin, to take, and is a good augury for the season, which will commence in a couple of months from now.

A jumping meeting, such as was held so successfully last year at Ballyowen, is fixed for 8th September at the same venue. President Cosgrave, who hunts with the Hillside and takes a great interest in the pack, has presented a cup, the President's Cup, for a competition for officers of the National Army other than those who represented the Free State in the recent International competition for the Aga Khan Cup at the Horse Show.

WHIPPET'S TOES TIED.

A strange story was told at Glasgow yesterday when a whippet owner was fined three guineas. A whippet won its heat in a race at six to one against. In the final the betting had gone to six to one on, but the animal ran very poorly. The race officials seized and examined the whippet, and discovered that the toes on one foot had been twisted and tied together, thus preventing the dog running its best. The dog, which was crying, had been tampered with because, it was alleged, of the adverse betting.

YACHTING.

ENGLAND WINS OCEAN RACE.

England has won the ocean yacht race, from Cowes to the Fastnet and back to Plymouth, by a narrow margin, the American representative, the schooner Primrose IV., having to be content with second place.

As far as can be seen at present Saladin is third. Although Hallowe'en was the first yacht home, she was called upon to concede so much time that she was hopelessly out of the race, despite her magnificent performance in covering the distance of 600 miles in record time.

Ilex, the winner, belonging to the Royal Engineer Yacht Club, followed Hallowe'en into Plymouth Sound 12h. 16m. after the leader, her arrival being timed 9h. 21m. 22s. on Wednesday night.

This morning the first of the arrivals was the Jolie Brise, last year's winner, which is owned by Mr. E. G. Martin. The former Havre pilot cutter crossed the finishing line at 4h. 34m. 35s., whilst the next arrival was the American competitor, Primrose IV. She came in flying at 7h. 48m. 46s.

Cheers were exchanged between the enthusiastic crew of the visitors from across the Atlantic and the yachts who had preceded them to Plymouth. These were renewed when the Saladin put in an appearance, to be timed by the King's Harbourmaster (Commander K. N. Humphreys, R.N.), 9h. 57m. 50s.

The entries were:—Saladin, cutter (L. Simon); Ilex, yawl (Royal Engineer Yacht Club); Banba IV., ketch (H. R. Barrett); Gull, cutter (H. P. F. Donegan); Jolie Brise, cutter (E. G. Martin); Penbock, cutter (R. Somerset); Altair, cutter (Mrs. Aitkin); Hallowe'en, cutter (Colonel Baxendale); Flame, yawl (C. Nicholson); Primrose IV., schooner (F. L. Ames); Beatrys, yawl (C. H. Hin).

Beatrys and Flame did not start. On the handicap, Hallowe'en had to allow Jolie Brise 15h. 22m. 30s., Ilex 18h. 6m. 30s., Saladin 23h. 24m. 15s., Gull 23h. 24m. 15s., Primrose IV. 28h. 20m. 30s., Banba IV. 33h. 29m. 0s., Altair 37h. 24m. 45s., Penbock 38h. 16m. 0s.

A message received at Plymouth announced that Gull gave up owing to bad weather and sought shelter at Queenstown.

At the time of wiring nothing has been heard of Altair, Banba IV. and Penbock. Hallowe'en carried away her main halyards during the closing stage of the race, and her mainsail was housed as she covered the last two miles of the journey. Ilex encountered the full force of the gale and one of the crew was nearly lost overboard, but he clung to the end of the mainsheet and was pulled aboard again. Jolie Brise was compelled to heave to for five hours half-way from the Fastnet to the Scilly Isles.

POLO.

ALL IRELAND CLUB.

A return match between Sir Lingard Goulding's team and Colonel F. B. Hurndall's team was played yesterday at the A.I.P.C., Phœnix Park, in fine weather. Both sides were well mounted, and a fast and keenly contested game resulted in a win for Sir Lingard Goulding's team by 6 goals to 5. It was goal for goal practically down to the final chukkar, and in the last few seconds Mr. Maxwell Arnott snatched victory for his side.

No one played better than Colonel Hurndall, who was right at the top of his form. In the later stages of the game he went back, and played a very sound game. Mr. Maxwell Arnott was in splendid form for the winners, and got through a great amount of work; and Sir Lingard Goulding was a very reliable back. For once in a way Mr. Larminie did not shine, but Mr. Durack played well.

Later in the evening a practice match was played between Meadowbank and The Rest, and resulted in a win for The Rest by 4 goals to 3.

SIR LINGARD GOULDING'S TEAM (6) v. COLONEL HURNDALL'S TEAM (5).

The ground was in splendid order when the sides lined out. Colonel Hurndall got away in a grand round gallop, and hit up to Mr. T. J. Arnott, who scored a good goal. Sir Lingard Goulding's team then attacked for Mr. Durack to send wide. Colonel Hurndall's team got down only once, and then Colonel Hurndall himself scored with a long, high shot. In the second chukkar Mr. Maxwell Arnott carried the ball over half the length of the ground, and Mr. Durack finished off the movement by scoring. This was supplemented by a goal from Sir Lingard Goulding, which left the sides level, and thus they finished the chukkar. In the third period Colonel Hurndall obtained the lead for his side, while in the fourth the same player hit up to Mr. T. J. Arnott, who scored. Sir Lingard Goulding then reduced his side's arrears, but the others came again for Mr. T. J. Arnott to score. Before the change Sir Lingard Goulding's team scored again. In the last period Mr. Larminie equalised, and then Mr. Maxwell Arnott hit the winning goal. Teams:—

Sir Lingard Goulding's team—Mr. J. J. Durack, Mr. J. P. A. Larminie, Mr. Maxwell Arnott, and Sir Lingard Goulding (back).

Colonel Hurndall's team—Mr. T. J. Arnott, Captain B. Daly, Colonel F. B. Hurndall, and Mr. J. W. Shackleton (back).

Umpire—Major Kirkwood.

THE REST (4) v. MEADOWBANK (3).

Meadowbank—Mr. R. H. Ussher, Commandant Mason, Mr. E. E. Slocock, and Major-General Hogan (back).

The Rest—Mr. F. J. Lillis, Colonel Gilheaney, Mr. J. A. B. Trench, and Major Kirkwood (back).

Umpire—Captain B. Daly.

To-morrow—General practice, 4.30. Important match at 5.30.

GOLF.

MITCHELL AND DUNCAN.

VISIT TO DUBLIN ARRANGED.

Irish golfers will be pleased to hear that the Portmarnock Club have come to terms with Abe Mitchell and George Duncan to visit Dublin.

The visit will extend over a week, and will follow the Irish Open Championship, to be played in September at Portmarnock, the contract having been made for the last week of September.

It may happen, however, that Duncan may have to forego the engagement and leave for the States to play a challenge match with Hagen but in that event Arthur Havers will accompany Mitchell.

The two visiting professionals will play matches each day at Portmarnock.

The precise nature of the arrangements as to these matches have not transpired, but the fact that the players have decided to come to Dublin will cause much satisfaction in golfing circles here.

Many years have elapsed since this country was visited by professionals from the other side, and the Portmarnock Club are to be complimented on their enterprise, and on the successful outcome of their negotiations with two such brilliant golfers.

A SHEFFIELD "GHOST."

VENTRILOQUIAL "SPOOK" OF THIRTEEN YEARS.

A "ghost" which has been troubling the Attercliffe district of Sheffield for some months has been laid by the local police. The "ghost," which has been disturbing the repose of the inhabitants by its weird midnight cries, had lately concentrated on calling "Aaron"—Aaron being the Christian name of a family living in the district.

The cry came again at midnight on last Monday, arousing the whole neighbourhood, and over a hundred turned out to join in the hunt for the "spook." The search proved fruitless, and the police were recalled.

On Wednesday night the cry again was heard, and again a crowd of people searched the district, but was baffled. The police, however, were more successful. They found that the "ghost" was a boy aged thirteen years. Plain-clothes men have had an interview with him, and it is alleged that he has admitted that he is the cause of the trouble. It is stated that, after throwing his voice from an adjacent bedroom, he mixed with the outraged searchers and followed the hue-and-cry for the "ghost."

IRISHMAN IN TROUBLE.

FALSE PRETENCE CHARGE IN LIVERPOOL.

Isaac Carroll, a young Irishman, was charged at the Liverpool City Police Court yesterday with attempting to obtain money by false pretences.

He obtained the names and addresses of several people in Liverpool who had relatives abroad, it was stated, and in one case he wrote a letter and got it forwarded to a lady whose son was in Australia, saying that the son was in a hospital at Dublin and wanted monetary assistance. The lady saw that the letter was not in her son's handwriting, and having recently had a letter from him, posted in Australia, she became suspicious and informed the police, with the result that Carroll was arrested.

When charged he said that a man in Dublin had given him the names and addresses of people in Liverpool on whom he had called.

"I am glad that you have got me," said the prisoner when arrested; "I am down and out and starving."

He was remanded for inquiries.

CRICKET.

GLOUCESTER'S NARROW WIN.

KILNER'S FOUR WICKETS FOR SIX RUNS.

The match at Brighton yesterday was left slightly in favour of Sussex, who were 85 runs behind Lancashire with half their wickets standing. While Lancashire batted in most painstaking fashion, taking six hours and twenty minutes over 248, Sussex provided rather more interesting cricket, Bowley playing especially well in scoring 40 out of 68 in an hour. Skilful, slow bowling, however, was the best feature of the game, Cox and Richard Tyldesley profiting by a power of spin on a wicket which suited them. At first the Sussex veteran took three wickets for four runs, and was so difficult to play that Lancashire had seven men out for 148, but the last three wickets yielded exactly 100 runs. After an excellent start given by Bowley, who hit five fours, and a steady effort of eighty-five minutes from Holdsworth, Sussex lost half their wickets for 136. Then Williams and Cox adopted a more careful game, and stayed in until stumps were drawn at 6.35 owing to bad light.

Run-getting did not prove an easy matter at Lord's, and Middlesex, in spite of a capital bowling performance by Powell and skilful batting by E. T. Killick, the St. Paul's schoolboy, failed by 122 to equal Kent's total of 314. The faster pitch helped the spin bowlers, and in the morning Kent collapsed once Knott and Collins, who shared in the sixth stand of 89, had been separated. Powell brought about a breakdown in the batting. Going on at 262 he dismissed Knott and Hubble in his first over before a run had been obtained from him, and altogether captured the last five wickets at a cost of 29 runs. Powell, a member of the ground staff, making his first appearance at Lord's for Middlesex, bowled his slow leg breaks with marked skill, and varied his length with excellent judgment, his full record being seven wickets for 81 runs. Middlesex started badly, and made no real recovery, although Killick tried hard to pull the game round in a plucky effort. Four wickets had fallen for 69 when Killick became associated with Mann in a determined partnership, which realised 50 runs. Haig and Crutchley later tried forcing tactics with some success, but Freeman and Marriott after tea bowled effectively, capturing the four outstanding wickets for 39. Kent, with nine wickets in hand, are 177 runs ahead.

Following a blank day on Wednesday, the wicket favoured the bowlers at Harrogate when the match between Yorkshire and Hants began, and the weather alternated in sunshine and showers. Hants, winning the toss and batting first, lost seven wickets for 68 runs. Of the early batsmen Brown alone offered much opposition. The only semblance of a stand was seen when Kennedy and MacBride added 41 for the partnership. Hants, whose innings was interrupted an hour by rain, occupied three hours in making their total of 121. Kilner was Yorkshire's most effective bowler, his four wickets costing only six runs. Holmes batted well at the beginning of Yorkshire's innings. With three wickets down the champions had done little better than their opponents. Then for the first time during the day the batsmen obtained the upper hand, thanks to the bold hitting of Stephenson. The Oxonian scored 60 out of the 94 added in an hour. He batted faultlessly for seventy minutes. Yorkshire, at the close, led by 35 with six wickets standing.

There was a thrilling finish to the match between Glamorgan and Gloucestershire at Swansea. Gloucestershire winning by eight runs. Throughout it was a bowlers' match, and Parker, especially, took full advantage of the difficult pitch, which was affected by rain. His analysis for the game was 12 wickets for 97 runs, and it was due to his bowling that Glamorgan lost the game which, if caution had been exercised, they might probably have won. Another important factor was the stubbornness in which the late Gloucestershire men batted in the morning, the last three wickets putting on 61 runs to the overnight total of 72. Still Glamorgan were set 103 to win, but Parker and Mills, bowling unchanged, always had the batsmen in trouble, and in less than an hour six wickets had fallen for 54 runs. At lunch Glamorgan, with four wickets in hand, still required 52 to win, and when the eighth wicket put on 36 runs in half an hour, they appeared to be in a winning position, but the last two wickets falling for two runs, Gloucestershire gained a fine victory.

Before surrendering their outstanding three wickets at Trent Bridge, Worcestershire added 94 in an hour, Root hitting so aggressively that he scored 69 in seventy minutes out of 104 realised by his partnership with Shorting. Notts started indifferently, losing two wickets for 24. Carr gave a brilliant exhibition of forcing cricket. Going in at the fall of the second wicket, he mastered the varied attack, and scored 138 out of 209 in two hours and a half, and completed his thousand runs. The last three wickets fell for 50, Worcestershire gaining a first innings lead of 4.

Warwickshire accomplished a fine batting performance at Edgbaston, and gained a first innings lead of 36. Their display, however, was singularly uneven, and after Kilner was third out, with 300 on the board, the bowling of Fender and Fenley proved so destructive that four wickets fell for an addition of 11 runs. A steady innings by Calthorpe, who stayed in fifty minutes for 31, was the deciding factor, but the foundation of the home county's success was laid by Kilner and Bates, who in a second wicket partnership lasting three hours and ten minutes put on 244. Bates occupied three hours for 104. Kilner was at the wickets four hours and ten minutes without making a faulty stroke. He got 80 of his runs by boundary strokes.

Following an idle day on Wednesday at Chesterfield, rain caused three stoppages yesterday, aggregating nearly two hours. Notwithstanding this, considerable progress was made, Derbyshire finishing up in a strong position over Northants. At the close, with three wickets in hand, Derbyshire enjoyed a lead of 131.

DROWNING BOYS RESCUED.

A BOATMAN'S SURPRISE.

A double drowning accident was narrowly averted in Birmingham yesterday afternoon. A report was spread that four boys had fallen into the canal near Fazeley street. Noticing a little head appear above the water, a boatman jumped in, and putting his arms, as he thought, around the child, discovered that he had two little boys in his grasp. They were got out, and, on artificial respiration being applied, came round, and were taken to the hospital.

Meantime no trace could be found of the other boys, and the father of one of them, who had been called from his work, appeared on the scene in a frantic state. Inquiries of the two rescued boys, however, disclosed the fact that they were the only two to reach the water, their companions having previously run away frightened.

The boatman, William Holden, was up to his neck in the water when effecting the rescue.
